The Romantic Pay-off.
Bonus Payment? Doubtful.
Wireless Power—When?
When Earthquakes Come.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

IN THIS land of the free and home of the brave, the "pay-off" system assumes various disguises.

On Long Island, for instance, there was a gasoline station located where nobody would be apt to buy gasoline. That gas station was a "pay-off" stop. Nearby, bootleggers landed goods from ships off Long Island shore.

After undisturbed landing, the "prohibition enforcement officials" of various kinds, who had obligingly failed to see anything, would drive to the gasoline station, order gas, what could be more natural, and get, perhaps, $1,000 in change for a $1 bill.

IN CHICAGO, the pay-off station is said in the posthumously revealed confession of Mr. Moe Rosenberg, to have been the latter's junk shop.

When Rosenberg was asked why he had not paid income tax on five hundred thousand dollars income he replied:

"Because that money, which I got from the public utilities, gas, electric companies, etc., was not for me. I was simply the pay-off man, handing it to politicians, in accordance with orders."

Mr. Rosenberg, according to his story, paid $95,000 in two years to the late Mayor Cermak, of Chicago, and substantial sums to other patriotic politicians, legislators, aldermen.

Innocent Mr. Rosenberg understood that the money was always given to politicians to be spent usefully, for political purposes, and expenses.

THE HOUSE of Representatives, 295 to 125, passes a bill that would pay two thousand four hundred million dollars of the bonus now. The vote is big enough to override the President's veto, announced in advance. Whether the Senate will vote to distribute two thousand four hundred millions among veterans, in new United States money, remains to be seen.

That the Senate will override the President's veto is so improbable that discussion of the proposed twenty-four hundred million dollar payment is unimportant.

If the President had decided to let the money be paid in green American dollars, which is all the soldiers will get eventually, not insisting on issuing bonds that pay interest, and make every dollar cost double, many people would have approved.

WHEN YOU suggest handing new money direct to soldiers or workers, instead of first handing interest-bearing bonds to bankers, you are told:

"That is inflation."

What do you call it when government issues billions in bonds? Isn't that inflation? Can't a man wreck himself financially just as quickly issuing interest-bearing mortgages or notes as he could issuing his "I. O. U.'s" without interest?

Does the government admit that if it were once to begin printing money, it would not have brains enough to limit its printing, at least as carefully as it would limit issuing interest-bearing bonds?

The government must have little faith in its will power if it thinks printing a few billions of new paper money would go to its head, and result in ruin.

EVERY DAY brings new, amazing things, and a million years from now there will be as many, perhaps more, marvels, some of them coming from neighboring planets, with which we shall have learned to talk.

Boise City, Okla., informs you that scientists hope to drive a railway motor car forty-two miles from Boise City to Clayton, N. M., with power sent into space by a short-wave radio broadcast. The Santa Fe Railroad expects to make the experiment within ten days.

THIS MAY be one step in what will be the greatest of all inventions in connection with transportation, wireless transmission of power.

When flying machines, on their way across the continent, can pick up, by wireless, power from Niagara and other stations as they pass, carrying no fuel with them, or pick up power from power stations established in mid-ocean, the flying problem will be solved.

THIS OLD earth, that ceased being incandescent, then red hot, then bubbling in spots, only a few hundred million years ago, is still settling and shifting a little, like the crust of a pie fresh from the oven.

There are contracting and expanding, geological slips and slides here and there in the earth's interior, volcanic disturbances, sometimes caused by inrush of salt water into deep, red hot crevices.

A slight shaking anywhere on earth's surface is terrifying. But it is only part of the normal adjustments of a planet still in its infancy, having, according to science, at least a million million more years to go.

IN ATLANTA, Judge Underwood tells grand jurors that crime has diminished "because so many young men have been taken care of economically by the government." President Roosevelt's Civilian Conservation Corps camps were largely responsible for crime decrease.

The most important results of President Roosevelt's prompt action in distributing money and jobs will never be known. We only know what happens, and cannot know what has been prevented.

U.S. GUNBOAT IN FLAMES, 187 SAVED

Warship Destroyed in Chinese Waters; British to Rescue

HONGKONG, March 15 (Thursday).—(AP.)—Two rescue vessels reported early today they had saved 187 men from the United States gunboat Fulton, which burned in Bias Bay, 50 miles northeast of here.

It was believed the 187 composed the complete ship's personnel.

The British destroyer H. M. S. Wishart reported she would arrive in port at 2 a. m. with 139 men from the Fulton, including Capt. McHenry and his officers. The Chinese S. S. Tsinan reported she had 48 members of the crew aboard.

They started for Hongkong from Bias Bay with the Fulton still burning fiercely.

Another British warship, H. M. S. Whitshed, stood by the burning ship after a two-hour journey from Hongkong under forced draft to the rescue of the Americans.

The U. S. S. Fulton and H. M. S. Wishart had both been on patrol duty against pirates in Bias Bay.

COMMANDER FROM PENNA.

PUNXSUTAWNEY, Pa., March 14.—(INS.)—Commander H. D. McHenry, "skipper" of the U. S. S. Fulton, abandoned American gunboat in the China Sea, was a native of this community, friends revealed here today.

About 38, McHenry was born and raised in this section. He was appointed to the Naval Academy at Annapolis by the late former Congressman W. O. Smith, at one time publisher of the Punxsutawney Spirit.

Roosevelt For Air Unity

WASHINGTON, March 14.—(AP.)—President Roosevelt has ordered a detailed and comprehensive survey of every aspect of American aviation designed to give the United States a unified air policy.

Every governmental division in any way interested in aeronautical questions is to be called on to make a study and report, so the entire question can be studied by an individual, or commission, for creation of an up-to-date co-ordinated plan.

No consideration has been given to appointing any one man to take over all or part of the aviation administration. Brig. Gen. William Mitchell, former assistant Air Corps chief, had lunch at the White House yesterday, leading to speculation as to whether he would get such a job.

ROOSEVELT AIM

President Roosevelt is satisfied the present government aeronautical set-up does not work and has determined that a definite, efficient, workable plan of unified control be worked out and put into practice.

The special committee named by Secretary of War Dern, and headed by Maj. Gen. H. A. Drum, assistant chief of staff, has already started a survey of the Army Air Corps with particular reference, at the present time, to the carrying of air mail by the Army.

Other surveys, to be worked in to the unified and co-ordinated plan, are to be made by the Navy, Marine Corps, Department of Commerce, Customs and Bureau of Internal Revenue.

Orville Wright, inventor of the airplane, today informed Secretary Dern that, because of illness, he would be unable to serve on the special committee.

Col. Clarence Chamberlin, trans-Atlantic flier, telegraphed his acceptance to the War Department and let it be known he will come to Washington whenever the committee meets.

LINDY SILENT

No answer has as yet been received from Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, the third civilian member of the special committee.

The President, it is understood, will make no definite move to reorganize any of the present governmental air units, including the Army Air Service, until he has the comprehensive report on every phase of aeronautics he has requested.

It was definitely stated the White House has no immediate plans for the organization of a separate air corps.

Secretary Swanson, of the Navy, expressed "doubt whether efficiency or economy could be served" by taking the Marine Corps air force from under the charge of the Navy and placing it elsewhere.

JURY HOLDS FATE OF 'IGGY'

Second Degree Verdict Demanded By State For Schwartz

With a demand for a second degree murder verdict thundered at them by the prosecution, Iggy Schwartz's trial jury retired today to consider the gambler's fate.

Prosecutor Roy T. Clunk told the eight men and four women jurors that the killing of Andy Garavini was second degree murder—that "Andy Garavini no more had a gun in his hand that night than he has now."

The night was that of November 9 when Schwartz and Garavini met outside the William Penn Hotel and Garavini was fatally shot in a burst of gunfire.

Clunk summed up for the state after Defense Attorney A. M. Oliver told the jury that Schwartz killed in self defense. Both made much of the testimony of Garavini's widow, who divorced Schwartz, the gambler, to marry Garavini, the hacker.

LOVE FEUD CHARGED

"Schwartz had malice, spite and ill-will towards Garavini because Garavini had married his wife."

Had Schwartz lain in wait for Garavini, he said, it would have been murder in the first degree.

The Widow Garavini—described by Clunk as "all dressed up and hard as nails"—had given testimony indicating Garavini was the aggressor in the fatal meeting with Schwartz.

Attorney Oliver painted Garavini as a man with murder in his heart, of bad repute and wicked disposition. He said the red-haired Margaret Garavini was in an "unfortunate position." She admitted, he said, that she lied in testimony at the Coroner's inquest, and added:

"Why, I don't know. You'd think, though, that she would tell the truth here."

On the prosecution's part, Clunk said:

"Before you she admitted she lied, but even so, she didn't tell

WOUNDS MAN AFTER RUM PARTY

Birthday Celebrator Then Tries Suicide, Balked By Police

After an all-night drinking party in celebration of his seventieth birthday, J. M. Caine, former machinist for the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie Railroad, shot and killed his wife, Creean, 60, perhaps fatally wounded another man and attempted to kill himself this afternoon in his home at 16 Boyd street.

The other victim was James Fitzpatrick, 69, resident of the Friendly Inn. He was shot near the heart and removed to Mercy Hospital where it was said he probably would die.

Police called to the Boyd street address by reports of a shooting, entered the house just in time to hear a shot upstairs.

ATTEMPTS SUICIDE

Muttering in a stupor, Caine said:

"I wanted to kill my wife and myself to keep from going to the Helping Hand. I missed my last shot. Please give me one more drink and let me die happy."

The aged machinist readily confessed the slaying of his wife, whose body was found on the kitchen floor. When police told him about shooting Fitzpatrick, Caine seemed surprised. He said:

"Quit your kidding me. I never shot a man in my life."

FEARED POVERTY

Caine told the detectives he had been employed by the railroad for 47 years and had been denied a pension. He said he had been brooding about his misfortunes.

Fitzpatrick, an old friend of Caine's, had gone to visit him last night to join the birthday celebration. The police found several empty bottles which had contained liquor and four other half-pints filled.

Fitzpatrick, though badly wounded, staggered from the house and walked nearly a block to the Meadow Gold Dairy Company garage at Boyd and Forbes streets. He collapsed there after telling about the shooting.

The Caines home is near Duquesne University. Scores of college students and co-eds were attracted by the shooting.

INSULL SUBMITS TO GREEK EDICT

International News Service.

ATHENS, March 14.—Samuel Insull capitulated today to the demands of the government that he leave Greece and told the authorities he would try his best to go as soon as possible.

The government has set midnight tomorrow as the latest deadline for his departure.

It is understood most of today's conference of officials was devoted to discussion of the questions of Insull's embarkation on a boat sailing to the United States. This plan was abandoned, however, as it would mean extradition and would damage the prestige of Greek courts, which have held Insull unextraditable on the charges on which he has been indicted in Illinois in connection with the collapse of his public utilities enterprises.

Insull's final destination still remains in doubt, but it was reported he might go to Poland or Czecho-Slovakia.

To prevent his escape or his hiding in Greece after the deadline for his departure, a detective was stationed outside the door of his apartment today.

Ben Swartz, 35, of 1934 Fifth avenue, arrested on a charge of keeping a gambling house, was released on a $105 forfeit, the detectives reported. A visitor, who said he was Ken Ruppert, 37, of 617 Southern avenue, also was released on a forfeit, according to the detectives.

SCHNADER RUNS FOR GOVERNOR

By MARK SHIELDS

His statement, putting him into the race, was a plea for party harmony, the Attorney General indicating that within a few days he will outline his platform fully. His petitions were put in circulation today in several counties. In his statement, Schnader said:

"I shall be a candidate for Governor on the Republican ticket at the May primaries. I shall not be a candidate of any faction or group, but shall welcome the support of all Republicans. In my opinion the time has arrived for Pennsylvania Republicans to stop fighting each other. The party should unite in support of a constructive program of service to the people and our state."

PLATFORM HINTS GIVEN

Schnader, who has served through the second Pinchot administration as Attorney General, was a deputy in the Justice Department in Pinchot's first term, and was retained by former Gov.

GIRL ON TRIAL IN SLAYING

READING, Pa., March 14.—(AP.)—Frances Sepse, 27-year-old former stenographer and daughter of a family haunted by tragedy, went on trial today charged with the murder of Dr. Paul Hess, of Reading.

Her father was killed in a mine cave-in, her mother died in a fall from a window, one brother drowned, another lost his life in a quarrel, and a sister died in childbirth.

Today Miss Sepse pleaded not guilty to the charge of slaying the physician who had professionally treated both her and her mother.

Dr. Hess, 34, was shot on the night of January 8 as he left his automobile to enter his office. Miss Sepse was arrested on the scene by a policeman, who said she was holding a pistol.

Police quoted her at the time as saying that she did it "for his own good." She never fully explained her action.

Woman and Two Men Found Slain on Road

PAINT ROCK, Ala., March 14.—(AP.)—Mystery today shrouded the deaths of three persons found shot to death on a highway 20 miles from here. The dead were Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Jones and Mack Woodall.

Officers were puzzled by the circumstances, and were unable at once to ascertain if the case involved murder and suicide, or whether the three were victims of an unidentified slayer.

Death Takes First Topsy In 'Uncle Tom's Cabin'

WATERTOWN, S. D., March 14.—(AP.)—Topsy is dead.

The original interpreter of that inimitable character in "Uncle Tom's Cabin," died in a hospital in her eighty-fifth year after living in retirement for more than a quarter of a century.

She was Fanny Wentworth, stage star of the later nineteenth century, who had toured America and Europe, but who had lived here for the past 28 years. Simple funeral services were held yesterday.

Fanny Wentworth started her stage career as a child and at 16 joined the original J. J. Ryers company which first played "Uncle Tom's Cabin," taking the role of Topsy. Later she appeared in support of Edwin Booth, the senior Barrymores, Lillian Russell and Keller, the magician.

Her forte was character sketches and Irish dialect songs and it was this type of acting which so entertained Queen Victoria that the actress was commanded to appear before the British ruler several times.

Salome Rivaled as Girls Discard Veils, Beads

By JAMES CANNON
Universal Service.

The mannikins in the midnight festivals resemble Salome dancers who have been working over-time. Nothing is left to the imagination—they have shed their last veil.

Sally Rand flaps her fans—and your cousin from the country gasps. Across the street Evelyn Sathier prances about waving feathers on a dimly lit floor. Hinda Wassau, who formerly danced in burlesque, does the can-can in the town's most glittering and roaring resort, a theater transformed into a night club. Whole choruses pose on midnight rostrums in the nude. Transparent costumes are what the half-dressed chorine wears after nightfall.

One night club which does not feature nudity totters on the verge of bankruptcy. Gradually, every after-dark entertainment in New York is taking the veils, the beads and the feathers off its show girls.

Billy Rose who boasts his midnight Mardi Gras is the wildest in town, says that as time goes on, the resort operators will try even more daring stunts.

Deputy Police Commissioner Harold L. Allen, who has been investigating night club life in New York, said:

"When nudity becomes obscenity my men step in. But courts have repeatedly decided that nudity is not necessarily obscenity."

Rose, who is a composer of hit songs and the husband of Fannie Brice, the Follies comedienne, defended the shows, declaring New York has gone suddenly nude because the public demands it. He said:

"My show is the nud in town. If Paris ever got nu..er—I didn't see it."

Iris Adrian, who works in a hey-hey hall notorious for its nudity, says she blushes the color of her flaming red hair every night. She said:

"Broadway is the Main Street of the nation. It should be cleaned up. I know the girls don't like posing in the nude—but what can they do?

"I'm certain the public is just as interested in a beautiful girl if she poses nude or wears grandmother's clothes. They want beauty. They don't want nudity."

SENATE DEFEATS ST. LAWRENCE WATERWAY TREATY

PLAN FOR NEW DRIVE TOLD BY PRESIDENT

Aims to Balk Canada In Control of Vital Seaway

WASHINGTON, March 14.—(AP.)—Defying the administration, the Senate today rejected the St. Lawrence waterway treaty with Canada, but President Roosevelt announced he would send it to the Capitol Hill again when time permitted.

The 46 to 42 vote fell far short of the two-thirds majority required for ratification.

This was the first major legislative setback of the administration, the pro-treaty forces obtained only a majority of four.

Senator Lewis (Dem.), of Illinois, opposition leader, was jubilant over the outcome and in a statement to newspapermen said no treaty could get Senate approval that did not recognize Lake Michigan as a purely American body of water and failed to give the United States exclusive rights over diversion from that lake.

President Roosevelt had urged ratification in two messages to the Senate. He said he believed the half billion dollar project would open a vast area of the American interior to ocean-going commerce, provide cheaper transportation for thousands of farmers and cheaper electricity from public power developments for the people of his own state of New York.

Only a while before the treaty vote he told reporters he would send the treaty back for reconsideration when there is time, the giant waterway is going to be built anyway, and he feared that failure of ratification would place the seaway entirely under Canadian control.

To reach the vote, treaty opponents withdrew all reservations to the resolution of ratification, paving the way for a clear cut vote on the pact without strings.

PAPER MONEY TO VETS BRINGS WARNING

Move to Compromise U. S. Employes' Pay Meets Defeat

WASHINGTON, March 14.—(AP.)—Without mentioning directly the House action in voting for cash payment of the bonus, President Roosevelt said today there was danger in paying off government obligations in paper money in that it might lead to meeting running expenses of the government by such a method.

President Roosevelt said he fears that once a legislative body gets in the habit of paying debts in paper money, there will be no limit to it.

Once veterans are paid in such fashion, he believes it most probable that other workers—wartime munitions workers, the government employes and others—will demand with some justice similar payments.

Therefore, it was made plain that if the bonus bill should pass the Senate it will be vetoed.

Shortly after the President's views were made known administration House leaders were defeated in efforts intended to bring about a compromise acceptable to President Roosevelt on the Senate liberalization of allowances to war veterans and government employes.

Democratic insurgents and Republicans rejected a move to send the independent offices supply bill to conference to compose differences on $354,000,000 in veterans' benefits and pay restoration voted by the Senate. The vote was 247 to 169.

President Roosevelt has served notice he would veto the bill if it passed in the form approved by the Senate.

Representative Isabelle Greenway (Dem.), of Arizona, who served as maid of honor at the marriage of President and Mrs. Roosevelt, voted against the administration. She was cheered by the Republican side.

PERKINS ASKS PERMANENT LABOR BOARD

Woman Secretary Sees Plan as Aid to Democracy

WASHINGTON, March 14.—(AP.)—Creation of a permanent labor board was recommended to the Senate Labor Committee today by Secretary Perkins as "a very important step forward in the management of community life and the practice of democracy."

The Labor Secretary added her voice to the plea of Senator Wagner (Dem.), of New York, for enactment of his bill to create a permanent labor board, arm it with enforcement means and protect labor's right to collective bargaining.

WAGNER'S WARNING

Wagner had opened the hearing on his bill with a warning that unless labor was given a fuller participation in the recovery program there would be another collapse.

Secretary Perkins told the committee:

"We have come to the time when establishment of a judicial tribunal to settle disputes between employers and employes is definitely indicated."

RECOVERY AID

Contending that the bill follows the philosophy of the National Recovery Act, Wagner said it was designed to bolster the recovery program "at the only spot where experience has proved that it is lamentably weak."

While trade associations have been strengthened and industry has gained control of code authority mechanisms, he said, co-operation among employes "has received one setback after another."

Wagner said the Labor Board had relied upon the prestige of its members and public sentiment, but that "in recent months the board has been confronted by some large employers who ignore public sentiment, who flaunt the clear intent of Congress, and who are a law unto themselves."

Manufacturers Score Wagner Labor Bill

NEW YORK, March 14.—(AP.)—The board of directors of the National Association of Manufacturers today issued a statement, drafted at its regular monthly meeting, denouncing the labor legislation proposed by United States Senator Wagner as being "in total disregard of every fundamental concept of legal rights and remedies." The statement added:

"There can be no doubt, from a careful reading of the bill, that it would not be an instrument for alleviating labor disputes but would project new issues of such a controversial nature into the battle for economic recovery that the upward movement might be further halted. It would not equalize bargaining power but would confer monopolistic powers upon one minority group to the virtual exclusion of the common rights of the mass of workers."

Candidate

WILLIAM A. SCHNADER

RACE ENTERED BY SCHNADER

John S. Fisher, and was first appointed Attorney General by the latter. He played a prominent part in drafting the state administrative code and defended it successfully before the Supreme Court.

In recent speeches, indicating the probable text of his platform, the Attorney General has urged a constitutional convention, legislation to eliminate duplication of governmental boards and bureaus, and remedial social and economic legislation.

Schnader hopes to draw support from all factions of the party. He is already assured the support of the majority of all Pinchot leaders whose adherence was obtained without any formal approval from the Governor. At the same time he has been procuring some pledges from Pinchot opponents, especially among regular Republican leaders in Philadelphia, now badly split politically.

LEGISLATIVE AID SEEN

Some time ago Schnader let it be known that if he were a candidate his campaign would not affiliate with the Pinchot contest for the Senate seat of Senator David A. Reed. It is known that the Attorney General expects assistance from some political leaders who are backing Reed.

Supporters of the Attorney General predict he will capitalize his friendship with members of the Legislature in the primary. To members of the House and Senate Schnader is probably better known than any other man in the state, having advised them on legislation and assisted in the preparation of numberless bills.

The attitude of the Republican State Committee toward the Schnader candidacy is not disclosed. What effect his announcement will have on the ambitions of Lieut. Gov. Edward C. Shannon also is problematical. Gen. Shannon was guest of honor at a dinner in Philadelphia last night, following a series of political conferences, but made no announcement of his plans. Some of Shannon's friends fear he has lost ground through failure to speak up weeks ago.

PITTSBURGHERS SILENT

Pittsburgh Republicans today expressed no opinion on the Schnader move, preferring to wait developments of a series of meetings being held in Philadelphia. The so-called "war board," headed by James M. Hazlett, Philadelphia city chairman, is living up to its name with a war in its own ranks, the 21 members rebuffing Hazlett's plan to put management in the hands of an executive committee of seven. Hazlett's plan was broached following his return from a visit to William S. Vare.

The Philadelphia City Committee will meet Friday, and discuss with businessmen candidacies of numerous Republicans who would like to run. Schnader has friends on this committee. So far the Attorney General and former Congressman Thomas W. Phillips, of Butler, are the only gubernatorial candidates actually in the field.

AUTO INDUSTRY ACTS TO BOOST WAGE RATES

Simultaneous Cut in Hours Also Planned In Detroit

DETROIT, March 14.—(AP.)—The motor car industry, a leader in the parade toward prosperity, has moved to heed President Roosevelt's plea for slashed hours and higher wage rates.

It became the first of the vast industrial groups to do so when the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce announced last night that it had recommended to its member firms that average weekly hours be cut from 40 to 36 with "compensating wage increase."

A few hours earlier Henry Ford, remarking that he was "mighty glad" to do it, announced that he had restored the $5-a-day minimum wage. This is the famous wage which surprised the nation when it was established back in 1914. Forty-seven thousand workers are affected.

If the N. A. C. C. recommendation is carried out by all its member firms, it will affect more than 183,000 workers. Ford is not a member. His announcement did not mention working hours.

In Washington, NRA officials were described as gratified by the news from here. Pending receipt of details, NRA men available there last night could not say whether the wage increases suggested by the N. A. C. C. would meet administration requirements.

The chamber coupled its announcement with a warning that its members "do not intend to submit to being coerced extra-legally."

Auto Workers, Employers Attend Strike Hearing

WASHINGTON, March 14.—(AP.)—A record assembly of industrial and labor leaders attended the National Labor Board's hearing today on automobile strikes.

William S. Knudsen, operating vice president of General Motors, led the list of industrial spokesmen, and William Collins, American Federation of Labor organizer in the Detroit area, brought in nearly 100 representatives of the workers in plants of the Michigan automobile cities and from Cleveland.

Asked about the Automobile Chamber of Commerce's action in recommending a 36-hour week, Collins said it was not possible to say how far this would meet worker demands until the actual increased pay scales were made public. The shortened work week, he said, would make no difference once the retail dealers were stocked with cars and the spring production rush over.

Collins' group has demanded a 20 per cent increase in pay, a 30-hour week, reinstatement of discharged workers and an industrial election to choose worker representatives for collective bargaining.

CANAL TO LAKE BACKED IN OHIO

YOUNGSTOWN, O., March 14.—(AP.)—Spurred by news from Columbus that Gov. George White had urged the Legislature to appropriate funds to aid in the proposed canalization of the Beaver and Mahoning rivers, industrial and civic interests of this area today had renewed efforts to obtain a through Lake-Erie-to-Ohio-River canal.

News of the Governor's recommendation to enlist state aid in the "dead-end" canal from the mouth of the Beaver River at Rochester, Pa., as far as Struthers, O., was announced here during a hearing of the United States Army engineers on the through canal to Ashtabula on Lake Erie.

Feasibility of the Pittsburgh-Ashtabula route was debated in the third of a series of hearings on four possible routes.

Representatives of communities from Pittsburgh to Ashtabula defended the Beaver-Mahoning route in the hearing while officials of a half dozen railroads strenuously opposed it.

Defense of the route was presented in a resolution by the City Council of Pittsburgh, telegrams from the Jones and Laughlin Steel Company and from the Pittsburgh Coal Exchange and in resolutions and briefs from various cities and towns.

MARKET BILL KEEPS 'TEETH'

WASHINGTON, March 14.—(AP.)—The already rewritten stock market control bill was in for another revision today, but word went out that it would emerge with "teeth" and "strong jaws to work the teeth."

Ferdinand Pecora, senate banking committee counsel, made this statement as he co-operated with Federal Reserve Board and Treasury officials in re-drafting the Fletcher-Rayburn Bill to bring it nearer to administration desires.

It became known that the government officials and experts are seeking among other things a federal control over margin trading that will not press to strongly on the banks but at the same time will hamper speculation.

After a four-hour meeting yesterday, indications were given that three major changes are contemplated.

One would make the minimum requirements of the original Fletcher-Rayburn bill more elastic, with a particular eye toward easing the strain on banks, which now have millions in loans on securities.

Another would relax the prohibitions against brokers and specialists trading in their own accounts. A third would slacken the strict requirements for the making of corporate reports to the federal agency controlling the exchange.

JURY DECIDING SCHWARTZ FATE

you that Andy Garavini had a gun in his hand that night."

Waving the hacker's deathbed statement, Clunk quoted from it:

"My wife knows all about this."

The prosecutor said the dying man made "the same statement any man would make when he was dying and depended upon his wife."

Of Florence Brunner, former city policeman, who testified for Schwartz, Prosecutor Clunk said:

"He's disgusting. To look at him, he's disgusting."

Clunk called him "that wonderful police officer doing time in Rockview for arson." Brunner had testified there was a Garavini-hatched murder plot afoot against Schwartz.

'OUTRAGEOUS KILLING'

Terming the slaying "an outrageous killing," Clunk wound up:

"How long must the people of Allegheny County put up with this kind of thing?"

The jury retired at 2:13 p. m. Visiting Judge J. Frank Graff, defining self-defense, said it was justifiable only when life is endangered and after every reasonable means of escape has been exhausted. He said the defendant must prove that the killing was in self-defense.

The trial began Monday.

The Widow Garavini was arrested yesterday on a charge of perjury because, the state contends, her testimony at the trial varied from that at the Coroner's inquest. She supported Schwartz's self-defense claim by asserting that the dying Garavini, en route to Mercy Hospital in a cab, had asked where his gun was.

AGED VET GETS FIRST CHECK

HARRISBURG, March 14.—(AP.)—Henry M. M. Richards, of Lebanon, veteran of the Civil and Spanish-American wars, will receive Pennsylvania's first veterans' bonus check at a brief ceremony tomorrow on the capitol steps.

Adjutant General David J. Davis described Richards' record as "rare" among the 300,000 applicants for compensation from the $50,000,000 fund approved by the voters last November.

He is 86, and his bonus check amounts to $46 for his service in the Spanish-American War. Compensation for Civil War service is not provided in the fund.

State Treasurer Charles A. Waters will present the check in the presence of officials of State Veterans' organizations.

General Davis said approval of claims is proceeding so rapidly that checks aggregating $4,000,000 will be mailed tomorrow.

DEBT MESSAGE BEING DRAFTED

International News Service.

WASHINGTON, March 14.—President Roosevelt's long expected message to Congress on foreign war debts probably will go to Capitol Hill next week.

The message will consist mainly of a summarization of the debt situation. The President does not feel that this is a propitious time to take an admonitory stand, and at the same time he realizes that Congress will not consider any proposals for scaling down the debts.

International News Service.

WASHINGTON, March 14.—The Johnson bill, prohibiting foreign governments and political subdivisions in default on debts to this government from floating securities in the United States in the future, was favorably reported by the House Foreign Affairs Committee today.

The bill, which is sponsored by Senator Johnson (Rep.), of California, passed the Senate in a form acceptable to the administration.

Chairman McReynolds (Dem.), of Tennessee, of the House committee, said he expected the bill to pass the House with little opposition.

Federal Fund Plea For Expo Planned

P. M. Chamberlin, managing director of the Greater Pittsburgh Exposition Society, yesterday told members of the Pittsburgh Advertising Club that funds will be sought from the PWA to erect a $6,000,000 exposition building here. Concerning the society's plan for the hall as submitted to City Council he said:

"The plan has not been finally rejected by Council. In the near future it will be resubmitted in a different form. Should it be approved the organizers will apply to the PWA for an outright grant of 30 per cent for the project and a long time loan for the remainder."

BACKS EDITORS IN BRIBE CASE

WAUKEGAN, Ill., March 14.—(AP.)—County Judge P. L. Persons ruled yesterday he had no power to make the editors of a local weekly newspaper divulge information concerning a bribery charge to which the paper had referred.

Wayne T. Stupey and Lloyd McNerney, co-editors of the Waukegan Times, were summoned to appear before Judge Persons and explain an editorial which stated that:

"According to information of a reliable nature, six bootleggers were allowed to operate in the City of Waukegan in violation of the law because of payments of money made to an employe of the county."

Judge Persons ruled he was not "an inquisitional body or a grand jury," and as the editors would not voluntarily yield the information, he could not force them to.

FRANKFORT, Ky., March 14.—(AP.)—A report on whether Vance Armentrout should be found in contempt of the House of Representatives will be given today by a special committee.

Armentrout, acting editor of the Louisville Courier-Journal, was charged with defying the lobby investigating committee in refusing to reveal to it the name of a House member who wrote a letter to the newspaper's "point of view" column criticising the Speaker and others.

COPPER FIRMS PROTEST CODE

International News Service.

WASHINGTON, March 14.—Attacking the proposed code the NRA drafted for the copper industry as "commandeering, regimenting and confiscating private property," C. F. Kelley, representing the Anaconda Copper Mining Company, told Deputy Administrator H. O. King today his company refuses to accept the code "in principle." He said:

"Until the principle regarding private property rights is eliminated we don't care to discuss the code's details.

"The NRA has no authority to impose these conditions on an industry."

The NRA submitted the proposed code after it rejected a suggested code presented by A. E. Petermann, counsel for the United States Copper Association.

TAX DISPUTES UP TO JURIES

WASHINGTON, March 14.—(AP.)—President Roosevelt has determined upon the policy that in all federal income tax cases decision as to whether criminal intent is involved shall be left to grand juries.

This policy was made known today at the White House press conference, together with word that several hundred income tax prosecutions are impending.

Likewise it was made clear that all taxpayers involved are going to be treated on the same basis whether the amount is small or large.

Because of the problem of determining the motive behind failure to pay an adequate tax, Mr. Roosevelt believes this should be decided by grand juries rather than by a single government official.

HOTEL STRIKE RULE STUDIED

Receivers of the Hotel William Penn were to confer today with F. L. Andrews, manager, to consider what stand they will take on the ruling of the Pittsburgh Regional Labor Board on the strike of hotel employes.

Announced yesterday, the decision calls for the re-employment without discrimination of all strikers, and the release of workers hired to supplant those who walked out. Strikers are to be given back their jobs by March 24.

Arthur C. Jewett, executive secretary of the Pittsburgh Regional Labor Board, predicted settlement of the strike by next week.

If the ruling does not result in a settlement, the matter will be referred to the National Labor Board.

Navajos Expel Walker And Movie Stars

GALLUP, N. M., March 14.—(AP.)—Scores of celebrities, including former Mayor James J. Walker, of New York, were expelled from the Navajo Indian tribe today by its executive council of 12.

The big chiefs indicated they were fed up on white men who get adopted into the tribe and then go around boasting that they are Indians.

A number of Hollywood actors and actresses suffered the same fate as Walker. Tom Dodge, member of the council, said:

"Every time a movie star stops in Gallup and is adopted by the tribe, then he claims at Hollywood he is a Navajo.

"A former Mayor of New York stopped at Albuquerque, went to New York and claimed to be a member of the tribe."

The council's resolution said no longer will there be any membership in the tribe "except by birth" and that "all those who claim to be members of the tribe by adoption are hereby declared to be in no possible way an adopted or honorary member of the Navajo people."

The colorful adoption ceremony has been staged in many parts of the country and frequently at Gallup.

CWA Men to Get Jobs In State Division

Word that nearly all Allegheny County CWA workers would be transferred to the recently-created Relief Works Division of the Pennsylvania Relief Board was received here as the newly-formed Association of Civil Works Employers of Allegheny County appealed to President Roosevelt not to end the CWA.

County Administrator James Lyall Stuart received word yesterday that 23,200 of the county's approximately 28,000 workers would be transferred to the RWD, as the new setup will be known. The curtailment will be gradual, according to Stuart, and will not interfere with projects nearing completion.

In a telegram to the President, the employes' organization asserted the end of the CWA would be a hardship on the workers and throw millions of unemployed into the streets.

The telegram was sent as the result of action taken at an organization meeting in the Y. M. C. A. last night.

12 OVERCOME BY WATER HEATER FUMES IN HOMES

FIVE CHILDREN AMONG GAS VICTIMS

Neighbor's Call Saves Two Families in Lawrenceville

Twelve persons, including five children, were overcome by gas fumes at their homes in the Lawrenceville district last night. The fumes were believed to have come from improperly installed water heaters in the cellar.

A man was in a serious condition in St. Francis Hospital and a woman, an expectant mother, was taken to the hospital several hours later when she failed to respond to a physician's treatment.

FINDS 12 OVERCOME

His knocks on the door unanswered, Gilbert broke in and found Mrs. Agnes Moran, 44; her daughter, Mrs. Elizabeth Young, 23; a guest, John Stierheim, 31, of 50 Linhart way, North Side, and Robert Young, 4, all overcome by the fumes. After calling a doctor, he went to the other side of the double house and found eight others in the same condition. Mrs. Young said:

"My mother was upstairs with Bobby when Mr. Gilbert came to the home. I didn't hear his knocks at first, but I finally managed to reach the door."

"I had a headaches and so did Mr. Stierheim when we succeeded in arousing him. We went upstairs and found mother and Bobbie and they appeared violently ill, too.

"All of us seemed to be sick and we didn't know what was wrong. Mr. Stierheim seemed very bad and he went outside for air."

SECOND FAMILY

When Gilbert entered the other side of the house, occupied by Mrs. Mary Burns, 48, he noticed that she and members of her family were also ill. All appeared dazed. They had been affected by the fumes at practically the same time as their neighbors.

With Mrs. Burns were her son, Alfred, 23, of 312 Thirty-eighth street; his wife, Mrs. Mary Burns, 22, and their two sons, Donald, 4, and Harry, 2; and Mrs. James Burns, 21, 4614 Clairton street, her daughter-in-law, and her two children, James, Jr., 4, and June, 2. They were on the first floor. Alfred Burns, unaffected by the fumes, said:

"Everyone looked to be getting pains in the head. It was all a mystery to us. We were sure it was nothing we had eaten."

Dr. George J. Sarraf, of 3700 Penn avenue, called to the scene, treated occupants of both homes. He ordered Stierheim be taken to the hospital and later, after attending Mrs. James Burns, had her placed in an ambulance. Her condition is good, hospital officials reported. Dr. Sarraf said:

"People on both sides of the house were suffering from the same ailment. When I went down into the cellars of both homes and looked at the water heaters and found the vents unconnected, I was convinced that the cause was gas fumes from this source.

"Shortly after I arrived at the scene a dog came in the front room. He was sick. He, no doubt, had been overcome, too."

BLASTS RAISE CONDUIT LIDS

Conduit explosions within 20 minutes blew three manhole lids into the air in First avenue, near Wood street, early today. No damage was reported.

Duquesne Light crews blamed excess water in the conduits, which they said caused short circuits which ignited accumulated gas.

A still alarm brought firemen to the scene although no fire followed the explosion. A squad of police from Central Station rerouted traffic in First avenue while the light company crews were investigating.

Six other holes in the vicinity were smoking. The lids were taken off to permit the gas to escape.

Hospital Engineer Injured by Auto

Samuel Wilson, 54, an engineer in the Homeopathic Hospital, was taken to that institution early today after being struck by an automobile in Federal street near the Fort Wayne station.

CHILD FLOGGING BAN DEMANDED

MEDIA, Pa., March 14.—(AP.)—Conditions in Delaware County's Juvenile Detention Home are described as "deplorable" by the grand jury.

Whipping straps were found and should be removed at once, the jury says in a presentment handed up to the County Court.

The personnel of the home should be thoroughly investigated, the jury asserts, and the home should be moved to a less congested location. The report states:

"Cells where the children are kept are furnished only with the most meager and uncomfortable bench and table.

"We found two whipping straps on a doorknob in a hall outside the cell of a 14-year-old girl. Upon inquiry we were advised by the woman in charge that they were not permitted to use the straps, but had them in case of an obstreperous child.

"We highly recommend that these straps be disposed of immediately and forever."

Swearing Bringing Fines at Pitt to Buy Candy

It costs University of Pittsburgh instructors and professors from 1 cent to $1 a word to "cuss" in one of the university offices, the Pitt News reports.

The money thus raised, the News reports further, is placed in a "cuss box." Then, when the total is large enough a box of candy is purchased. Members of the office staff eat the candy. Each "cuss" word has a prearranged value.

ARRESTED SON AWAITS JEAN

NEW YORK, March 14.—(AP.)—A youth charged with murder on the high seas sat in a federal cell today awaiting the arrival from Paris of his mother, the former Jean Nash, once hailed as the "world's best-dressed woman."

The former Miss Nash, whose five marriages gained her international attention and who is now the wife of Paul Dubonnet, millionaire French wine manufacturer, packed up to come here immediately.

A noted lawyer has been engaged to defend the youth, Andrew D. Kirwan, 23, who is accused of stabbing a fellow passenger, Gilliam Sessoms, of Seattle, aboard the liner President Garfield, February 10. An argument over religion led to the stabbing, federal officials say.

Death by hanging or life imprisonment is the penalty for murder committed on the sea. The trial begins March 20.

In Paris yesterday, dressmakers, milliners, shoemakers, a hairdresser and a manicurist stood in line outside Mme. Dubonnet's apartment as she rushed preparations to sail with her husband.

INQUEST HEARS WRECK DETAILS

No brakes were applied when the Pennsylvania Railroad passenger train lurched and plunged off the tracks into North Side's Merchant street, February 26, according to Dr. R. E. Hall, of Mt. Lebanon.

Hall was the first passenger of the wrecked train to testify at a Coroner's inquest today into the death of the 11 victims.

E. B. Pry, of Wilkinsburg, superintendent of telegraphs and signals for the central division, testified there were no cab signals in the ill-fated locomotive, which might have prevented the tragedy.

He said that such signals, which would have notified the fireman of danger in the event that something had happened to the engineer, were too costly to install on all company lines.

The train left the tracks 30 feet before reaching the switch on the Merchant street curve, according to Harry Lutz, supervisor of telegraphs and signals on the eastern division.

BROKER HELD IN GIRL'S DEATH

NEW YORK, March 14—(AP.)—Miss Edna Leavett, 26, of Brookline, Mass., was found fatally beaten in a Greenwich Village apartment yesterday.

Arthur W. Morse, in whose apartment Miss Leavitt was found, was arrested on a charge of felonious assault and released in $5,000 bail. Morse said he was a vice president of D. W. Clinch & Co., Wall street investment brokers. He said he and Miss Leavett had been friends since childhood in Brookline.

Police said Miss Leavett was injured in what appeared to be a fight following an all-night round of village night clubs. In the battle, police said, Morse was badly cut and bruised. He was treated at Bellevue Hospital. The apartment was virtually wrecked.

FEARS HUSBAND, SON KIDNAPED

Mrs. Victoria Bonacci, of Rankin, fears that her husband and 3-year-old son have been kidnaped.

Police have been seeking Nick Bonacci, 32, and his son, Anthony, since their disappearance from the home, 37 Miller street, late Monday.

Bonacci, proprietor of a service station at Miller and Gas streets, Rankin, received a $500 insurance check for damages to the station caused by a gas explosion on December 25.

DOUG AND ROXY DENY LONDON SHOW PACT

'Radio City' Plan Refuted By Actor, Son, Producer

LONDON, March 14.—(AP.)—Douglas Fairbanks, Sr., emphatically denied today reports published abroad that he is associated with S. L. (Roxy) Rothafel in plans to build a "radio city" in London.

He was joined in the categorical denial of the reports by young Doug, Jr. He said:

And Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., promptly added:

"I know nothing whatever of Roxy's plans. I have put up no money to back him in anything, whatever. I have no connection with him of any kind."

Friends were quick to declare that the only interest of the father and son here now is in the making of pictures.

Doug, Sr., is now working on one and intends to return to the United States as soon as it is finished.

Doug, Jr., plans to make two pictures and also appear on the stage with Gertrude Lawrence in a new stage play this spring. He is leaving for North Africa tomorrow.

Persons close to the elder Fairbanks made the observation that it is a matter of record that it always takes a lot of "real money" to back "Roxy" in any of his ventures. They said Fairbanks would not be likely to tie up such a sum, and furthermore, that it is unlikely he would be the person to whom Roxy would go in seeking it.

Rothafel, himself, when seen by an Associated Press representative, said reports that he had already signed up with Fairbanks and others were all "a lot of applesauce, plus."

He said he is dealing only for himself. He added he is in touch with two or three corporations and that when he leaves for the United States tomorrow he hopes to have a statement to make. He is confident there will be a Roxy theater in London, but does not know yet where, when or how.

Mary Pickford Silent About Reconciliation

NEW YORK, March 14.—(Universal.)—Mary Pickford continued to maintain silence today about reports from London that she and her husband, Douglas Fairbanks, are about to effect a reconciliation.

She still refused comment on the report that their difficulties are being patched up through trans-Atlantic telephone calls.

At present, she said, she is looking for a story for her next picture. She intends to return to Hollywood in a few weeks.

Dillinger Hand Seen in $52,000 Holdup of Bank

CHICAGO, March 14.—(AP.)—The sinister hand of "Whittling" John Dillinger, Indiana desperado, was seen today in a $52,000 robbery of the First National Bank of Mason City, Ia.

The loot of the raid, staged yesterday by seven machine gun bandits, marked a new high in a recent series of assaults on Midwest banks. Witnesses said they believed the leader was Dillinger.

Tactics employed by the gunmen were similar to those used by the bandits who stole between $10,000 and $20,000 March 6 from a bank at Sioux Falls. They were also like the methods of robbers who made away with $21,000 at Atchison, an., last Monday.

Arriving at the Mason City bank, the bandits scattered a rain of machine gun bullets, injured two persons, scooped up the cash and escaped under the protection of a dozen hostages.

Vigilantes and police withheld their fire as the robbers' car, its running board lined with bystanders and bank employes, roared out of town. The hostages were released unharmed a short time later.

Threats Fail to Halt Trial at Lima

LIMA, O., March 14.—(AP.)—Lima started adding a bit of salt today to the stories it swallowed about John Dillinger and his machine guns as Charley Makley smiled amiably through the second day of his trial for the murder of Sheriff Jess L. Sarber last October.

But the routine choosing of a jury to sit on the case of Makley, former Dillinger associate, was not without moment. Another threatening letter was received yesterday, this time by County Prosecutor Ernest M. Botkin, carrying a general threat against the peace and welfare of the city.

Gov. George White, at Columbus, viewed the armed guard placed over him yesterday with apparent good humor. He said:

"The important news today is that I wasn't stolen last night."

But he appeared willing enough to permit the guard, placed by Adjt. Gen. Frank D. Henderson, to protect not only the Governor, but also his daughter, Miss Mary White, from possible kidnaping.

The letter received by Prosecutor Botkin was mailed here from Indianapolis and, according to Brig. Gen. Harold M. Bush, contained a rather general threat against the peace and welfare of the city. Specific threats were made against Prosecutor Botkin and Capt. Matt Leach, of the Indiana State Police.

Grand Jury Begins Dillinger Break Probe

CROWN POINT, Ind., March 14.—(AP.)—A special grand jury was impaneled today to investigate how John Dillinger, now the object of a nation-wide hunt, was able to break out of the County jail.

Judge William J. Murray, in instructing the jury, said:

"It has been inferred that graft or collusion, or both, were responsible for Dillinger's jail break.

"I charge you to name the parties who are responsible, whether they are criminally liable or not."

Marshal Found Slain In Desperate Fight

CLEARWATER, Kan., March 14.—(INS.)—Bob Hammer, a substitute night marshal, was found shot to death just two doors from the Clearwater State Bank here early today. Hammer had been felled by shotgun and pistol fire.

The officer had engaged in a furious gun battle. He still held his pistol in his hand.

Factor's Young Son Hidden From Gang

7 STATES ACT TO AVENGE KIDNAPINGS

Banghart Sentenced In Factor Job; Strewl Guilty

Associated Press.

In seven states kidnapers within a few hours have found out what it means when the law "bears down."

A Chicago jury quickly found Basil Hugh (The Owl) Banghart guilty yesterday of participation in the John Factor kidnaping and fixed his punishment at 99 years' imprisonment. Similar sentences for the same crime have been pronounced against three other members of the gang including the leader, Roger Touhy. Two members have met violent death, Charles (Ice Wagon) Connors, having been found slain yesterday.

At Albany, N. Y., Manny Strewl was convicted of the kidnaping of John J. O'Connell, Jr., scion of a politically powerful upstate family. Because of his criminal record, Strewl, who acted as go-between, will receive a mandatory sentence of 50 years.

WOMAN SOUGHT

St. Louis police sought Mrs. Nellie Tipton Muench, alleged "brains" of a gang that kidnaped Dr. I. D. Kelley, wealthy physician, in 1931. She was indicted yesterday with five men for the crime.

At Racine, Wis., George Wolf, a theater employe, was seized and later confessed in Chicago, police said, to participation in the attempted kidnaping of E. P. Adler, Davenport (Ia.) newspaper publisher. Two others are awaiting trial, a fourth committed suicide and a fifth is sought in connection with a plot to hold the publisher for $100,000 ransom.

Delaware saw passage by the state House of Representatives of a kidnap law providing death or life imprisonment, at the discretion of a jury, for persons convicted of kidnaping. The Senate now has the bill.

GOVERNOR GUARDED

In Ohio, to frustrate any attempt by friends of John Dillinger, escaped desperado, to kidnap Gov. George White and hold him as a hostage for release of three of Dillinger's pals, armed guards patrolled the executive mansion at Columbus. The Governor had no fear for himself, but said, "There might be a possibility of kidnaping Mary" (his daughter).

California officials arraigned Albert A. Stapp and Al Reinke, automobile race drivers, on charges of kidnaping a reporter for a newspaper which had conducted a campaign against the dangers involved in automobile racing. They are at liberty on $2,500 bail each and will get a hearing Friday.

Leaping From Auto, Sleuth Foils Holdup

En route home from a theater last night, Detective Sergeant John J. O'Connor jumped from his automobile at La Schall street and Hamilton avenue to thwart an attempted holdup of an aged unidentified man by three Negroes.

The assailants fled when O'Connor approached. He chased them to the Pennsylvania Railroad tracks nearby, firing several shots.

JUDGES URGE PENSIONS FOR AGED

Simplification of Common Pleas Court procedure and indorsement of old age pensions were urged at a meeting of 24 judges, lawyers and civic leaders, commemorating the one hundred and forty-fifth anniversary of the Common Pleas Court.

At the luncheon in the Chamber of Commerce auditorium, Judge James H. Gray asked:

"Should not the public demand that the practice in our courts be revised in such a manner as will secure a speedy trial in every case and that this be done in harmony with the present need for economy in government?"

DOCKETS CROWDED

Judge Gray referred to a proposal for setting up a tribunal like the Workmen's Compensation Board to try automobile accident cases.

Another proposal mentioned by him would do away with jury trials in negligence cases. He declared:

"The energies of the court are now being exerted to the utmost to dispose of jury cases with the determination to do everything possible to clear the dockets of the accumulation of cases, of which there are about 5,000 now."

Asserting that new problems demand from the courts an appreciation of the social implication of their decisions, Charles A. Jones said he hoped to see the day when the "casualties of life from age alone" will be protected by old age pensions.

FRAZER PRAISED

Judge Sara M. Soffel reviewed the history of Allegheny County's courts and paid tribute to Chief Justice Robert S. Frazer, of the Pennsylvania Supreme Court, who headed the list of judges at the speakers' table.

John G. Frazer, president of the Allegheny County Bar Association, presided.

FRAUD RETRIAL HEARINGS SET

The 35 men and two women convicted in seven election vote fraud trials at the special February session of Federal Court will not know their fate until after April 5.

On that date Judge F. P. Schoonmaker will hear defense arguments for new trials. The date was set yesterday after a conference between Judge Schoonmaker and First Assistant United States Attorney James I. Marsh.

In the meantime there will be the regular March court term at Erie, with Judges R. M. Gibson and Schoonmaker presiding. The term will begin next Monday and probably continue 10 days.

With few exceptions the 17 convicted in the five election trials at the November term of court and sentenced, have appeals pending before the United States Circuit Court, and are at liberty under bonds of $2,500 each.

Tax Rally Tonight In Homestead Hall

Real estate taxpayers of the Homestead district will hold a mass meeting tonight in the Hays Hall, Eighth avenue and McClure street, Homestead, under auspices of the Homestead Property Owners Association.

E. Lowry Humes, former United States Attorney, and a member of the executive committee of the Allegheny County Real Estate Owners and Taxpayers League, will speak. George Ewing will be chairman.

Police Restriction On Uniforms Lifted

Police bulletin boards yesterday carried the announcement that in the future officers would be permitted to choose the place to buy uniforms, as long as they wear regulation garb. Formerly officers had been restricted to a store designated by the police department.

Mayor in Doubt Over Signing of City Salary Bill

Mayor McNair is undecided as to whether he will sign the $8,400,000 city salary bill.

After its final passage yesterday, the Mayor said:

"I still have 10 days to make up my mind on it."

Six Councilmen voted for the measure. Councilmen Robert Garland and William J. Soost were absent. Councilman William A. Magee cast the only dissenting vote.

The bill represents a net cut of about $100,000 in the payroll. By staggering and elimination of a few positions, Council first cut about $300,000. But this figure was reduced by some $200,000 when a 10 per cent raise was voted for employes receiving $1,500 or less.

The schedule is intended to be effective April 1.

Mrs. Wagner recently was convicted in Federal Court of election fraud, along with other members of the election board of the Third District, Fourth Ward. The jury recommended mercy for her. She has not been sentenced.

POLICE SHAKEUP ROW WAITED

Wise guys in City Hall today were still playing the guessing game as to when Public Safety Director Ralph E. Smith will announce his impending police shakeup—if he does.

They're guessing about the date, but they're positive that 24 hours after Smith gives out his list, he will be looking for a new job.

These sentiments were expressed today by a qualified source, despite the denials by Smith, Police Supt. Ben Marshall and the Mayor that they know anything about such an impending shakeup.

CITY SUED OVER RADIO JOB

A writ of mandamus to force the City of Pittsburgh to execute a contract with the Barton Auto Radio Corporation, for the maintenance and servicing of the police radio system, was issued by Common Pleas Judge Elder W. Marshall today.

Issuance of the writ followed the action of Mayor McNair and Public Safety Director Ralph E. Smith who yesterday ordered the contract cancelled.

The writ was made returnable one week from today when the city must present an answer.

In his petition for the writ, Leonard A. Mazer, counsel for the Barton firm, contended the radio company had complied with all the rules and specifications in its successful low bid of $12,000 for the servicing of the police radio during 1934.

Cancellation of the contract was ordered following hearings before Controller James P. Kerr in which is was charged that the Barton company installed parts in private radios for policemen and charged the city for replacements and repairs not actually needed.

It was also charged that Ralph P. Barton, magistrate's clerk at No. 5 Police Station, is financially interested in the company.

In testimony taken in a final hearing before Controller Kerr yesterday, Mazer declared a connection by Barton with the corporation as salesman would not interfere with the contract.

OUSTER LOSS FACING CITY

Whether the city can collect the bond of the officer responsible for dismissing five firemen, now suing for back salary and reinstatement, was to be discussed today following a report by City Solicitor C. D. Scully.

Scully yesterday told Council the city might have to give the firemen a total of more than $7,000, reinstate them, and pay all their back pension fund dues. Councilman William A. Magee then requested an opinion from Scully on the possibility of collecting the bond of the per who caused the shakeup.

Scully was to confer on the matter today with Safety Director Ralph E. Smith and Civil Service Chairman Julia Doyle.

Dismissed in July, 1932, 15 firemen protested they had been discharged for political reasons. Only five have kept up the battle. The Civil Service Commission upheld the dismissals. Then the case was taken to court, and Judge Elder Marshall handed down an opinion stating that the proof was undisputed that the men discharged were not those least meritorious.

DETECTIVE VET REINSTATED

Director of Safety Ralph E. Smith swore him in yesterday with Edward Kremer, who leaves a job as information clerk in Mayor McNair's office to become a detective.

Linden, first noted for his brilliant Bertillon work, has only three months to serve to complete 20 years with the department and become eligible for pension. He lives in the Eleventh Ward.

NEW SUIT FILED AGAINST STATE BANK HEAD

The attack on the Department of Banking's liquidating methods grew with the filing of exceptions today by depositors of the closed Mountain City Trust Company, Altoona, to charges levied by Dr. William D. Gordon, state secretary of banking, in the liquidation of the bank.

Counsel for the Altoona bank, John J. Haberstroh, contended today that Gordon has no legal right to pay out funds belonging to the bank for alleged administrative expenses of the liquidating division for closed banks which has been established at Philadelphia by the state department.

The exceptions were taken to six items of expense totaling $309.97 contained in a partial account submitted by Gordon.

CASE DROPPED

The exceptions filed today follow withdrawal of exceptions by a committee of depositors in the defunct Citizens Trust Company of Bellevue to similar charges placed on that bank by the state department.

The Bellevue depositors' contest was upheld in a decision by Judge Elder W. Marshall. Judge Marshall surcharged Dr. Gordon and branded methods of the banking department in liquidating closed state banks as illegal. The decision apparently left the banking secretary open to further surcharges possibly totaling a million dollars. An appeal to the Supreme Court had been prepared by the department, but was not taken after the Bellevue depositors dropped exceptions this month.

'DEAL' DENIED

Later Dr. Gordon announced a loan had been obtained from the RFC which would make possible payment of a 32 per cent dividend to the depositors.

Park H. Martin, head of the depositors' committee, said withdrawal of the exceptions was contingent upon payment of the dividend, but David Glick, deputy attorney general, said there was no "deal" whereby the depositors were to drop their exceptions involving $2,260.35. One item of $143.75 remains surcharged against Dr. Gordon, it having been admitted by him.

George F. Taylor, Jr., former special deputy secretary of banking, said today that although he had been in charge of liquidating the Bellevue and Altoona banks, any statement relative to the liquidating machinery and charges should come from Dr. Gordon since he (Taylor) was no longer affiliated with the banking department.

WEST END BANK TO REOPEN

Approximately $1,500,000 in deposits tied up since the bank holiday a year ago will be released to depositors tomorrow when the West End Bank, South Main and Wabash streets, resumes business on an unrestricted basis.

Announcement of the reopening of the West End Bank, formerly known as the West End Savings Bank and Trust Company, is expected to be made late today.

Since the bank holiday, the bank has been operating on a restricted basis, accepting new deposits and collecting on loans.

BLAZE IN HOUSE RAGES 3 HOURS

Fire damaged the interior of the three-story home of Herman Koch, 5391 Northumberland street, last night.

The blaze, originating in the basement, reached the second floor and was extinguished after a three-hour battle. Traffic was halted when firemen stretched hose lines across the streets. Battalion Chief John Callaghan estimated damage at $2,500.

HEINZ ORDERS NEW MAYVIEW FIRE SYSTEM

Fire Chief John Heinz today ordered a new fire protection set-up for the City Home at Mayview. Effective at midnight tomorrow, 20 engine companies in the city will comprise a "running card" system to answer alarms from the home's box, No. 777.

At the first alarm, two companies will immediately go to the institution, and the other 18 will hold themselves in readiness. On each succeeding alarm, additional companies will move, according to Heinz.

In the past, only two companies have been responsible for Mayview's protection. In the event of a bad fire, additional engine companies would have been called over the telephone.

Heinz also announced that modern equipment now idle in three closed engine houses in the South Hills district will be put into service to replace obsolete equipment, some of which is 21 years old.

DRIVE SPURRED BY KAUFMANN

Edgar J. Kaufmann was host to 50 Y. M. & W. H. A. campaign workers at a buffet dinner meeting in his home in Pasadena drive, Aspinwall, last night, at which plans were drawn for the final effort to collect the $5,000 needed to complete the organization's $60,000 campaign.

The collection of $55,000 in three weeks for the 1934 goodwill budget surpassed expectations. Kaufmann, who is treasurer of the "Y" and chairman of the special gifts committee, told the workers.

Hyman Rogal, campaign director, urged the workers to raise the remaining $5,000 by Monday. He appointed six new campaign captains. The leaders volunteered to contact people in the Jewish community who have not been solicited or who have not contributed to the fund.

The new campaign captains are Oliver M. Kaufmann, Louis M. Bennett, Davis Silverblatt, D. L. Wilkoff, Harry P. Letwin and Sidney Wilkoff. George Rom was named assistant campaign director.

SHERIFF'S AIDE DIES IN HOME

Assistant Chief Deputy Sheriff Arthur Storer, 64, active in county politics for more than 30 years, died in his home, Walkers Heights, Elizabeth, last night.

Shortly before his death Mr. Storer was stricken with apoplexy in his justice of the peace office in Market street.

For 16 years he had worked in the Sheriff's office. He was a county detective for 10 years and worked in the County Recorder's office for four years. He was at one time a member of the State Legislature and was elected justice of the peace of Elizabeth at the last election.

He was a teacher in the Bible class of the Elizabeth Methodist Episcopal Church and was active in fraternal organizations. He leaves his wife, Mrs. Euphemia Cowan Storer, two sons and two sisters.

BANK EMPLOYEE MISSING

Duquesne police were searching today for Elton Luker, 30, teller in the First National Bank of Duquesne, who they said, has been missing nearly three weeks. W. F. Doney, the bank cashier, reported Luker had been with the bank eight years, and said his accounts were in order.

Luker is described as being six feet tall, weighing 220 pounds. He was wearing a brown suit, gray top coat, gray hat, brown striped tie and steel rimmed glasses when last seen.

Worried over his disappearance, Luker's wife is ill at their home, 112 Auriles street, Duquesne.

Hitler Holds Key to Peace, Europe Believes

Nazi Gains Abroad Seen as Serious Threat

Editor's Note: Europe fears Nazi Germany because of Hitler's avowed intention of unifying eighty million Germans, H. R. Knickerbocker writes from Geneva in the twenty-seventh article of his series, "Will War Come?"

The growth of the Nazi party outside of Germany indicates that a great many Germans in other countries desire affiliation with Germany, Knickerbocker writes.

By H. R. KNICKERBOCKER
International News Service.

GENEVA, March 14.—Why does Europe fear Nazi Germany? Why should it make any difference to the peace of Europe if Germany rearms? Why does nearly every statesman in Europe refer the question, "Will War Come?" back to Adolf Hitler?

"It all depends on Hitler," is the phrase that, expressed or implied, summarizes what men who head the states of Europe say when asked about war or peace. Is this general opinion true? If true, why does it "all depend on Hitler?"

Here in Geneva, seat of the League of Nations, the answer may be found. It could be sought in the crowded bureaus of the League, and the admirable, intelligent and helpful secretariat, civil servants of the League, could supply a 10-foot shelf of documented discussion of the topic. A simpler, cheaper answer hangs in the window of a Geneva bookshop.

Map Reveals Arms Of German Nation

It costs 25 cents. It is a map. It is entitled: 'Sprachenkarte von Mitteleuropa," and it shows, according to its German publisher, that there are 85,263,000 Germans in Europe, most of them bordering upon the German Reich with its 65,000,000.

Confirmation of the German version costs another 25 cents. It is another map, by a French publisher, showing in the French language, and on a different scale, virtually the same language division as the German map. Both maps show that 20 countries of Europe harbor enough Germans to be worth recording, and that most of the 20 have enough Germans to make them deeply disturbed at the prospect that some day someone may attempt to unite all these Germans into one nation.

Adolf Hitler united the 65,000,000 Germans in Germany for the first time in German history. Statesmen of the 20 states around and near Germany note that fact. They also note that the National Socialist party philosophy calls for the unification of all German peoples. Hitler has spoken of eighty million Germans. German map-makers today give Pan-Germany more than five million Germans in excess of the Nazi leader's estimate.

Germans in Europe Listed by States

Here is the list the German map gives: Germany, 65,000,000; Austria, 6,300,000; Czecho-Slovakia, 3,500,000; Switzerland, 2,860,000; France, 1,700,000; Poland, 1,350,000; Rumania, 800,000; Jugoslavia, 700,000; Hungary, 600,000; Danzig, 360,000; Italy, 300,000; Luxemburg, 250,000; Belgium, 150,000; Lithuania, 131,000; Holland, 80,000; Latvia, 75,000; Denmark, 60,000; Esthonia, 30,000; Lichtenstein, 12,000; Sweden, 5,000, and European Russia, 1,000,000.

Of the 20 countries named, besides Germany, 11, Austria, Czecho-Slovakia, Switzerland, France, Poland, Danzig, Luxemburg, Belgium, Lithuania, Holland and Denmark, with a combined German speaking population of 16,714,000, border on the Germany of today. When and if Austria goes Nazi, Hungary, Jugoslavia and Italy with another 1,650,000 Germans, will also border on the greater Third Reich.

Thus in the event of a Nazification of Austria the greater Third Reich with a population of around 72,000,000 Germans would be contiguous to territory harboring another 12,000,000. Only Russia, Sweden, Esthonia and Latvia would be separated by other states from the mighty pull of the largest nation, the most intensely nationalistic people, and the youngest church of racial religionists in Europe.

Attitude Toward Third Reich Vague

Now nobody knows how many of these German speaking peoples outside of present day Germany would like to join the Third Reich. It is not even clear how many of them the Third Reich would like to bring within the fold. It is still less clear how many of them the Third Reich believes itself capable of bringing into the fold within the predictable future.

But the Germans or German speaking peoples living just across the German frontiers are obviously the most interesting for Pan-Germany. Working around the map of Germany counter-clockwise, from the northeast corner, one may find these groups of Germans in Memel, belonging to Lithuania; Danzig, West Prussia and Upper Silesia, belonging to Poland; a wide belt all the way around inside the northern, western and southern borders of Czecho-Slovakia; all of Austria; a fringe of Hungary next to Austria; a fringe of Jugoslavia; the South Tyrol in Northern Italy; all of tiny Lichtenstein; two-thirds of Switzerland; Alsace-Lorraine, the one-time "lost provinces" of France; the Saar, Luxemburg as a whole; Eupen-Malmedy in Belgium; the Maastricht district of Holland, and North Schleswig in Denmark.

Woodrow Wilson, betrayer of the German nation, according to German thought, nevertheless put a weapon in their hands. Self-determination of peoples should logically apply just as well to Germans. If the principle were justly applied it should permit the assimilation into the Third Reich of territories adjacent to it and occupied by a majority of Germans who wish to become a part of the Fatherland.

Nazi Growth Shows Sentiment Abroad

How many of these Germans outside of Germany do wish to join the Third Reich? The answer cannot be given in accurate percentages, but from the evidence of the growth of Nazi parties in countries containing significant German groups, it is a very large percentage, and possibly even a majority.

National Socialist parties have been formed, and though in many cases suppressed, are in most cases continuing to exist and grow legally or illegally, in Sweden, Esthonia, Latvia, Lithuania, Czecho-Slovakia, Hungary, Rumania, Switzerland, Holland and Denmark, as of course in Austria and Danzig. Danzig is to all political intents and purposes already a part of the Third Reich. In Austria the position of the Nazis is too well known to need further description.

But what would be the position of the various countries involved if the dream of Pan-Germanism were realized, and all the German speaking peoples living in areas contiguous to Germany were to become united in the Third Reich?

Lithuania would lose her only port, Memel, which it is true she took by force from Germany when the Reich was at its weakest. Poland would lose rich mining territory in Upper Silesia. Czecho-Slovakia would lose such a large fraction of Bohemia that only a shriveled kernel would be left. Austria, of course, would poss in toto to the Reich.

Italy Faces Loss Of South Tyrol

For Hungary, Rumania and Jugoslavia the question is less realistic, as their German population is scattered too widely. For Italy it would mean the loss of the South Tyrol, considered strategically indispensable for the defense of the country, and the loss of the valued port of Trieste.

For Switzerland it would mean the break-up of the Bund, with two-thirds going to Germany and the French and Italian parts falling to their respective motherlands. For France it would mean the loss of the greater part of the territories for which she fought the war, Alsace and Lorraine. Luxemburg would pass completely into Germany. Belgium would lose an insignificant morsel of land, and Holland also, but Denmark would have to give up once more North Schlesswig, which she values highly.

At the end, were this mighty aim accomplished, the greater Third Reich would stand there with its eighty to eighty-five million population, incomparably more numerous in men, richer in resources and more powerful industrially, politically and militarily than any other state or combination of states in Europe.

German Leaders Dreamed of Unity

Germans long before Hitler was born have dreamed this magnificent dream. They feel sincerely, and not without historical justification, that they have a right to national, racial unity. Spain, France, England gained their national unity centuries before Germany took the first step toward hers. America was a nation when Germany was only a concept. Japan has sprung away beyond her language frontiers.

Germany feels that she alone is not even allowed the elementary privilege of bringing within her borders her own people living in territories continguous to the reich. Adolf Hitler was the first to give this feeling a voice and a weapon.

TWO MEETINGS TO URGE TAX SAVINGS

(The following article is one of a series the Sun-Telegraph is publishing in its campaign to lower taxes by eliminating waste and duplication in governmental units. Today's article tells of two important steps which will be taken next week, toward a concrete program for tax reductions.)

Two important conferences are to be held in Harrisburg next week, both for the purpose of easing the tremendous tax burden brought about by excess administrative costs in operation of schools and local governmental units. Consolidation of school districts and of the many governmental units will be discussed at length at both the meetings.

The problem of school administration will be taken up next Thursday at a conference of educators called by Dr. James N. Rule, Superintendent of Public Instructions. At this meeting, representatives of the State School Directors' Association, the State Education Association and the Department of Public Instruction, will discuss preliminary plans for a program of consolidation of the many school districts in the state.

MERGERS URGED

Merger of school districts in the interests of economy and efficiency was advocated by speakers at the recent convention in Harrisburg of the State Education Association, which approved a plan for the study of the problem with a view to drafting legislation.

The meeting will be attended by delegates from all parts of the state. Allegheny County will be represented by M. A. Steiner, principal of the Ingram Schools, and by George F. Hess, of the Port Vue Borough schools.

The second conference is scheduled to open next Wednesday and to close Thursday night. It is to be a statewide meeting of representatives of taxpayers' organizations.

CHANGES PROPOSED

Among the important subjects to be brought up at the tax league meetings will be the need for a constitutional convention for the purpose of modernizing Pennsylvania's 60-year-old constitution.

In addition to the constitutional convention it is expected that the convention will strongly advocate consolidation of many of the more than 5,600 local governmental units for the purpose of eliminating waste and duplication.

Among other proposals which will be discussed at the tax league meetings will be consolidation of school districts; a central assessing body for each county; creation of a state tax commission, similar to the one now operating in Indiana; abolition of all fee offices and the substitution of salaried officials and a more equitable distribution of the tax burden by deriving revenue from all persons having incomes and the ability to pay.

B. J. H. Douglass, of Harrisburg, is in charge of the convention arrangements and Attorney Louis C. Walkinshaw, of Greensburgh, is in charge of the program and speakers.

SALES TAX PLEA BY CLUBWOMEN

The Thursday Afternoon Club of Wilkinsburg today joined the growing list of organizations in Western Pennsylvania seeking enactment of a manufacturers' sales tax to replace the income tax.

According to Mrs. C. W. W. Elkin, president, the club also went on record as favoring the consolidation and simplification of local government agencies, county, municipal, township and other local units, to effect a reduction in the tax burden and increase efficiency in government.

The resolution adopted by the club reaffirmed its unqualified support to the President, the Congress and the State Legislature in furthering constructive measures designed to establish a basis for permanent recovery and economic stability.

Urging the enactment of sales tax legislation as a substitution for inocme tax the club contended that the income tax discourages industrial and commercial enterprise, lessens employment of labor and reduces payroll and purchasing power.

It was pointed out that the sales tax will produce a larger national revenue with a minimum of disturbance to the economic structure of the nation, without interference with individual welfare and convenience.

ROOSEVELT FOR UNIFIED AIR PROGRAM

whole setup of the Marine Corps had always been and was continuing to be an integral part of the Navy.

Meanwhile, Maj. Benjamin Foulois, chief of the Air Corps, started a survey of the Army air mail routes with a view to determining when the Army could safely resume flying the mail, and the Senate postoffice committee continued its hearings on the permanent air mail bill designed to turn the air mail back to private aviation.

The committee decided to ask Lindbergh, Chamberlin, Mitchell and Eddie Rickenbacker to give their views on the bill.

ARMY PLANES GROUNDED

Until it can be "absolutely certain" of its men's safety, the Army is keeping its air mail planes grounded. Brig. Gen. Oscar Westover said no release orders have gone out to the fliers.

Maj. Gen. Benjamin D. Foulois, chief of the Air Corps, accompanied by Maj. Carl Spatz, chief of air mail operations, flew to Newark, N. J., today to confer with Maj. B. Q. Jones, eastern zone commander, and inspect eastern air mail routes.

Foulois said he probably would fly then to Chicago for an inspection of the central zone routes. He gave no indication of when he would order resumption of Army mail flying.

A charge in the Senate by Senator Robinson (Rep.), of Indiana, that the President was responsible for the death of the 10 Army fliers who fell since the service began carrying the air mail was challenged vigorously yesterday by his Democratic namesake, Robinson, of Arkansas, who said:

"It is not just—and you won't get away with it—to denounce the President of the United States as a murderer."

The Indiana Robinson began the Senate set-to—as he has a couple of times before—by asserting that scrapping the contracts held by private companies was a "tragic blunder" and that the White House was attempting to shift the blame to the Army.

Gen. Mitchell Scores Army Air 'Starvation'

WASHINGTON, March 14.—(AP.)—Brig. Gen. William Mitchell, retired, says the time has come when the air mail situation should be presented in its "true light and dispel the distorted impression which has been created by the persistent and carefully planned malicious propaganda of the air mail contractors and their affiliates."

In a letter to Chairman Black, of the Senate air mail investigating committee, the former chief of the Army Air Corps said:

"For years we were assured by the Republicans and by the civilian air contractors that we had the best air equipment in the world, and it is only through the wise move of the President that we discovered the appalling state of the most important arm of our national defense.

"It is only through continuing the present mail operations that the true facts can be found out and remedies applied. Our whole air craft set-up must be reorganized, and particularly our present air craft industry which is controlled and held down by holding companies which have little or no knowledge of aviation . . .

"While it is very distressing that the lives of our brave pilots have been lost, think of what would have occurred to the lives of millions of our innocent population who would be mercilessly annihilated in the next conflict if these facts had not been uncovered. Our national defense, possibly our existence, are really at stake."

WHEN YOU WAKE UP DRINK GLASS OF HOT WATER

Says inside-bathing makes anyone look and feel clean, sweet and refreshed.

Wash yourself on the inside before breakfast like you do on the outside. This is vastly more important because the skin pores do not absorb impurities into the blood, causing illness, while the bowel pores do.

For every ounce of food and drink taken into the stomach, nearly an ounce of waste material must be carried out of the body. If this waste material is not eliminated day by day it quickly ferments and generates poisons, gases and toxins which are absorbed or sucked into the blood stream, through the lymph ducts which should suck only nourishment to sustain the body.

A splendid health measure is to drink, before breakfast each day, a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it, which is a harmless way to wash these poisons, gases and toxins from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels; thus cleansing, sweetening and freshening the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach.

A quarter pound of limestone phosphate costs but very little at the drug store but is sufficient to make anyone an enthusiast on inside-bathing. Men and women who are accustomed to wake up with a dull, aching head or have furred tongue, bad taste, nasty breath, sallow complexion, others who have bilious attacks, acid stomach or constipation are assured of pronounced improvement in both health and appearance shortly.

ARMY FLIERS DEPART, CITY OFF AIR MAIL MAP

All Pittsburgh air mail connections were severed today as the Army mail fliers left the City-County Airport in trucks for a new base at Tylertown, on the Newark-Cleveland route.

Weather conditions would not permit the pilots to fly the three ships stationed here, so the detachment of eight officers and seven men trekked across the mountains by motor.

Pittsburgh was cut off the air mail routes by cancellation of schedules between Washington and Cleveland and Newark and Columbus.

Capt. Al Williams, noted flier, in an address over radio station WCAE last night said President Roosevelt was misinformed when he was told the Army was ready to carry the air mail.

Transcontinental and Western Air, Inc., which operates east and west through Pittsburgh, meanwhile appealed in New York for a review of the Postoffice Department's cancellation of its air mail contract.

CENTRAL CONTROL URGED

Capt. Williams urged centralization of all air programs and operations under one head in one department as a solution of the air dilemma in the United States. He said:

"It's a lucky thing for us this is a peace time emergency. It's a lucky thing that no enemy is pounding some of our major cities from the air. And you can mark my words for it, that we can expect mistakes like this. And this is a real indication of what we can expect in the way of confusion — confusion which has cost the lives of 10 Army pilots—if we ever come face to face with a real emergency."

Capt. Williams said the President "got the wrong answer" when he asked for advice concerning Army aviation, and added:

"The President was informed that the Army Air Corps was ready to carry the mail and a statement was given to the press, I remember it word for word, made by a man who knew nothing about aviation, who had no intention of flying in any of these Army Air Corps ships, and who very probably has never been off the ground. This statement was issued by the chief of staff of the United States Army: 'We are ready for our new duty.'"

Announcing the Transcontinental and Western Air appeal from a Federal Court decision that the New York District Court had no jurisdiction in the company suit to restrain cancellation of the TWA mail contract, Richard W. Robbins, president of the air line, denounced the pending McKellar-Black air mail bill.

INJUSTICE CHARGED

Robbins said:

"One clause alone condemns the entire measure and brands it with the badge of injustice. This amazing provision declares that no company shall be eligible to bid for or hold an air mail contract if it or its predecessor is asserting or has any claims against the United States because of a prior annulment of any contract by the Postmaster General.'

"Since when has it become a qualification of a bidder for a government contract that he forego his right to enter a court of justice? Since when has it become the policy of a civilized government to penalize its citizens because they dare to assert what they honestly believe to be their rights? Since when has it become an element of dishonor to submit to a court the differences which emerge from commercial relations?

"Apparently it is the policy of the government of the United States to prevent contracts from being submitted to courts for interpretation — a policy which suspiciously suggests a lack of confidence in its ability successfully to defend its position."

Robbins said the measure had demolished any expectation of a clarification of the air mail situation with due regard for the rights of all parties.

Man Here Divorces Wife in West Va.

Judge William H. McNaugher today granted a divorce to Ralph B. Hilles, of 315 Abner street, from his wife, Maud S. Hilles, of Spruce street, Morgantown, W. Va. The action was not contested.

Hilles testified that his wife had refused to come to Pittsburgh to live with him, as she had agreed before their marriage January 17, 1931.

Woman Educator Honored by P. T. A.

Miss Charl Ormond Williams, field secretary of the National Education Association, was guest of honor and speaker yesterday at a tea in the Woman's City Club, under the auspices of the Pittsburgh Teachers' Association. Her topic was "Interpretating the Schools—Reported Progress on the Legislation Commission of the N. E. A." Miss Williams was to address the Business and Professional Women's Club today in the Twentieth Century Club.

VAST IMPORTS OF DOPE INTO U. S. TOLD

Although one ton of opium is sufficient to supply the medicinal and scientific needs of both North and South America for one year, it is estimated that about two hundred tons of opium are smuggled into this country annually, Raymond D. Evans, former United States attorney, told members of the Pittsburgh Section, American Institute of Electrical Engineers, and Electrical Section of the Engineers' Society of Western Pennsylvania in the Chamber of Commerce last night. Speaking of "Narcotics and Their Relation to Crime," he said:

"There are about 450,000 dope addicts in the United States. It costs us between $1,000,000,000 and $2,000,000,000 a year to sustain them, yet we treat the subject in a minor manner. The United States has less than 270 agents charged with the duty of ferreting out the sellers of the illicit traffic."

EVILS HIDDEN

The public has been taught very little about the evils of opium, morphine, cocaine, heroin and their derivatives and the inroads these drugs are making into the moral and physical fiber of our people, Mr. Evans continued. He said:

"Ninety-nine per cent of the drugs found by United States operatives has been smuggled into our country. Only 1 per cent can be traced back to legitimate sources."

The narcotic evil lies at the very heart of crime, according to Mr. Evans. He said:

"The drugs are so precious that the profits are large; and so easy to conceal that the chances of apprehension are small. Rothstein, Frankie Yale, Bitz, the gangster whom Col. Lindbergh sought to find his child, were all in the dope racket.

"Not so long ago, a survey commission in New York examined the histories of two hundred cases of traffickers arrested in a period of two months and found that over 50 per cent of them had already been convicted of misdemeanors and only 20 per cent had not already had prior police records.

JUICE OF POPPY

"Opium is derived from the juices of a species of poppy which grows profusely in China, India, Persia, Turkey and Czecho Slovakia. However, most of the opium and its derivatives smuggled into this country are from Turkey, Persia and Czecho Slovakia, manufactured in Europe and brought over the Atlantic.

"There are 45 factories in the world permitted to manufacture drugs. Practically all of the drugs smuggled into this country are manufactured in England, France, Germany, Holland and Switzerland. France and Switzerland are the main offenders."

CONSUMER HELD FORGOTTEN

Chances of the "forgotten consumer" being remembered are pretty slim, in the opinion of J. B. Matthews, vice president of Consumers' Research, of New York.

Matthews, who spoke at a meeting sponsored by the League for Social Justice at the downtown Y. M. C. A. last night, said:

"Every 'new deal' measure is aimed at rising prices, and there are so many well organized groups demanding consideration at Washington that the unorganized consumers must go on forgotten."

In fact, Matthews doesn't see much relief in sight for the consumer until the profit motive has been taken out of business. He credits capitalism with perfection in production but terms it a "miserable failure" as far as distribution is concerned.

Some relief for the purchaser would be forthcoming, in his opinion, from adoption of the Black 30-hour-a-week bill and provisions in NRA codes to automatically raise salaries in line with price increases.

FOES OF LEAGUE ANSWER CALL OF PETITION

From every section of the tri-state territory — Pennsylvania, Ohio and West Virginia—today came hundreds of responses to the appeal of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph and associated Hearst newspapers for 1,000,000 signatures to a monster petition protesting against this country's entrance into the League of Nations and its World Court.

In the first flood of names was one group of 34, sent in by Francis B. Uncapher, of Latrobe. It was accompanied by a brief note in which he said:

William Bryan Patterson, of Wilkinsburg, wrote:

"I appreciate your noble effort. I am unalterably opposed to any form whatsoever of entangling alliances for America."

Col. William R. Dunlap, Director of Supplies of the city of Pittsburgh, who was commander of the 109th Infantry of the 28th Division during the World War, will appeal to loyal Americans in a radio address from station WCAE at 5:20 p. m. today to sign the petition to keep this country out of foreign wars. Col. Dunlap is present commander of the 176th Field Artillery and is senior regimental commander of the Pennsylvania National Guard.

In a recent statement, Col. Dunlap said:

"I am utterly opposed to both the League of Nations and the World Court because of the attitude of the larger foreign nations toward disarmament. No court can function efficiently unless it has available a visible force to make it mandatory that its edicts are carried out. If that condition obtained, there would be no excuse for these larger foreign governments maintaining a standing army and navy comparable to what they have at the present time."

A copy of the petition is published in adjoining columns. Blank petitions are available at the office of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, Telegraph Square, the downtown branch office at Fifth avenue and Market street or they may be obtained by writing or telephoning the League Court Editor, Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

Get blank petitions at once. Sign them. Ask your friends, neighbors and associates to sign them and see that they are forwarded at once to the League Court Editor.

'NO ENTANGLING ALLIANCES'

"Why quit our own to stand upon foreign ground? Why, by interweaving our destiny with that of any part of Europe, entangle our peace and prosperity in the toils of European ambition, rivalship, interest, humor or caprice?" — Washington's Farewell Address.

Since the first President laid down the cares of office, his farewell advice has been the firm cornerstone of America's foreign policy.

Shall we now depart from Washington's patriotic ideals and principles to seek the dangers of internationalism?

If YOU want to save America from European entanglements, and keep your country out of foreign wars and foreign wars out of your country, SIGN THIS PETITION.

PETITION AGAINST PARTICIPATION In the LEAGUE of NATIONS and World Court

TO THE MEMBERS OF THE UNITED STATES SENATE AND HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES:

We protest AGAINST the United States participating in the League of Nations or in the World Court of the League of Nations, with or without "reservations."

We petition our Federal Government to keep our United States "free from foreign entanglements," as the Father of Our Country wisely enjoined.

We urge our Congress at Washington to keep our government from meddling in foreign affairs, and to keep foreign nations from meddling in our American affairs.

As loyal American citizens, we ask our loyal representatives to keep our country out of foreign conflicts and complications and to keep foreign conflicts and complications out of our country.

WAR VET CHIEF SIGNS PETITION

MILWAUKEE, Wis., March 14.—James E. Van Zandt, national commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, banqueting here, declared himself in whole-hearted support of the Hearst petition protesting against involving this nation in foreign entanglements.

He signed the petition himself and said:

"The United States should not depart from the principles that have kept it out of the snares of foreign diplomacy and foreign military enterprises.

"Veterans generally learned their lesson from the last foreign war in which we were involved and while I do not speak for the Veterans of Foreign Wars, I believe I voice the opinion of the average veteran.

"Foreign nations still owe us debts from the World War that would more than pay the bonus to which veterans are entitled."

SHEBA FLIERS ESCAPE DEATH

PARIS, March 14.—(AP.)—Archeologists today eagerly awaited the return of two French explorers who reported finding the centuries-lost capital of the Queen of Sheba and are now flying to Paris after a narrow escape at the hands of savage tribesmen in Arabia.

The possibility was seen that an expedition might be organized to make excavations at the scene of the discovery. But it was admitted that this would be extremely difficult because of the hostile attitude of the natives.

The explorers, Capt. Corniglion Moliner and Andre Malraux, French author and archeologist, refueled yesterday at Cairo and are continuing their trip to Paris by way of Bengazi, Cirenaica and Tripoli.

TALK ON LEAGUE BY BLACKSTONE

Col. Franklin Blackstone, veteran of the Spanish-American and World Wars and past president of the Pittsburgh Chapter, Sons of the American Revolution, will urge loyal citizens to unite in the movement now under way in the United States to keep this country free from foreign entanglements, in a radio address from station WCAE at 4:55 p. m. tomorrow afternoon.

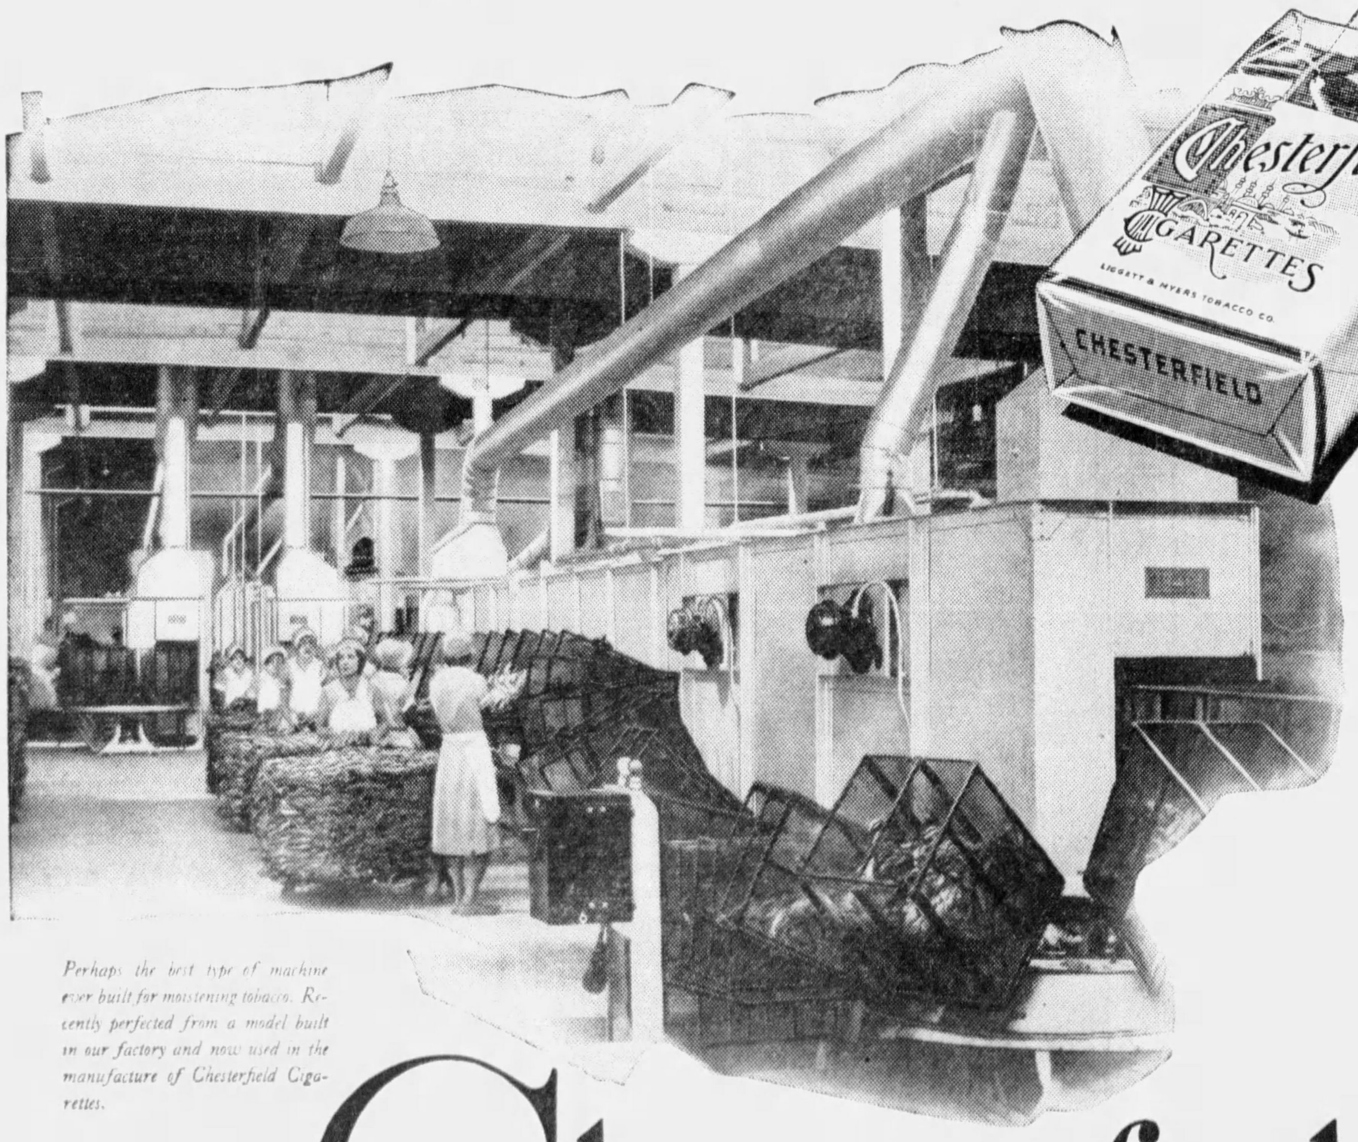
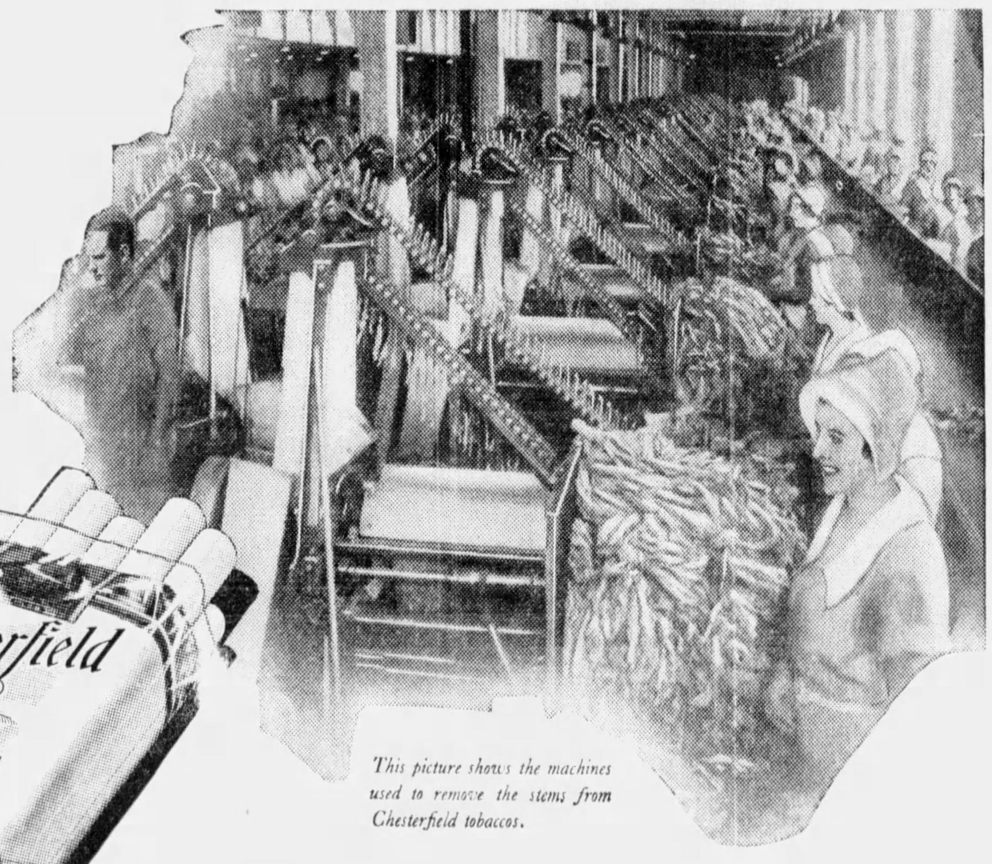
It means something—



Perhaps the best type of machine ever built for moistening tobacco. Recently perfected from a model built in our factory and now used in the manufacture of Chesterfield Cigarettes.



This picture shows the machines used to remove the stems from Chesterfield tobaccos.

THIS most modern way of moistening tobacco for stemming—first used in the manufacture of Chesterfields—opens up the pores and puts the tobacco in condition to remove the stems.

The tobacco is put into the wire baskets stems down and enters the long steel ovens where the steam comes up from below, softening the stems without wetting the rest of the leaf.

Everything that modern science knows about, or money can buy, that can make a milder cigarette, a cigarette that tastes better, is used in making Chesterfield.

GUARD STAVISKY CASE JUDGES

PARIS, March 14.—(AP.)—Armed guards were protecting judges investigating the Stavisky case today.

Two squads of Republican Guards were posted in front of the offices of four magistrates. The precaution was taken as the strain of the long inquiry is beginning to show on witnesses and lawyers in frequent nervous outbursts.

A young lawyer two days ago rushed into the office of Judge Ordonneau, head of the judicial inquiry into the affair, shouting:

"I want to know the truth!"

MUSSOLINI, DOLLFUSS CONFER ON CENTRAL EUROPE'S FATE

ROME, March 14.—(AP.)—Two little men with big ideas—the square-jawed Benito Mussolini, master of Italy, and the dapper "Napoleon of Austria," Engelbert Dollfuss—sat down at a polished desk in the Venezia palace today for the first of a series of conferences that may write history.

A third government leader, Premier Julius Goemboes, of Hungary, was not at the council table as the meeting planned to last through Thursday began.

PLANS CHANGED

Previously, it had been understood the three would seek in three-cornered parleys a solution of Austria's and Hungary's economic and political ills. At the last minute today, it became known Il Duce would receive the visitors separately.

Regardless of the manner of their meeting, the three hope before Thursday night to reach an agreement which, while proving mutually advantageous immediately, eventually may serve the ends of peace and better times in Europe as a whole.

Beginning with the long conversation with Dollfuss today, Il Duce is believed to be moulding discussions pretty generally around his Danubian plan, promulgated last autumn. It outlines a course whereby Mussolini hopes the difficult economic situation of countries in the Danubian basin may be remedied.

GERMAN PROBLEM

But, forming an undercurrent of general speculation today, is the general belief that Mussolini hopes as a prime but little-commented upon consideration to prevent an Austro-German union through the agreement expected to be reached.

In semi-official circles, it has been said that if Austria and Hungary can be put on a firm foundation economically any possible threat of German domination over Central Europe will thus be effectively removed.

Fascist Coup Hinted In Dollfuss' Absence

VIENNA, March 14.—(AP.)—Austria Fascist Heimwehr leaders met in an extraordinary conclave today, called within 24 hours after Chancellor Engelbert Dollfuss departed for a two-day series of conferences at Rome.

The conclave was announced suddenly and lent the flavor of authenticity to some of the many rumors of a possible Heimwehr (home guard) coup in the Little Chancellor's absence.

Stubborn Styria—which alone of all Austria's nine provinces has not yet completely capitulated to the wave of "Fascist renewal" started in the Tyrol shortly before the civil war—was at the forefront of opening discussions today.

Austrian-German Border Shut in Feud

VIENNA, March 14.—(INS.)—The Austro-Bavarian border between Neuhaus and Passau was closed today on order of the Austrian government following a reported clash between the Heimwehr frontier guard and Austrian legionnaires.

Only the largest international express trains were permitted to cross the frontier.

DEMAND RELIEF CASH FOR RENT

The Pittsburgh Real Estate Board at a meeting in the Keystone Athletic Club authorized immediate pressure on the Pennsylvania Emergency Relief Board for payment of rent or taxes on properties occupied by welfare tenants.

J. Roland Brady, secretary of the board, said the action was taken on a suggestion by the Pittsburgh Housing Association that efforts be made by the board to obtain public funds to pay taxes, insurance and repairs and upkeep of property occupied by relief families. Brady said:

"Property owners do not want to evict anyone. If they can be assured funds to pay taxes, insurance and repairs with a possibility of nominal rent, it would be a happy solution."

GLOBE TROTTING

Hello, ladies and gentlemen:

Can't you picture 7-year-old Billy Craig all excited because his favorite radio star was going to appear in a Pittsburgh theater and mother said he might go see him.

Every day seemed a year to Billy waiting for his favorite to arrive.

He had already told all his schoolmates about the wonderful treat in store for him and had received their admiring applause.

At last the day of days—Joe Penner was here. But that morning the doctor also came and told Billy that he must stay in bed and told mother that Billy had the measles.

Billy was inconsolable and his mother sad over the boy's disappointment.

Unable to watch Billy's grief she called Joe Penner at the hotel and was connected with Mrs. Penner, to whom she poured out her troubles. Mrs. Penner promised Mrs. Craig that Joe would call the next day.

True to the promise the next day the telephone rang. It was Joe Penner asking for Billy. The phone was brought to the bedside. Little Billy through his tears managed to blurt out:

"I got the measles, Joe."

"OH-H! I didn't KNO-OW that."

Bath Night Experiment On Radio

By AIRCASTER

Because of uncertainty, programs that cost money have avoided the late Saturday hours on the theory that Saturday is a night out for many who stay home during the week.

A new theory that Saturday is an evening of parties when radio is depended upon for music, has materialized. To this, a cereal company has arranged with CBS-WJAS to stage a show from 10:45 to 11:45, March 24.

It will be an extravagant bill, with seven famous performers and Abe Lyman's orchestra.

Appeals for guidance will be made to the listeners, and, upon the weight of these remains a decision whether the show will continue thereafter and become a series.

MEAL TICKET

Serious-minded researchers have had their curiosity piqued by Joe Penner's repeated proposition regarding a duck. It would be interesting, they imagine, to discover the origin of the phrase.

Penner has told many questioners that the line was spontaneous, that a duck was selected as the creature most suited to a ridiculous quip, etc., etc.

The other night Joe experienced a sudden flash of recollection and revealed the true origin of the duck business.

It seems Penner was once stranded with a lot carnival in Illinois and that he and his "straight man," who spoke genuine George Givot Greek, had not the wherewithal to eat, and Joe was lucky enough to come upon a flock of ducks which had strayed from a concessionaire's booth.

1,000 DUCKS

He forthwith followed the concessionaire about, asking, "Wanna buy a duck?" and finally disposed of the bird, and with the 75 cents thus gained fed himself and the straight man.

The line lingered in his memory.

Incidentally, Joe has received from fans a thousand ducks since going on the air, and 200 of them have been alive.

He rids himself of them by sending them to a duck farm in New Jersey.

Local Highlights On WJAS Tonight

Dick Gaertner's band returns to the air tonight after a month's absence with a quarter-hour program at 6:15.

Two favorites—the songs of Paul Gannon at 6:45 and Barnyard Frolics at 8.

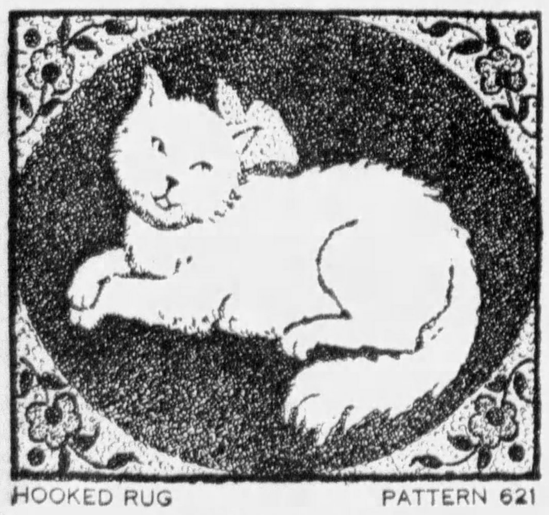
LAURA WHEELER DESIGNS



HOOKED RUG PATTERN 621

Make a Quaint Hooked Rug

A cat is many people's favorite household pet. It suggests coziness and contentment. Here is someone's pet tabby, reproduced on a hooked rug, a lovely companion to the pert Scottie rug. Pattern 584. This cat is done very simply, being to the greatest part in one share of a light-colored material, with just touches of a darker shade here and there, to show up pussy to best advantage. The background could be all in one color, or mottled in many colors. The rug is effective made in soft-colored scraps of material, or in rug yarn. An oval, oblong or square rug can be made of this pattern as the cat and the floral corners are given separately, permitting any desired arrangement.

Pattern 621 contains a transfer pattern of the design, consisting of a cat 22 inches long and four corners, and complete directions for making a hooked rug.

Send 10 cents for this pattern to the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph Needlecraft Department, 82 Eighth avenue, New York City.

Be Kind, Tolerant to Your Unfortunate Friends

THE MAN DOWN and OUT. DON'T TURN YOUR BACK TO HIM.

Boost him. Flatter him. Cajole him. Scold him, if need be. But don't leave him high and dry.

Wait at least until prosperity comes his way again. Then if you feel that call of the wild in you, put on your hat, and go.

Any woman who has stuck close to an unemployed man since 1929, or thereabouts, can't afford to beat a retreat now.

It wouldn't be sensible, let alone ethical.

There often is a devilish sprite in us women, that doesn't come near to us until we have put work without end into something or other. Then it comes knocking and whispering, and telling us to be on the wing. And sometimes it gets us.

"I all but had that," we hear a regretful woman say. And we know that sprite won.

Maybe your friend has nothing else but hard luck stories. It may be enough to weaken the strongest of us. But remember, he once was on the up and up. And a man who knows how to win, seldom forgets.

Dear Miss Brunot:

I am on the edge of despair. I have a boy friend who has been coming to see me for a number of years, and I really have a deep affection for him. He and I intend to marry as soon as we can. I have a good job, but he has been out of work now for several years.

IS DISAGREEABLE

Poor fellow, he has tried so hard to get something to do. He is a mechanic, and a specialist. But he will do anything. Big men whom he knows have all but gotten him placed. But there is always something or other that interferes.

I have offered him money, but he always gets angry and says he hasn't sunk that low yet. Lately he has begun to talk ugly to me and say I had better let him go, for any man is better than he is. This hurts me, for all my friends tell me the same thing. And I don't want to do wrong to anyone, much less to the man I love. Yet if he keeps on being ugly and mean, I can't say what I might do. I think he owes me kindness. Don't you?

ONE WHO HAS STUCK.

Well, "One Who Has Stuck," I say keep on sticking. No wonder this boy friend has been seized with an inferior complex. It is no laughing matter to go places and see other men with money in their pockets, and have none of your own. It isn't funny to know that your best girl is working and drawing a salary for her efforts, and that you, an energetic fellow, can't be placed. Going from office to office, interviewing friends who create in you a ray of hope, and then to be disappointed. This is a phase of tragedy that has been deeply rooted into our nation since 1929.

WILL SUCCEED AGAIN

It is one which will leave scars that will never heal.

Some way or other, sister, I do admire this friend of yours. I never have seen him, and yet I can visualize him as plainly as if he were here before me. He does love you. He doesn't want to give you up. But he wonders if he oughtn't to do so. He has gotten himself into the frame of mind that he would sacrifice anything, even you. He has taught himself to do so much stinting that he has decided one more phase of it won't hurt.

But don't let him lose you. You will regret it. And so will he. Take his ugly suggestions as if you didn't hear them. Be kind and tolerant, and boost. And I wouldn't be at all surprised that both you and he will live to see the day when you look back upon the nightmare of now as the very root of a perfect understanding.

He will succeed again, providing he is prodded into keeping his poise. He will be on the up and up again, providing he doesn't actually lose his morale. A man who has made money once can do so again. There is always somewhere he is needed, even if that "somewhere" is hard to find. Everywhere is Pittsburgh becoming prosperous again. Good news comes in from all sides. It is bound to come for your boy friend, too.

Good Leadership a Power for Better Things, Says Fay King

SHE SHOWED ME HOW TO MAKE THESE LAMP-SHADES
I'VE ASKED MY CHILDREN TO PLAY MORE QUIETLY WHILE YOUR HUSBAND IS ILL
THAT WAS VERY THOUGHTFUL AND KIND OF YOU AND WE APPRECIATE IT VERY MUCH!
THERE! THAT LOOKS NICE, AND FRESH AND CLEAN!
GOOD LEADERSHIP IN SMALL MATTERS HELPS THE WORLD A LOT TOO!
FAY KING

By FAY KING

When we think of leadership we must not only think of those in high places who may influence countless many.

We must also think of the good leadership in smaller spheres. A good leader always inspires others to follow in the right direction. No sooner does one do a thing well, than others feel inclined to do likewise.

It may be only your shining windows with fresh, crisp inexpensive curtains that inspires another to have the same.

It may be a thoughtful and considerate action that inspires another to be as thoughtful and considerate.

Let one worker tackle his job cheerfully and others will be inspired to accomplish their tasks with the same good spirit and energy.

We all have a capacity for good leadership. Develop it!

Lee Chow Intimates That Harm Might Come to Madge

As Lee Chow finished his deliberate little pronouncement—for he had uttered each word slowly and with meaning emphasis—I felt as if the autumn breeze outside had suddenly changed to a driving storm of sleet, chilling me down to the very marrow of my bones.

"There is nothing in the world you can show me which will make me alter my decision," I said with frigid finality.

He waited for another half minute, while I had the feeling that I was being slowly impaled upon two sharp stakes, so piercing was the gaze of those unwinking eyes.

"You are a very rash woman, Mrs. Graham," he said at last. "It is never wise to refuse any information that is offered you. How do you know—how can you know—that the safety of your husband, his very life, may not depend upon your listening to me? Or, perhaps, the safety of your children?"

He had pierced my defenses at last. I must know what he meant by that last covert threat. Yet he had put the query in so general a fashion that I really had no grounds for claiming that he had threatened me in any way. But my manner was not nearly so truculent as I put a question which seemed to tear my throat as I uttered it.

VOICE HYPNOTIC

"Do you mean," I asked, "that the safety of my husband and my children lie in your hands and that if I refuse to listen to you, any protection which you may have given them will be withdrawn?"

With his eyes still fixed upon me in that unwinking stare, he slowly raised his hands as if in astonished protest.

"My dear lady!" he said. "Have I said anything like that, or even intimated it? I have told you that I had information of importance to give you. You refused absolutely to listen to me. I then told you that you were a very rash woman, and that it is never wise to refuse proffered information. That last aphorism is a very old one, by the way.

"Then," he went on, "I put a purely academic question to you, asking how you knew that such and such things might not depend upon your decision. There was no personal application, I assure you."

His voice was hypnotic, his unwinking stare more so. Imperceptibly I began to wonder how it was that I had been so truculent concerning this information he wished to give me.

READY TO LISTEN

After all, he had proved his friendship for Dicky and me in many ways. I remembered the time he had trailed Grace Draper to the room where she had lived in disguise and concocted so fiendish a plot against me that, even yet, I awaken from nightmares of it. He had solved that mystery, proved my innocence of the plot against Dicky's life, where the fiendish ingenuity of Grace Draper had made me appear guilty, and had pressed the half-crazed woman to desperation, suicide — and perpetual release for me and mine from her menace.

He probably meant me well. I told myself, with a feeling of dreamy exhaustion. It could do no harm to listen to him for a few minutes. I could always stop the conversation when I wished.

"I am sorry," I said docilely. "I did not mean to accuse you of anything so vile."

He bent toward me slightly, and I felt queerly as if his eyes were growing larger.

"Do not think of it again," he said. "Only one thing matters. Are you ready to listen to me?"

His eyes seemed to come floating toward me, then to recede. But I had a feeling that I could not get away from them, and also the curious conviction that I must answer in the affirmative the question he had just put to me.

"Yes, yes," I breathed. "I will listen." And then my father's voice, calm and casual, sounded from the hall.

"Margaret may I disturb you for a minute? I need your help."

How to Keep Well

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

First Aid Is Important in Burns

The World War taught us many lessons. During that distressing period a great deal of medical knowledge and scientific information was gathered. For example, the successful treatment of severe burns was developed during our recent war experiences.

Dr. Copeland

It is probable that at some time or other you have burned yourself with a match, hot ember, hot fluid or other hot substance. You will agree with me when I say a burn is a painful and annoying affliction. You are indeed fortunate if you have never experienced a severe and extensive burn.

Such an experience is a terrifying and alarming one. In former years little relief could be offered to a victim of a severe burn other than to allay his pain with a strong opiate. Fortunately, medical science has perfected a form of treatment for this injury. Permanent disability and even death can now be prevented by the giving of immediate and proper medical care.

Unlike small burns or scalds, a severe burn requires the immediate attention of a physician. The first thing to do is to call him. While waiting for him to arrive, make sure that the victim is kept absolutely quiet. Keep him well covered with blankets or warm clothing.

A good plan is to apply hot water bags and to give such stimulants as hot strong black coffee, half a teaspoon of aromatic spirits of ammonia in a little water, or one large drink of liquor. These procedures will lessen or prevent shock caused by the injury.

Whenever possible, it is always advisable to remove the victim to a general hospital where modern methods of treatment are available. This may consist of the prolonged and continued application of a tannic acid solution. As a rule, a 5 per cent solution of tannic acid is used in continuous flow over the burned and charred skin.

In some institutions, special baths are available for the treatment of burned victims. The patient is kept immersed in a tub filled with tannic acid solution. The solution is kept at a certain temperature and changed at periodic intervals.

The tannic acid application removes all debris, contaminated and infected skin and produces a chemical reaction with the tissues of the burned area. This reaction promotes healing and lessens the absorption of poisonous substances. In addition, this treatment prevents unsightly and disabling scars.

We are indeed indebted to those scientists who have made possible this humane treatment. Thousands have been spared deformed and maimed bodies by immediate application of this successful treatment for severe burns.

Answers to Health Queries

B. T. E. Q.—What should a girl of 13, 5 feet 2½ inches tall weigh?

A.—She should weigh about 90 pounds. This is about the average weight for one of this age and height, as determined by examination of a large number of persons. A few pounds above or below the average is a matter of little or no significance.

Hints for the Household

Men's soft collars should be ironed first on the right side, then on the wrong. To avoid wrinkles on the corners, begin on the outside edge and work towards the band.

Scratches on furniture can be removed by the application of equal parts of salad oil and vinegar. Rub well into the wood with a soft cloth until the scratches disappear.

To wash georgette, place the garment in a warm soapy lather and squeeze gently. When clean rinse in several warm waters, then roll in a rough towel.

Contract Bridge

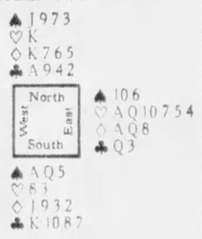
:- HOW TO PLAY and HOW TO WIN

By JOSEPHINE CULBERTSON

Stopping One Trick Under Game

Hand No. 2 of the World Bridge Olympic is a lesson in showing proper bidding conservatism, even at rubber or total point play. The correct series of calls on this hand is of the type which is often laughed at by players who do not know the underlying theories of sound and accurate bidding.

East, Dealer.
North-South vulnerable.



The bidding:

East	South	West	North
1 ♡	Pass	2 ♡ (1)	Pass
3 ♡ (2)	Pass	Pass (3)	Pass

1—A pass, although not the best policy, could not be severely criticized. However, the hand does contain sufficient playing and honor strength to justify giving partner one chance in case his hand is just under a two-bid.

2—East has considerably more than a minimum Opening bid. However, he is not strong enough to arbitrarily jump to four in case his partner should have a shaded Raise. East, of course, must rebid, and his correct bid is unquestionably three hearts.

3—West naturally passes, having had just a minimum or shaded Raise in the first place. He knows that his partner's three-heart bid asks him to bid four on slight additional values or if his original Raise was very clear-cut and in no way shaded—but obviously neither of these conditions fits the case.

In the play of the hand, due to the fact that no less than three finesses work, the Declarer is able to make four-odd. The odds against this are, however, at least seven to one, and a game bid is distinctly bad, even though it turns out that four-odd can be made.

TOMORROW'S HAND

If West is playing the contract of four hearts, in what manner should he play the trump suit to assure the fulfillment of his contract on the hand below?

South, Dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.

The hand will be discussed in tomorrow's article.

Correct Manners

By MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

Note to the Landlord

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Please let me know the correct form of writing to our landlord as we would like to renew our lease which expires in a few months.

I understand we are supposed to notify the landlord three months in advance if we are going to move, or if we wish to sign a new lease. I have not seen the landlord since last summer, as we pay our rent to the superintendent.

I would like to write to the landlord and ask him to come to our apartment as there are a few things which need to be fixed. Please tell me the correct way to do so. M.

You may of course, simply ask your superintendent to have the landlord come to see you about the signing of your new lease, or you may telephone to the office of your landlord and make an appointment with him to come. Or you may write a note worded something like this:

Dear Mr. Leaseman:

I would like very much to see you about the signing of a new lease on my apartment and about some repairs that need consideration. Will you please let me know if you can come to see me on Tuesday, the tenth of March, at 11 o'clock? If this hour is not convenient for you, will you let me know of some other hour that is? Thank you if you will.

Yours very truly

And sign your name just as you did in your letter to me. It was exactly right.

Service—Left and Right

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I am having a dinner party. Please tell me on what side the maid should serve . . . left or right? B.

The general custom is for the maid to pass the serving-dishes on the left of the guest and to remove the plates from the right. This, I think, you will find the most convenient way of serving. The exception is, of course, beverages, which are served on the right.

HOW DULL, LIFELESS HAIR GAINS NEW LIFE AND LUSTRE

—without the use of dyes, bleaches, henna or oils

Now an utterly new and original make-up for the hair that restores youthful beauty

It is called Geral—and the improvement it makes in the appearance of the hair is almost unbelievable. Hair that was dull, soon gleams with beautiful highlights and lustre. Hair that appeared lifeless takes on a vigorous, healthy look. Hair that was "straw like" in texture becomes soft and fluffy. Do you wonder then that women by the thousands are daily flocking to this original make-up for the hair?

Utterly New and Different

Geral is utterly different from anything you have ever used on your hair. It is not a dye, bleach or henna—nor does it contain oil. Applied in a moment, it actually beautifies the hair as rouge, powder and lipstick beautify the face. Geral makes Blonde hair more blonde. Gives Red hair a redder glow. Enriches the color and sheen of Brown and Brunette hair. And causes White or Gray hair to lose that ugly yellowish cast. Geral imparts NOT an artificial look but the natural life, sheen and softness of youthful girlhood. Obtain Geral at all good toilet counters or drug stores.

M'KEES ROCKS COUNCIL JEERED IN STORMY MEET

POLITICS

Phillips Outlines Aims; To Stay in Race

By MARK SHIELDS

Former Congressman Thomas W. Phillips, of Butler, in a statement today indicated that there can be no question of his determination to remain in the campaign as a candidate for the Republican gubernatorial nomination.

Mr. Shields

Mr. Phillips in a prepared statement outlines his views as to necessities for improved conditions in the state, and concluded:

"I am convinced that the people of Pennsylvania are ready and anxious to engage in this undertaking, and I pledge that if elected Governor the initial leadership will not be lacking."

There has been some criticism of Mr. Phillips by a few of his friends for not becoming more active in the early stages of the campaign and not undertaking a personal canvas of the state which, while not given to speech-making would afford him the opportunity to make valuable contacts for the future and to emphasize that his candidacy is the real thing.

They want him to stand in a different category from some of the Republican gentlemen who are circulating petitions, talking sonorously about their willingness to serve if the people demand, and otherwise indicating that they lack the strength on their own appeal to get anywhere, but must have an impetus from professional politicians.

* * *

Should Name Strong Man to Governorship

Perhaps the statement by Mr. Phillips today, sent throughout the state, may serve the desired purpose. Some of his remarks, interpreting his conception of the duties of a Governor, follow:

"Present conditions demand that the Governor must now become the militant leader of the combined forces of capital and labor, and guide them in a forward movement to restore to the state prosperity in which all our people may share.

"He must co-ordinate the Legislature, the executive branches of the state government, and the civic organizations of the various counties into a mighty machine for the purpose of re-awakening and revitalizing all lines of commerce and industry—mill and mine, farm and factory, trade and transportation.

"These combined forces must be used to re-establsh and increase Pennsylvania's markets, to restore and broaden commercial credits, to discover and correct weaknesses of our industries, of our industrial system and of our laws pertaining thereto, which in any way impede progress.

"They must be marshalled to fight conditions abroad and overcome conditions at home, which give industries elsewhere an unfair advantage over our own. These combined forces must champion legislation designed to protect our working people from pauper wages and sweatshop conditions.

"If capital and labor in Pennsylvania are to be given a decent chance to rehabilitate themselves, it will be necessary to eliminate governmental extravagances, which in the hey-day of prosperity most of us were either willing to condone or too lazy-minded to attack in more than a perfunctory manner.

"Governmental costs must be reduced all along the line, but this work must be carried on with intelligence.

"It should be made possible for local governmental units to consolidate where, in the opinion of those affected, a saving in cost would result without impairing the utility of local self-governments.

"The wings of every governmental agency, which imposes unnecessary burdens and regulations upon mines, mills, factories or farm must be clipped.

"The rates of Pennsylvania public utilities must compare favorably with those of other states and to this end antiquated equipment must be modernized and excessive overhead eliminated.

"If our employers of labor are to successfully compete with those of other states, they must not be burdened with excessive or discriminatory power and transportation costs.

* * *

Aid Needed to Check Unfair Competition

"Much of the work can be accomplished through agencies within and of the state, but some of the most vital improvements will be possible only if or when the federal government is able and willing to co-operate through regulations and laws to prevent unfair competition from industries of other states.

"In mapping out the comprehensive campaign I have in mind, and in assisting in its fulfillment, the state government will be a powerful adjunct. In fact, it is peculiarly fitted to lead the way because it has been made an engine of real public service. But the most important phase would be in marshalling and welding together the various organizations of business and labor.

"With the interested parties agreed upon the common objective and with the machinery for the attainment of that objective ready at hand, an enlightened people such as Pennsylvania's should be capable, under the leadership of its Governor, to set out with confidence towards the much coveted goal.

HUNDREDSMORE ENTER TEST ON WORDS

Spelling Bee Attracts Wide Interest in This District

Throughout Allegheny County hundreds of persons entered their names today in the old-fashioned spelling bee, sponsored by the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, as hundreds of others anticipated the "spell-down" in their school districts.

Meanwhile plans were begun yesterday for the county finals, to be held in Schenley High School at 8 p. m. Tuesday. The final bee is expected to attract a huge crowd, including heads of the city and county schools and many school teachers.

WINNERS TO GET TRIPS

The winner of the Schenley High contest and an alternate will be sent to Harrisburg to take part in the state finals on Wednesday, April 4. The Sun-Telegraph will pay all the expenses of the trip.

Fifth prize, $10.

If the bee has not been held in your school district yet, you still have plenty of time to enter. Submit your name to your nearest school principal. Anyone not now in school or college as a student or teacher is eligible to take part.

Principals of the city high schools and 118 county school districts are conducting the "spell-downs" in their sections. They will select the words to be used and have charge of the contest. They will also select the time for holding the contest and the judges.

PRELIMINARIES TONIGHT

Preliminary bees are being held at Schenley and South Hills high schools tonight and also in some of the county districts. Forest Hills will feature its spelling bee tonight at the Atlantic Avenue School with an old time singing school and costumed participants.

Many of the outside districts have not been heard from. C. W. Peters, assistant superintendent of county schools, today urged the principals of these sections to send him or the Sun-Telegraph the time of their matches and the winner as soon as possible.

The bees are being held in every county in Pennsylvania by the Department of Public Instruction in Harrisburg as part of the public school centennial celebration. The department will award each county winner a prize and "some additional recognition" to the final winner.

MISS MARGARET WATTERS MISS JANE ROGERS

MISS GWEN HADDOCK MISS MARTHA MOSS MISS JANE MILLER MISS MILDREN KELLY MISS MIRIAM BUSCH

Carnegie Tech Margaret Morrison College girls' "$54 wardrobe"—seven dresses that cost only $54 for materials. The secret: the girls did the work, made them themselves. Miss Haddock is wearing a swagger coat of navy blue tweed, Miss Watters a silk print town dress, Miss Moss a linen town suit in blue and grey, Miss Miller a white crepe sport ensemble, Miss Rogers a sport suit of green printed cotton, Miss Kelly an afternoon dress of blue striped seersucker organdie, and Miss Busch an evening gown of red silk net. They're showing them publicly, Thursday, Friday, Saturday. This is a Sun-Telegraph picture.

Ingram Contestant 'Dazed' by Victory

Stenographer Wins Spelling Honors At School

After being "crowned" as the community's best speller she said:

"One of my friends had to urge me to go in the contest, and I was dazed when I won it."

Mrs. W. H. Wilson, of 87 Berry street, Ingram, was "runner-up." Twenty-eight persons took part in the "spell-down." The word "pneumatology" decided the contest.

Mrs. Felicitas McCauley, of 38 Fornof street, Millvale, a former school teacher, won the bee at the Etna High School. Miss Lois Pletscher, 19, of 125 Vista street, Etna, won second honors.

Westinghouse High School's contest was won by Ted Epstein, of 7407 Idlewild street, announcer at WCAE radio station and an attorney. Wesley Stevens, of 914 Gerritt street, was alternate. The deciding word was "blockade."

Harry Bennett, of 818 Grant avenue, Duquesne, won the bee at the Duquesne High School.

Bennett, a confectioner, was the best speller of 19 participants. It took 539 words to decide the contest.

WILL ROGERS SAYS

To the Editor, Sun-Telegraph:

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., March 14.

Sure, the Army said they could fly the mails! Be a fine Army that would say, "No sir, Mr. President, we can't fly 'em." If my movie company says, "We are producing Shakespeare, how about it?" I'll probably answer, "Yes, sir, I can't do it like the Barrymores, but I will give it an awful tussle." The Romeo part may ground-loop me, but I will take old Hamlet over the mountains on the darkest night. And tomorrow if the President calls in the Navy and says, "Can you relieve the farmer?" that admiral will say, "Yes sir, the ships will be ready at 12 o'clock to take him off the farm."

Will Rogers.

Yours, WILL.

The City Planning Commission, including new members appointed by Mayor McNair, has elected Frederick Bigger as chairman. Leo Lehman was elected vice chairman and A. O. Horner secretary.

CO-EDS READY TO SHOW STYLE

Twenty-two Carnegie Tech co-eds today put the finishing stitches in the gowns they have made for their own fashion parade, scheduled for a downtown showing tomorrow, Friday and Saturday.

Many of the gowns are their own creations, part of their work in a dressmaking and designing class at Margaret Morrison Carnegie College.

Seven dresses are included in a "budget," enough, the girls say, to make a complete wardrobe for a day of fashionable activity.

Only $54 buys the material for all seven dresses, they point out, which averages less than $8 a dress.

There were may "Ohs!" and "Ahs!" when classmates saw a preview of the dresses yesterday, including a "windblown" evening gown of white organdie trimmed with gold embroidery, and an afternoon frock of pink lace.

Children Registered As Ballot 'Phantoms'

Riordan Charges Irregularities In Rankin

Phantoms—registered from empty lots and houses and from California and many outside municipalities, and including persons ranging in ages from 10 to 19—are on the registration books of the Second District of Rankin, Leo A. Riordan, chief county investigator, charged today.

Today is registration day in the boroughs and townships of the county, and assessors are sitting at the polls to rectify errors, register potential voters and change affiliations where requested.

The investigation covered the 1933 books.

Included in the "registration mistakes," Riordan said, were:

Aliens who voted in 1933 without naturalization papers, and those who voted on first papers.

Voters registered from vacant houses and, in at least one case, from a vacant lot; one who moved four years ago to California; a 10-year-old girl; one who lives in Woodlawn; two in Swissvale; two in Pittsburgh; one each in Braddock, Clairton, Braddock Park and Homestead.

One was registered twice, and another registered twice from the same house; one voted 20 years without naturalization papers, and three families who moved away in 1932 were on the books, as well as one person who who died in 1932.

A 13-year-old boy was recorded, and 20 were registered from one house of poor repute, and a 16 and a 19-year-old girl were listed.

Three were registered from empty houses and two from fictitious addresses.

Included among the alleged registered "voters" in Rankin who are under age are Francis Spierto, 11, of 317 Second avenue; Joseph Molokach, 13, of 313 Fifth street, and Helen Miscin, 17, and Mary Miscin, 20, of 6 Orchard way.

No one from the Spierto house has ever voted, it was learned.

The only vote in the Molokach home is that of the 13-year-old "voter's" father, Paul, and the two Miscin girls declared they had never registered or voted because they were not of age.

LEADERS CLASH OVER AUDIT IN BOROUGH

Letter of Taxpayer Throws Session Into Turmoil

McKees Rocks politically-divided Council wrangled through another rough session before a noisy throng of citizens last night.

The crowd booed, applauded and hissed as the borough officials and Councilmen heckled each other in the squabble that has been going on since the Borough Controller, D. J. Buckley, announced he was conducting an audit into the borough affairs under a former administration.

The meeting was thrown into a turmoil early when George W. Gast, borough clerk, read a letter from a taxpayer charging John Chovostal, one of the Democratic Councilmen, was not a citizen of the United States.

DECISION JEERED

Chovostal denied the charge, and Council set Friday night for him to show his naturalization papers. Buckley and Vincent DiBella, another Democratic member, declared an open meeting of Council was no place to bring the matter up.

Another dispute occurred when Gast refused to read a letter signed by two of the minority block, demanding a list of borough employes for scrutiny. The refusal brought jeers from the audience.

Buckley again told Council he would countersign bills only which were warranted by Council as a body. Hedemanded a copy of all bills for each councilman. He then threatened to jail the old officials who have not appeared in answer to his subpena, but added he didn't want to do it. He said:

"I insist upon an audit of the books. I have reasons and I am going to be Controller of McKees Rocks in spite of hell."

CHARGES SNOOPING

The new solicitor, Leo J. Aaron, when told by Buckley that Barnes & Co. was assisting him in his audit, read from a letter that E. A. Ford Barnes had been convicted of fraudulent conversion in Beaver County. The Controller demanded:

"What right have you to snoop in my audit?"

The solicitor replied that he was vitally interested.

Buckley replied that if the charge were true he would employ other assistance.

While the quarrel between Aaron and Buckley was going on, Dr. C. B. Keebler, former controller, and now president of Council, said he had filed a report of the borough affairs with the prothonotary. Buckley replied:

"Your report isn't true. You didn't keep any books."

Dr. Keebler replied:

Buckley pointed to Gast and said:

A resolution of 600 taxpayers asking for a tax reduction, which was passed at a mass meeting two days ago, was presented to Council.

Dr. Keebler announced a budget meeting would be held later.

So Cinderella Paid Her Tax on Six White Horses

By ARTHUR (BUGS) BAER

Just a little children's hour for the grown-ups. Cinderella and her income tax.

"At the stroke of midnight," said Cinderella, "there was an ugly pumpkin and a half-dozen horrible mice."

"Nix on that," said the income tax man, "I saw you in a crystal coach drawn by six milk-white hosses."

Next, she did a rap in Atlanta for evasion. Now, she is drinking cold coffee out of her pretty glass slipper.

City Second in Safety, Judges to Wire Kline

Maybe the judges in Chicago who awarded Pittsburgh second place in the National Safety Council's annual "safest city contest" don't read the papers.

Notifying city officials today, their telegrams read:

"Mayor Kline will be notified within the next few hours of this award."

Which seems to mean that the judges don't know that a single-taxer named William N. McNair is Mayor of Pittsburgh now.

Evanston, Ill., which shared first award with Pittsburgh last year, was selected for first prize this year because of a substantial reduction in traffic accidents and for the enactment of safety regulations, according to an Associated Press report today.

Boston carried third place in the first group, and Cleveland and Detroit won honorable mention.

In the 250,000 to 500,000 population group, Providence, R. I., was first and Grand Rapids, Mich., second.

More than 300 cities competed.

Traffic deaths in Pittsburgh totaled 11 lives last month, raising the two-month total this year to 25, double the fatality record of January and February a year ago, the Bureau of Traffic Planning announced today.

VAST HOLDINGS IN COUNTY FREE OF TAXES

More than $392,000,000 in property is tax-exempt in Allegheny County, the County Commissioners revealed today, following a survey made by the tax division of the Board for the Revision and Assessment of Taxes.

The public utilities have the largest amount of non-taxable property listed—totaling in value $114,120,345.

Of this over $80,000,000 is in Pittsburgh, $20,000,000 in the boroughs, nearly $10,000,000 in the townships, and the remainder in McKeesport, Duquesne and Clairton.

Municipally-owned—$60,988,790.
Religious purposes—$53,925,380.
County-owned—$19,561,555.
Hospitals—$14,491,300.
United States government—$9,065,610.
Burial grounds—$7,986,580.
Charitable—$5,869,770.
Semi-religious—4,481,260.
Commonwealth—$4,091,610.
Civic—$3,771,020.
Patriotic—$291,440.

Of the total, the recapitulation shows that the city contains $279,570,745 worth of all the tax-free property, the third class cities a total of $12,765,860; the boroughs $61,737,600 and the townships $38,701,933.

The tax board members said the property was tax-free by state law, and that a drive was being made to remove properties not actually used for such purposes from the exempt list.

Junior Patrol

Does that sound familiar? It should, fellows, because that is one of the oldest proverbs. It means that people who have faults shouldn't criticize the faults of others; anyway, too severely.

We all make some mistakes—no matter how careful we are. We all have some faults. The best thing to do is to tell ourselves that we have faults and make mistakes and work as hard as we can to stop the faults and avoid the mistakes.

What we wanted to talk about today was gossip. If you whisper to your friends something bad about someone, you start gossip. Sometimes it isn't the truth. Even if it is the truth, gossip makes the fault much worse than it is. And so you hurt someone badly. People tell the bad things to each other, and soon they lose respect for that person. They avoid him or her.

Speak kindly and pleasantly about your friends. Do everything you can to help their good fellowship. That is what the Junior Patrol is for—so that a group of friends can meet together to help each other, to have a good time together, and to do good for others.

If you can't say something pleasant about the other fellow, just don't say anything at all. The best way to punish a fellow who is in the wrong is to ignore him. No fellow likes to be lonely. He will work hard to make you like him again so that he can play with you.

"I have been reading your Junior Patrol and I think it is very fine. I go to a country school where we have eight grades in one room. I get very good marks in school and I like my teacher very much. I want to know the secret messages. I don't know whether I can start a Junior Patrol here or not, because, you see, there are not many children around where I live."

We hope you can start a club, anyway, Marian. Write again and tell us more about your work and neighborhood.

Another letter came today from Brose Charles Elliott, Jr., of 324 State street, Grove City. We hope that he and Charles Cicero can start a patrol in Grove City.

Secret Agent X–9 Clue Contest

The Case of the Three Letters

Clue No. 3—The Ante Is Raised.

Two letters have been received by Angus McKay, well-known financier, one threatening to kidnap his son and the second directing the millionaire to place $50,000 in a certain yacht moored on a nearby lake. Secret Agent X-9 knows the letters have been mailed by one of the four tenants of a certain house in the suburbs.

It was with some difficulty that X-9 persuaded the worried father to refrain from putting the comparatively paltry sum demanded on board the yacht.

"I will guarantee that our man will write again," the secret agent told McKay. "The yacht is moored at the end of a narrow point of land, and our criminal can easily slip from our grasp if we give in now. We must play a waiting game."

The very next day he was vindicated. No attempt was made to kidnap young Malcolm McKay when the appointment was not kept, but a third letter was received by the millionaire. "I will give you one more chance," it ran, "but the ante has been raised. Take with you $100,000 in cash and unmarked, and go to the second performance at the State moving picture theater tomorrow evening. Take a seat in the back row, and when the orchestra starts playing the overture, which is Berlin's 'Rhapsody in Blue,' leave the packet on the seat and go out. I will know if I am being watched or double-crossed, and this time I WILL be Ruthless."

"The case is over," said X-9 to the astonished banker. "The author of the three letters will be under arrest within a few minutes."

WHO WAS THE KIDNAPER?

AND HOW DID SECRET AGENT X-9 PICK HIM OUT FROM THE FOUR MEN LIVING IN THE HOUSE?

The solution will be printed Saturday, March 24.

MT. RUSHMORE TEXT STIRS EDUCATORS

Active participation with their own groups sharing in the great task of seeking America's epic in 600 words that may be the basis for the inscription that will tell the nation's history on the Lofty Mt. Rushmore National Memorial today was spurring patriotic, civic and women's organizations into forming a branch of the nation-wide competition.

In the larger cities, in the smaller towns—all over the tri-state district of Western Pennsylvania, Eastern Ohio and Northern West Virginia—club leaders were inquiring of the Pittsburgh Memorial Committee, in care of the Sun-Telegraph, which is sponsoring the local competition, how to assume active participation. Many were following the leads of their national groups which have indorsed the competition being conducted by the associated Hearst newspapers.

EDUCATORS INTERESTED

Letters of inquiries and telephone calls also were being received at the Sun-Telegraph competition headquarters from educators and school heads.

For on the side of Mt. Rushmore, in South Dakota's Black Hills, Gutzon Borglum, the sculptor, will engrave in letters that will outlive our very civilization, the reflected fruit of this competition!

Geologists say a new type of life may people the globe before the features of Washington, Lincoln, Jefferson and Theodore Roosevelt grow dim on that mountainside! There may be forms of life we cannot even imagine, before the 13-foot letters which will carry this nationally sought message will fade into difficult reading!

TEXT OF 600 WORDS

In the Sun-Telegraph every day from now until the competition closes you will find material of value to you in shaping your own thought on the subject. It must be a text of not more than 600 words—and—remember this!—it must cover in its subject matter the nine principal episodes in the molding of our nation. These are:

The making and writing of the Declaration of Independence; the making of the Constitution; the Louisiana purchase; the acquisition of the Floridas; the entry of Texas into the republic; the acquisition of California; the settlement of the Oregon boundary dispute; the purchase of Alaska, and the cutting of the Panama Canal.

For full details about the rules of the competition, the prizes offered, and any other information you may want—read the Sun-Telegraph every day!

THE Automobile Industry,

as represented at a Directors' Meeting of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce held in Detroit Monday, March 12, 1934, set forth its labor position as follows:

1 Under the law and the code, the industry believes it owes a duty to its employees not only not to coerce them in self organization for purposes of bargaining, but so far as it legitimately can, to protect them against coercion from any source, into selecting representatives not of their free choice.

3 The accredited representatives of any group of employees shall be free to bargain collectively in regard to matters of common interest.

4 At the present time the automobile industry is paying on an average, hourly wage rates equal to or better than the 1929 rates.

The ratio of weekly earnings now approximates 90 per cent of the 1929 earnings, while the current cost of living is approximately 83 per cent of 1929.

5 Nevertheless, in response to the appeal of the President, the industry recommends to its members that in plants covered by the automobile manufacturing code, the average weekly hours of productive workers be reduced from 40 to 36 and that compensating wage increases over rates prevailing in February, 1934, be made effective on or before March 31, 1934.

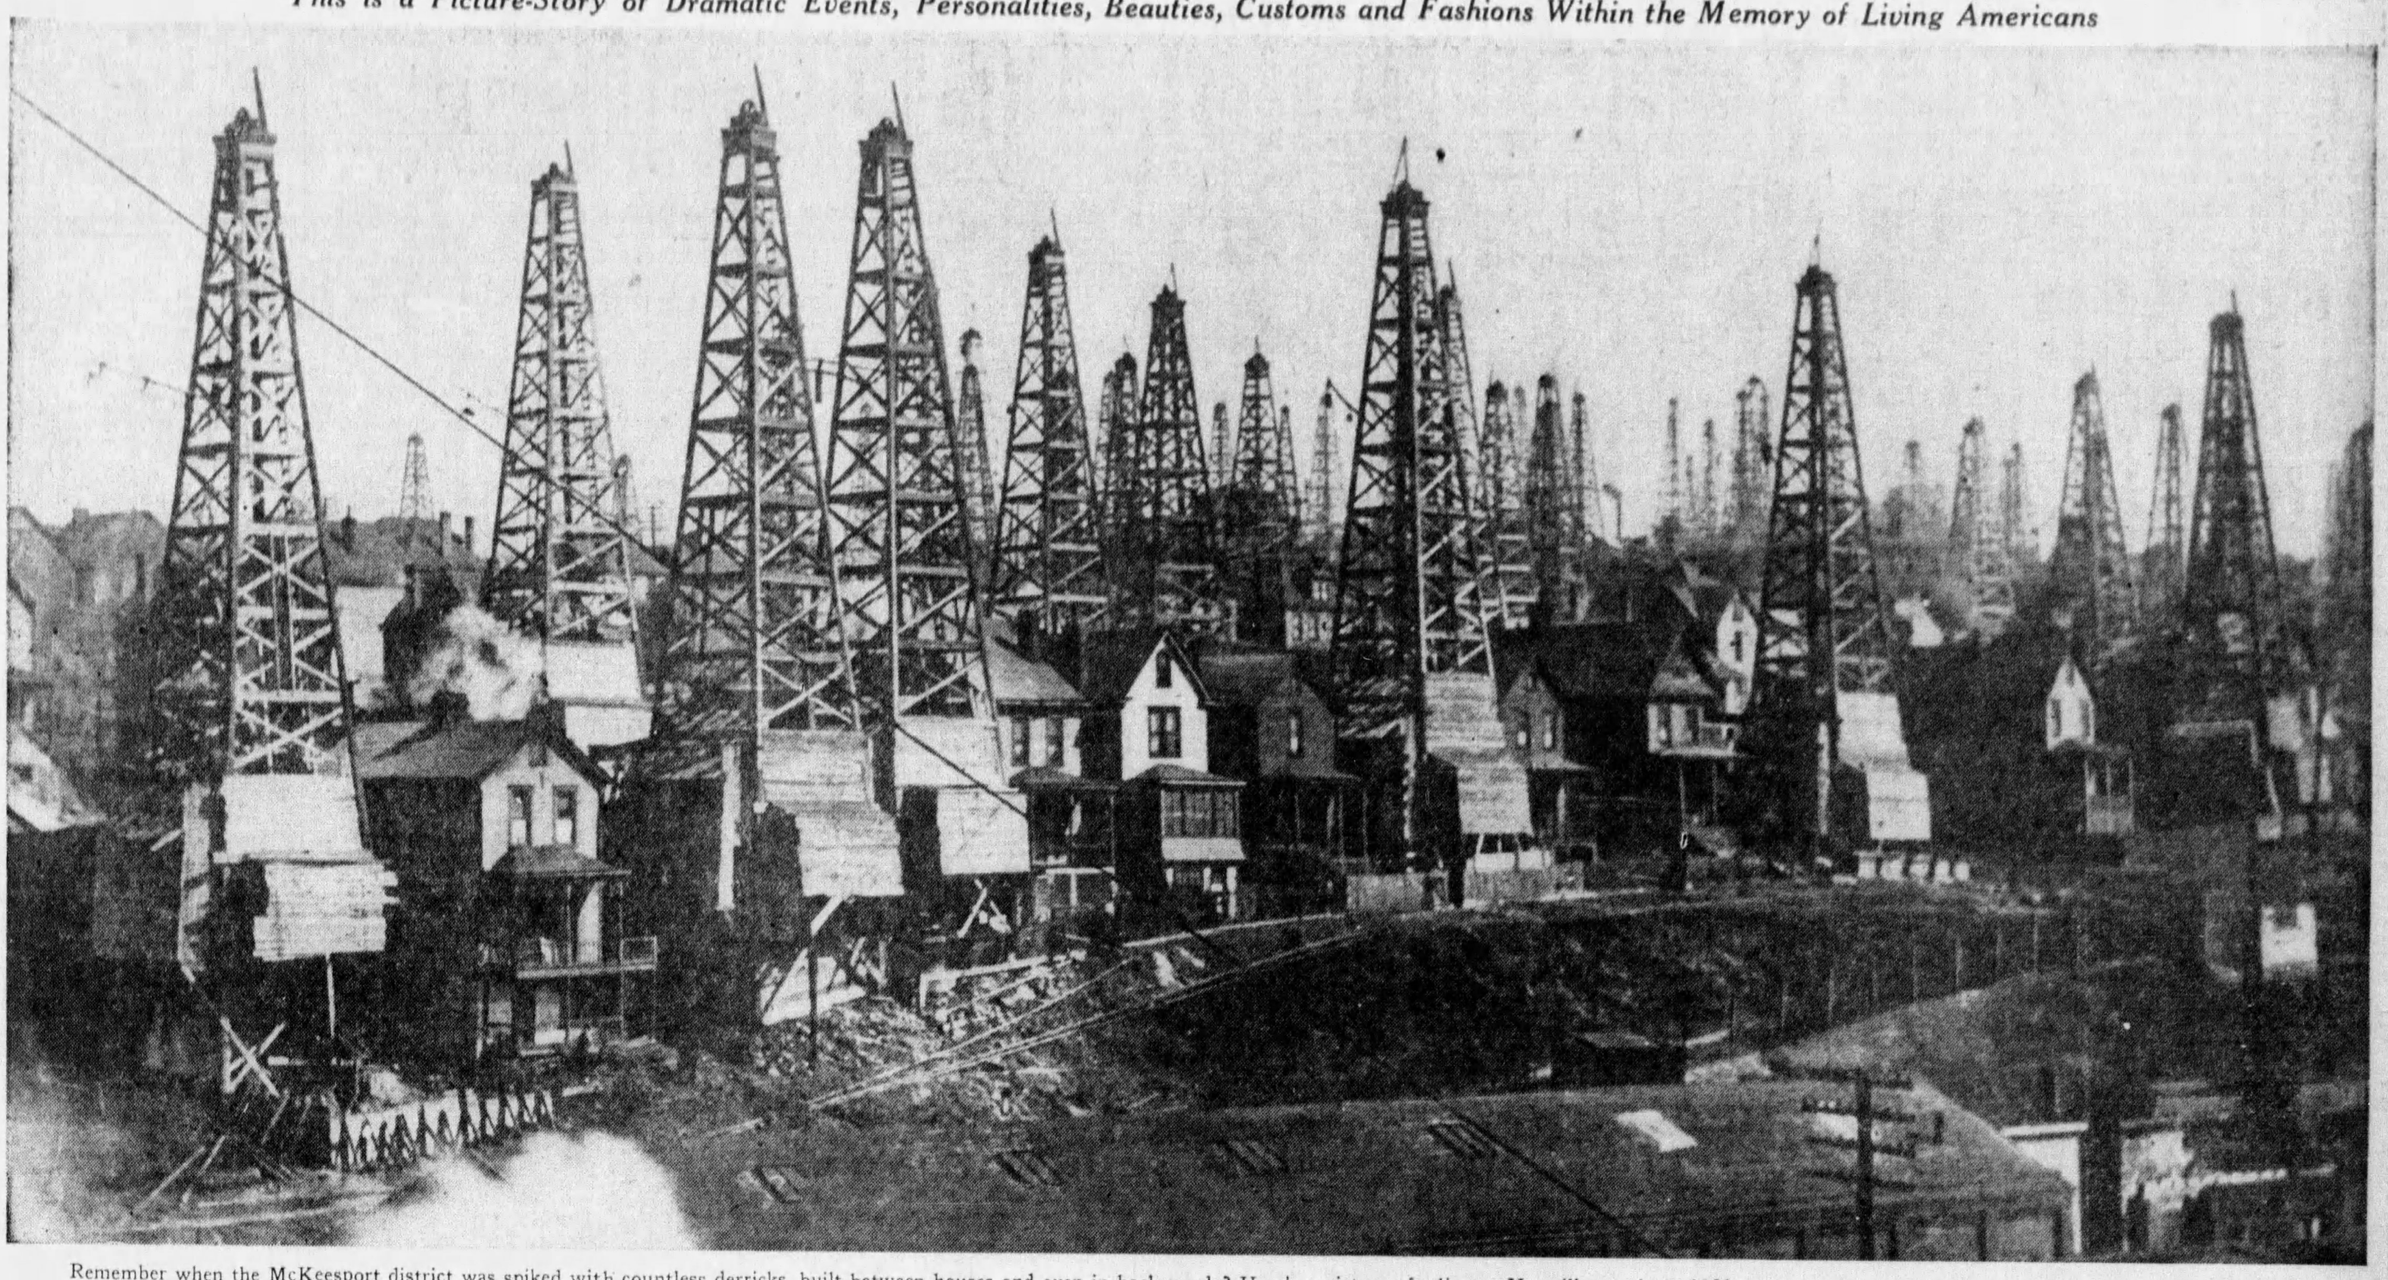
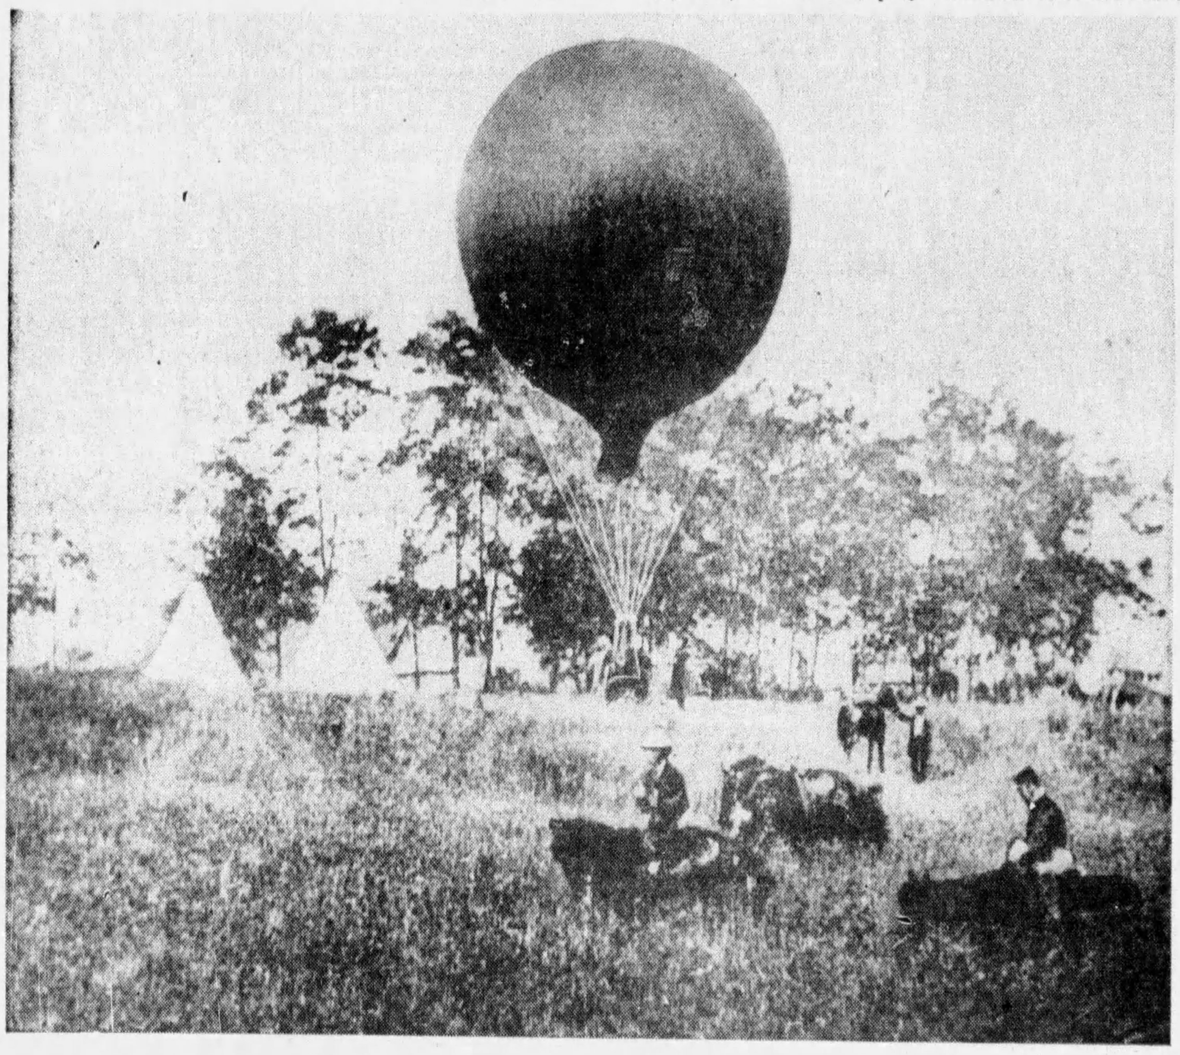
REMEMBER WHEN M'KEESPORT WAS SPIKED WITH DERRICKS?

This is a Picture-Story of Dramatic Events, Personalities, Beauties, Customs and Fashions Within the Memory of Living Americans



Remember when the McKeesport district was spiked with countless derricks, built between houses and even in back yards? Here's a picture of adjacent Versailles made in 1920 while the Pittsburgh district had the "gas fever." Scores of wells were sunk, thousands of companies were formed, dozens made "big profits," thousands of people lost millions of their dollars. But the boom—for it was a boom—was short-lived. This picture is owned by J. S. Wally, 43 Grant avenue, Etna.



Remember when the first military balloon ascensions were made? Here's the captive balloon of Prof. T. S. C. Lowe, who observed for the Union Army at Richmond, reported over a telegraph wire, saved Gen. McClellan's army from disaster.

Patricia Pitt's Sprightly Comment on Pittsburgh's Society Happenings

Metallic materials are staging a comeback this season and they are much lovelier than usual, some having the gold or silver threads woven in like delicate frosty embroidery, others very regally glittering.

I saw two particularly distinctive gowns at the brilliant Horowitz concert in Syria Mosque last night, worn by Florence Willock and Margaret Rowe. Florence's was heavily brocaded with gold in a very large leaf pattern, and formed a striking contrast to her dark hair and eyes. Margaret's was of white with a tiny all-over coin dot embroidery of silver, having a flat bow over either shoulder and a long train.

Ruffles of Skirt Edged in Silver

Attractive Betty Kennedy's gown was of emerald green bagheera, and blonde Rita Borntraeger was in a gown of black chiffon having a very beruffled skirt, with every ruffle edged in silver. Patricia Witherow, who was there with her mother, Mrs. David Mc G. Witherow, wore black. Her mother chose violet crepe.

Red and Blue Crepe Forms Unusual Gown

Red and blue crepe, combined in an unusual fashion with long bands of the red extending like streamers from the shoulders was the choice of Mary Childs. Chinese red bagheera was worn by Katharine Dangerfield, who was there with her mother, Mrs. Benjamin Dangerfield, Jr.

I caught a glimpse in the crowded foyer of Mrs. Joseph H. Bialas in ruffled black tulle; of Mrs. Harold J. Dorrance, Jean Keister, Marie Louise Bickford and Peggy Mitchell with her mother, Mrs. Harry L. Mitchell.

Fringed Cape Worn With Crepe Costume

Mrs. George Singer Ebbert's costume was of royal blue crepe with a fringed cape, and Katharine MacCloskey's of a lovely, soft rose moss crepe having a jacket. Mrs. W. Terrell Johnson wore rust crepe and Mrs. J. Hanson Rose chose honey-beige with a long train.

Mrs. S. Brainard West wore flowered taffeta (she's very fond of flowered fabrics, by the way, and do you remember she went to a costume party as "say it with flowers?").

Harriet Fickes was at the concert, too, in corsair blue chiffon, as was Mrs. John E. Nelson. And I saw Mary Lee Rust, in pink satin, and her sister, Alice. Mrs. W. Eugene Gary wore black and white, and I caught a glimpse of the James O. Flowers entering the mosque.

INGENUE FLOUNCES FOR EASTER DANCES

By PRUNELLA WOOD

YOUNG THINGS have their own idea of what this return to elegance means. Strange to say they have not become unruly and demanded sequins and cloth of gold, though they did have a perilous winter balancing tiaras and trains as best they could. They have gone for a rush toward the trappings of the stage ingenue, choosing models that look good enough to snuggle, but which are made of such cloudy charm that they register "touch me not." Little girls like kittens are back in favor, and they chose their own role.

* * *

IT LOOKS as if a lot of baby blue and pink would dress up Easter dances, when the subdebs charge out of their schools for the hectic spring holidays. Curly heads will be haloed with wreaths of forget-me-not, moss rose buds and so on. Nothing much but the wings will be missing on these little angelic minxes. (Lip stick and mascara will not be missing, either, for that matter. It is not artistic to overdo anything.)

(Copyright, 1934, King Features Synd., Inc.)

NEWEST OF DANCE frock materials is net, plain or lacy. White is popular, blue a close runner-up, lettuce green much favored, and yellow, pink or the ice tints perfectly good, for that matter. Ruches rufflings, flounces, sashes, nosegays and berthas are good style points for models in this genre, and even more solid fabrics than net and lace are treated to all these innocent, beguiling touches.

Although the front is pretty, it is the back of this frock that high-lights it. The material is crepe with a giddy print design of yellow, blue, red and white.

Even the youngest swains have caught on that "tails" are the thing to wear to revels, though a Tuxedo still gets by.

The girl below meets a new beau in a lacy white net frock which sports big epaulette sleeves of white net ruffles and a cute, silly muff to match.

Through the Spyglass
Viewing The New

You little shoppers who want to learn the names of the shops whose items are listed in this column day by day . . . call GRANT 6500 . . . and ASK FOR THE SPYGLASS. Or send in a stamped self-addressed envelope for your reply. THE SPYGLASS is always on the alert, peering out new "finds" . . . and you will be answered promptly!

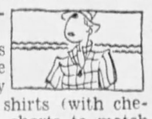
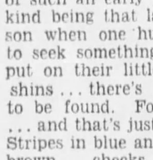
Hey! Hey! We have news. About the shirtiest and shortiest knockabout outfits you ever saw in all your shopping days!



One store has a corner where dwell beautifully tailored madras shirts (with chemise bottom) . . . shorts to match . . . and a wrap-around skirt buttoned down before. The cause of such an early purchase of this kind being that later in the season when one hungrily goes out to seek something of the sort to put on their little shoulders and shins . . . there's never anything to be found. For $2.95 at least . . . and that's just what these are. Stripes in blue and white, red and brown . . . checks in yellow, blue, brown and green. Misses' sizes.

* * *

And whoever heard of hosiery having an olive oil shampoo!



These new hose have . . . and that's why they don't spring into runs when you kneel, or bend, or cinch them up tightly.

When they were first woven they were given a bath in olive oil . . . with the result that their pure silk is soft and pliable. And they have all the million-dollar refinements like non-skid heels . . . stop-run toes (another pair if yours ladder from the toe) . . . picot tops . . . and an up-down-and-around stretch at the garter welt at the top. $1.35 the pair . . . 3 pairs for $3.85. All sizes . . . all shades.

* * *

community of rayon undies have had their eviction warrant signed and are being thrown out on the mercy of a cold world for 49c apiece! (They were 75c.)

Undies, such as panties of all types . . . the good old bloomer styles (if you're a good old bloomer girl!) . . . shirts . . . combinations . . . in pink and tearose, and all sizes.

* * *

These scatter rugs have been scattering themselves to the four winds (shopping winds!) since you dear little shoppers heard that they were priced at a mere $1.95.

And no wonder. For they're marvels of quality and style for this price . . . not to mention their generous size—27x48. We spotted several modernistics which would go into a bedroom like proverbial lambs . . . and the more living-roomish types in deeper tones for the downstairs or hall. Colonial and oriental effects, among others . . . and when you can "do" a room with three for less than $6, well, you'd better DO it!

—DOROTHY RANDALL.

PROPER FOODS HEALTH FACTOR, PRUDENCE WARNS

Essential Because Of Exposure Due To Weather

Weather as changeable as we've been having these wintry days . . . snow, slush, rain, a bit of spring . . . catches us unaware as to proper clothing, and we're continually having colds, or grip, and maybe even the flu.

And what have clothes to do with a cooking column? Not much, Prudence Penny admits, but foods do play a great part in keeping us healthy in this fickle weather. If our bodies are healthy, the March weather vagaries will leave us smiling . . . and well.

Hazel Hamilton's idea of a really good food item is Tempting Twin-Loaf Health Bread. Prudence Penny quite agrees with her as you'll see, for she awards her the $5 prize today.

Do your part in keeping your neighbors-at-large healthy by sending your best recipes to Prudence Penny, Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph. If she uses any of them you will receive either a $5 first prize or one of 10 $1 prizes awarded daily. No recipes are returned.

Critics Divide Opinion on Hepburn

By MICHAEL SHAW

Katharine Hepburn once more has the New York critics at odds. Her new picture, "Spitfire," opened late last week in the huge Radio City Musical Hall, and while some of the commentators found in it Katie's most eloquent acting to date, others called the whole thing a disappointing sequel to "Little Women."

The film is founded on Lulu Vollmer's play, "Trigger," and it provides the Hepburn with a new sort of role—that of a mystic hillbilly girl suspected by her neighbors of being a witch.

Previously this skyrocketing star has always played rather elegant parts: a girl of the better English classes in "A Bill of Divorcement," an English society aviatrix in "Christopher Strong," a stage-struck private school miss in "Morning Glory," and Jo in "Little Women"—a bit impoverished, more than a bit hoydenish, but underneath it all a very fine lady of the best New England stock.

* * *

"What this country needs is more clean, wholesome shows of the type presented by Pat Rooney and Marion Bent."

And it is true that the Pat Rooneys, first, second and third generations, have always, like Fred Stone, put on entertainments to which parents could take their children, and nephews their old-fashioned aunts.

The first Pat Rooney became famous for his dancing, singing and Irish dialect. The second followed well in his footsteps. And 22-year-old Pat the Third, in the Pitt with his father this week, is already at ease behind the footlights and as skillful as can be in reproducing his dad's "Daughter of Rosie O'Grady" dance now 25 years old.

The elder Pat has some pretty definite ideas about the stage. He should have, after a career which began at the age of 11 and has embraced nearly every type of theatrical presentation—burlesque, melodrama, vaudeville, silent motion pictures and talkies.

He believes that entertainment travels in cycles, beginning on a small scale, building to a peak, and then declining. There was a vaudeville cycle, a silent movie cycle and a talkie cycle. Pat Rooney thinks a new mixed bill cycle (talkies plus miniature reviews) is starting, and that it will rapidly supplant the talkie-and-short programs now almost universal.

It was 12 years ago that Pat presented perhaps the first of these miniature shows, "Rings of Smike," for 12 consecutive weeks in the Palace, New York, and then played it for four years on the road. In this show and "Shamrock," which followed, Rooney was accompanied by his wife, Miss Bent, who retired three years ago when Pat insisted that four or five shows a day were too much for the mother of a 19-year-old son.

Mrs. Rooney did not come to Pittsburgh on this trip, although she usually travels with Pat and young Pat. The Rooneys have been married 23 years and still act like newlyweds.

Two Spine-Chilling Stars To Be Film Team

By CINEMA

HOLLYWOOD, March 14.—Take Warning! Get your spine in good condition and prepare yourself for a nice hour or so of jitters. Universal has dusted off the script (rewritten many times) and is preparing to co-star those baby-and-adult-frighteners, Boris ("Frankenstein") Karloff and Bela ("Dracula") Lugosi in "The Suicide Club."

The fact that Bela and Boris are now busy staging a camera-hogging feud while appearing in "The Black Cat," prompted Carl Laemmle, Jr., the youthful boss of the film factory, to kick the cobwebs from the many-times-scheduled mystery thriller.

Just to make it more exciting, Junior has decided that every member of the cast will be killed—in the picture, of course! and if someone doesn't faint during every performance, he'll be awfully disappointed.

* * *

Barbara (Snooney) Blaire and Eddie Robinson didn't hit it off in "The Dark Tower" for Warners. In fact, 'tis said a bit of jealousy raised its ugly head, and Barbara threw down the scrip, did a hop-skip-and-jump right off the set—and then, to polish off the scene, got a release from her contract. Barbara figures she sorta told 'em off!

"Hmm, scientists have found the footprints of a huge giant in northern Arizona." To which the importation wise-grr-racked: "Say, wasn't Garbo over there?"

Some Scoopy News Flashes—

Mrs. Leslie Carter was slated to do the queen in "Mary and Elizabeth" for Universal. That's up in the well known air — and Margaret Anglin is reading the script. If she nods her head, she'll team it with Margaret (call her Gypsy 'cause sh's always wandering away) Sullavan.

Goodee Montgomery strolled in to moviedom to take a fling at the flickers. Second day here landed a role in an independent celluloid "Stolen Sweets"—and now Paramount and M-G-M are talking business.

Wandering Around Town—It may seem odd, but Paul Muni is the least publicity-conscious of all film stars . . . Dick Powell isn't chasing to the hospital any more . . . Margaret Lindsay's home after that appendix removal . . . The extras on Marion Davies' "Operator 13" set have been SWIPING Gary Cooper's hand-wrapped Virginia cheroots, and he's THAT mad! . . . Hot-Cha Lavinia Manon, Alice Bday's Scotty pooch, is outta the canine hospital and again barking his glee . . . Jessie Shaw, former U. S. C. footballer and strong man, got a job at RKO as a prop boy, and his first task was to SWAT flies on the set! . . . This'll floor youse! Bette Davis has a gadget all fixed to take sun baths while doing location work! . . . Judith Allen and Danny Danker have been HOLDING HANDS at the same place . . . Con Conrad, the tunesmith, honeymooning in Palm Beach, postcards that Norma Talmadge, George Jessel, Lois Moran and Dorothy Dalton are also sunburning themselves.

All in a Day

Odds and Ends

SOME 15 months ago a well-known American playwright sold the motion picture rights of one of his works to one of the big film outfits on the coast. He closed the deal with the eastern representative of the coast outfit.

Some six months later, the picture was completed and released. When the author saw it, he found that the usual thing had happened. Only this time it was a little bit worse.

The play had been rewritten in its entirety. Not a line or situation in the original script had been retained. Even the names of the characters were different. The only thing that remained as it had been sold, was the name of the play. The picture was released under the same title.

But this playwright was a bit different from the rest. He didn't rave, rant or sue. He merely sat through the picture, saw that nothing but the title was left of his brain child, and departed without a word. . . .

A few months ago, another opus by this same playwright opened in Philadelphia. It drew rave notices from the critics. And the following morning found the author phoning the Eastern representative of the same picture outfit that had filmed his other play.

"I just called to tell you," said the writer, "that my new play is a sensation in Philadelphia. Everybody is raving about its possibilities for the screen."

"Fine," cried the picture man. "I'll hop down for a look at it right away."

"Don't waste your time," returned the author. "The picture rights to the play are not for sale."

The film men was astounded.

"No?" he muttered. "Then why did you call me up?"

The playwright's voice floated gently over the wire.

"I just thought," he replied, "that maybe you'd like to buy the title." . . .

IN A newspaper plant not far from New York, practically all of the boys were friendly with a little lady who lived a short distance from the office. She was the type of girlie without which no traveling salesman story would be complete.

Came the day when the chumpiest of the chump reporters walked into the office and announced that he had married the lady in question a few hours before. None of the boys wanted to hurt the dope, but one of them spoke up.

"Of course," he said, "we all congratulate you. But you know, don't you, that there are a lot of men who—er—go out with her?"

The chump nodded brightly.

"Sure," he replied. "But I put my foot down, believe me. In a few months, that's all gonna be stopped!" . . .

SINCE this column first campaigned against free shows in theaters by radio chains unless each customer was taxed a ten-cent piece for charity, agitation in that direction has grown by leaps and bounds. It took them a little time, but the legitimate theater and the picture business finally reached the conclusion that these free radio shows were hurting them enormously.

Although the handwriting was on the wall, the two big chains wouldn't—or couldn't—read it. They treated the matter with supreme indifference—and a suggestion that would have netted the crippled, the ill, and the unemployed at least $1,000 a day, went unheeded.

It is now my distinct pleasure to inform both the National and Columbia networks that, in a very short time, their free shows that could have been so helpful instead of harmful, will be terminated by indirect order of the President of the United States.

Horowitz, in many ways the incomparable pianist of the day, gave another brilliant recital in Syria Mosque last night. As usual with this player the standing room sign was in evidence and the great audience gave him a cordial welcome.

Mr. Lissfelt

It was an exhaustive program for both pianist and public. Horowitz gave but a little Brahms Waltz and Rimsky - Korsakoff's "Flight of the Bumblebee" as encores, and there was much discontent in the lobbies about this and that in his playing.

In the early half of the program we found an admirable lesson in musical style. Bach, Beethoven, Schumann and Liszt were so accurately studied and played with such meticulous differentiation in manner and tone. His chorales were more Bach than Busoni, majestically elevated beyond mere piano playing to the region of worship. In Beethoven the patterns were nicely marked without allowing sentimentality to rule the hands. The charming Schumann "Arabesque" was a delicacy before the rantings of the Liszt "Dante" reading.

Horowitz made some excellent cuts in the Liszt fantasy which helped somewhat. I have never before heard it played as musically but that reading could never atone for the empty procession of chords.

I once asked one of the world's greatest singers what slow and fast means in music. She answered:

"If it becomes tiresome it's too slow; if you do not hear all the notes, then it's too fast!"

Horowitz should heed the latter caution, for during the second part of his program we could easily question the tempo of his Chopin "Scherzo," vague with the exception of the lovely Polish folksong in the second theme, his F Major Etude, and the Debussy as well.

In all this music there lacked a warmth which we associate with Horowitz in spite of the brilliance of his technique. In the Chopin "Mazurka" it appeared for a moment and afterwards in his Brahms Waltz. A marvellous pianist just the same!

J. FRED LISSFELT.

Stars Become Thrifty

One example of Hollywood's new conservatism is Edward G. Robinson's new home. It is a large house, containing some twenty rooms. The actor bought the house at a bargain figure, however, and furnished it with the art objects and furnishings he and Mrs. Robinson had been collecting over a period of years. Serviced now by a competent staff of help, the house is nevertheless so arranged and planned that a single maid could, if necessary, care for it all.

Paul Muni's home, in the San Fernando Valley, represents the same kind of thoughtful investment and planning.

"It represents money we didn't lose in the stock market," Muni explained. "It can be run as economically as we please. It is not large enough to be a burden and it was purchased reasonably enough to be classed as an investment. Besides we can cash in on our orange grove."

Ann Dvorak and Leslie Fenton have perchased a San Fernando Valley ranch so simple in design that between them they can take care of it all by themselves. They raise their own vegetables.

It is understood that even John Barrymore who was for many years a "horrible example" of extravagance, has been buying up hillside property in Beverly Hills and can step overnight to the ranks of the landed realtors.

More than a year ago Kay Francis gave up her show-place home and moved to a modest seven-room cottage. The savings that have resulted Miss Francis has carefully invested.

In the Mozart number L'amero saro costante, from "Il Re Pastore," a violin obligato will be played by Milton Lomask. The Brahms Geistliches Wiegenlied, will be sung with violin and cello obligato, played by Milton Lomask and Samuel Kliachko. There also will be two songs by local composers, "Wind Song," by William Wentzell, and "Hymn to the Hills," by Harvey Gaul. Both have been dedicated to Miss Lech.

The Department of Drama, Carnegie Tech, will offer "An Afternoon With Moliere" at the studio matinee in the Union of Administration Hall at 3:30 o'clock Friday. The bill will consist of scenes from the comedies of Moliere, whose charm and humor were recently enjoyed in "The School for Husbands" in the Nixon. The scenes drawn from will be "The Bourgeois Gentlemen," "The Doctor in Spite of Himself" and "The Learned Ladies." No tickets are required, and the public is invited.

Postponed Production To Open Tonight

"Berkeley Square," the presentation of which was to have opened a week ago, will be presented to a South Hills audience for the first time tonight in the auditorium of Washington School, Mt. Lebanon. Given by the South Hills Community Players, it will be an attraction throughout the remainder of the week, four evening performances in all. The postponement was caused by the illness of Edward Blaine, director of the players, who also has the leading male role in "Berkeley Square."

JAMES J. LONG'S SPORTS COMMENT

Grid Game Set for 1935.
First New York Visit.

Last Spitter Optimistic.
Track Boom On Coast.
Fielder Jones Passes On.

A game with Fordham University in New York will be a new high spot in the football schedule of the University of Pittsburgh for 1935. That much, at least, is practically assured as the result of negotiations between Athletic Director W. Don Harrison, of Pitt, and the authorities of the eastern school. The probable date is November 2, the Saturday before the Army game here. It will be the first appearance of a Panther gridiron team in New York City, and the first time Pitt has met Fordham in any sport except basketball. The Rams were faced on the court in 1930 and 1931.

W. Don Harrison

It was rumored that Pitt and Fordham had arranged a series of three grid games, the first two to be played in New York in 1935-36 and the third here in 1937. In the absence of Director Harrison from the city, this could not be confirmed. Other university officials expressed doubt that a series is planned, but admitted that negotiations for one game in New York in 1935 have been carried on since Coach Jimmy Crowley, of the Rams, first visited this section after the 1933 season.

PANTHERS LIKELY TO BE STRONG CARDS

It was admitted further that at no time has anything stood in the way of the negotiations being carried to a successful conclusion, so if the game has not been actually clinched already there seems to be no doubt that contracts will be signed in the very near future.

The game is a desirable one for both sides. It will keep the Panthers in eastern eyes and give them another high-class opponent in their first New York appearance, Coach Crowley having developed Fordham into one of the most powerful teams in the country. And it will give Fordham a new headline game at home against one of football's best attractions. Pitt's nearest game to New York was that played with Army in West Point in 1932, and on that occasion the Sutherlands put on a circus that has not yet been forgotten by New York writers. Another such thriller at the Yankee Stadium or the Polo Grounds would establish Pitt as one of the best drawing cards to visit the big city.

GRIMES CONFIDENT HE CAN KEEP GOING

The National League batters who thought they had seen the last of the spitball have another guess coming, according to Burleigh Grimes. It won't be due to any lack of confidence if Grimes fails to make good in his attempted comeback with the Cardinals. He has more of it than Dizzy Dean. Far from confining his durability estimates to a single season, Burleigh asserts he is good for several more years in the majors and that added weight and improved health will make him just as good a pitcher this year as he was in the memorable World Series against the A's in 1931.

Burleigh Grimes

It's a strange fact that there are three times as many spitball pitchers on one club in the Pacific Coast League as in both of the major circuits today. Grimes is the last survivor in the big show, but Hollywood has Jack Quinn, Clarence Mitchell and Frank Shellenback. Urban Faber is still considering an offer from the Oakland club on the coast. These are the only spitballers still active anywhere.

CALIFORNIA TO HAVE BEST TRACK YEAR

Because California's track and field athletes were beaten in the I. C. 4-A meet last year after winning the championship eight years in succession and in 11 out of 12 straight renewals, Eastern fans figured the Far Western standards had started downward. But coast reports indicate anything else. It is said the material is so abundant and of such a rare quality that California will have the best track season in its history.

When Ben Eastman was setting his best records he was always out by himself, but several other runners are expected to keep right up with him this year. Jimmy LuValle, Negro star at U. C. L. A., isn't going to take anybody's dust. As usual, in starting training for the quarter, he has been concentrating on the short dashes and a trial furlong in 20.8 seconds gives an idea of what may be expected of him. That ranks him with the best sprinters in the world, and shows that in the quarter it will be hard to keep him from getting out in front.

DEATH TAKES CHIEF OF HITLESS WONDERS

One of baseball's most famous figures of earlier years passed on in the death last night of Fielder Allison Jones at the age of 63. As a player and a manager, Jones—the only outstanding sports performer except Battling Nelson with a first name peculiarly appropriate to his game—ranked with the most prominent of his team. He played on two pennant-winning clubs in the National League, at Brooklyn and on two more in the American League at Chicago, hitting above .300 six times, with a top mark of .353 in his first season at Brooklyn in 1896. His greatest fame was gained as manager of the White Sox Hitless Wonders in 1906, who startled the baseball realm by beating the Cubs in the World Series of 1906.

Fielder Jones

Jones came up from a New England League club to join Brooklyn in 1896 and was a familiar figure at old Exposition Park on the Brooklyn club's visits here from that time until the end of the season of 1900. He played on Ned Hanlon's champion Superbas of 1899 and 1900, sharing outfield duties with Willie Keeler, Joe Kelley, John Anderson and Jimmy Sheckard. Fielder joined the White Sox in 1901 and helped them to win the first American League pennant. On June 8, 1904, he was made manager of the White Sox, and in 1906 he piloted them to surprising pennant and World Series victories, though the club was notoriously weak in hitting and depended mainly on the pitching of Ed Walsh, Nick Altrock, Doc White and Nig Smith, the last-named a Pittsburgher; Owen and Patterson were the other hurlers. From August 1 to 25 the club won 19 straight games. Fielder played in the outfield with Hahn and Dougherty. Jones retired after 1908 to enter the lumber business in Seattle. He came back to succeed Branch Rickey as manager of the St. Louis Browns in 1916, but left the game for good in the middle of the 1918 season, when Jimmy Burke supplanted him.

By CARL W. SHATTO

Duquesne Garden's ice will be well carved with steel blades worn by those seeking to carve niches for themselves in the local hockey and speed skating halls of fame during the next few days.

The intensive carving will be inaugurated tonight, when the Pirates meet Carnegie Tech in a City Hockey League game. It will be continued Friday, when the men's, women's, boys' and girls' speed skating championships are to be staged by the Pennsylvania Skating Association, and will be concluded Saturday, when the Pirates will meet the J. Scott Morgans for the City League championship.

The success of this program depends, to a certain extent, upon the Pirates emerging victorious over the Tartans in tonight's skirmish. The Morgans boast eight victories to seven for the Pirates, and the Garden representatives must down the Skibos to bring about a deadlock for the league lead and place a championship stamp on Saturday's fray. It is not likely that they will experience any great amount of difficulty in achieving this aim.

The program for the speed skating tests, on Friday, is made up of one-mile and 440-yard races for men; 440 and 880-yard races for intermediate boys, a 440-yard race for boys, 220 and 440-yard tests for junior boys, 440 and 880-yard races for women, 220 and 440-yard races for intermediate girls, a 440-yard race for girls and an 880-yard race for couples. The racing is to get under way at 7:45, and big fields are assured for all events. The probable lineup for tonight's City League game:

Pirates—		Carnegie Tech—
Rodenbaugh	G	Adamson
McCutcheon	D	Meyer
McGovern	D	Dubin
Davies	C	Dana
Scully	W	Higgons
Conley	W	Finnochio

Pirate spares—McMullen, Burke, Friday, Klenz, McGill, Sills and Schaefer.
Carnegie Tech spares—Lenhoa, Hudson, Bell, Jerge, Wicks, Dickson, McClincy and Kelly.

Canzoneri Victor Over Baby Arizmendi

LOS ANGELES, March 14.—(AP.)—The bid of Baby Arizmendi for honors in the junior-lightweight division has gone down before the ring craftsmanship of a master boxer, Tony Canzoneri, who won a decisive 10-round decision over the Mexican flash he last night. Canzoneri came into the ring at 131 and his opponent three pounds less.

Except for occasional flashes of punching, which Canzoneri quickly suppressed, Arizmendi was on the receiving end of a fast left jab and a punishing right cross most of the evening.

EXPLANATIONS OF RIPLEY'S CARTOONS OF YESTERDAY: PAINT BRUSH WEAR AND TEAR—Although it seems that the mere application of paint with a brush would not appreciably wear the bristles, there is sufficient grit and powdered material in ordinary paint to wear rapidly. Varnish does not contain any fine, gritty substance, and consequently the life of a varnish brush is a hundred-fold greater than that of a paint brush. OVERCOATLESS MAIL CARRIERS.—Few postal mail carriers in all the United States ever wear heavy, long overcoats, although they faithfully continue to perform their duty of delivering mail in all kinds of weather. Atop the portals of the giant New York postoffice appears the motto: "Neither snow, nor rain, nor heat, nor gloom of night stays these couriers from the swift completion of their appointed rounds"—and, although New York City has experienced an all-time record winter for sub-zero temperature and snowfall, these faithful postmen have shiveringly braved it every day and never wear overcoats. They have summer and winter weight uniforms, and protect themselves on zero cold days with sweaters or heavier garments under their regulation suits. Heavy capes or overcoats would greatly handicap the swift performance of their duties.

BRIDGERS HOPE TO AVENGE '33 SETBACK

By JULIUS LEVIN

Two well lubricated scholastic basketball machines, one the defending champion and striving to be the first school to carry off the W. P. I. A. L. title for the third time, the other bidding for its first crown, clash in the Pitt Stadium pavilion tonight in the second semi-final tilt with a place in the final contest Saturday evening awaiting the winner.

Duquesne High School, coached by Ray Henry and the defending champion of the W. P. I. A. L. is the team seeking to be the first to ascend the scholastic basketball throne for the third time, while its opponent, Ambridge, is bent on obtaining its first title.

The Bridge Workers, fresh from their victory over a heralded New Castle quintet, champion of Section III, will have a double objective to lead them on against the Steelers tonight. Realizing they will have the W. P. I. A. L. title within reaching distance if they manage to defeat Duquesne, the Beaver valley passers also have an old score to settle with the Henry-coached team. In last year's tourney Ambridge saw its hopes for the championship shattered by this same Duquesne aggregation, losing to the Steelers in the semi-finals, 30-21.

The championship of the Junior W. P. I. A. L. will be up for settlement at the Charleroi High School tonight when North Braddock Junior High School, champion of Section II, battles Charleroi Junior High School, champion of Section I, in the final game. The teams' records:

PASO ROBLES, Cal., March 14.—Having missed the first opportunity to win the cigars that go with winning an inter-camp game from the Pirate Regulars, Doc Crandall and his Yanigans prepared for a pair of hectic practice sessions today in a determined frame of mind. There will be no game today, Manager Gibson not wishing to overwork his hurlers, but another contest will be staged tomorrow and one on Friday. The Buccos will break camp after the Friday game and take to the road for an exhibition tour.

The Regulars won, 4 to 1, in a 5-inning fray yesterday. They scored their solitary point in the first inning on singles by Jensen and Brubaker with Young's sacrifice sandwiched between the two hits. Two more little blows were bunched in the second round, but Southpaw Lloyd Johnson settled down and allowed only one more safety, a double by Finney in the fifth.

Johnson singled in the third inning and carried the tying run across on a double by Lloyd Waner, who also scored on a fielding error by Hoyt. Traynor hit for two bases in the fourth with Bill Harris pitching and went home in front of Vaughan who smacked the sphere out of the lot. The last of fifth was not necessary, but it was ordered played anyway.

Harry Ruby, musical composer, a guest of Johnny Harris, had on a Pirate uniform and was asked to bat for Lindstrom while Jensen, Young and Roettger were called in from the outfield. With a clear track, Ruby tripled to center, but he remained on third until the inning was finished. Harris had yielded four blows, but the three-bagger was a burlesque. Hoyt was touched for three safeties.

Lloyd Waner was at his old stand in midfield and Lindstrom played left for the Regulars. They are slated to hold these positions when the season opens. Traynor was the only athlete to negotiate two hits.

DEATH TAKES FIELDER JONES

PORTLAND, Ore., March 14—(AP.)—Baseball has lost another great leader—Fielder Jones, who gave the game the immortal "Hitless Wonders," the Chicago White Sox of 1906.

The man who led a team of feeble hitters to an American League championship and followed with a world series triumph over the Chicago Cubs died last night from heart disease.

He was born at Shinglehouse, Pa., August 13, 1871. His first job in organized baseball was as catcher and outfielder in the Oregon State League. He played with Corning, N. Y., and Binghamton, N. Y., and after a season with Springfield, Mass., went to Brooklyn, where he was a star outfielder for five years.

In the winter of 1902-03 he signed a contract with John T. Brush's New York Giants, but the agreement was voided and he became a member of the White Sox. When Jimmy Callahan resigned as manager in 1904, Jones took the reins. He resigned in 1908, but came back in 1916 to manage the St. Louis Browns. In 1918 he resigned again.

CITY MAY GET CUP FINAL

The Heidelberg Soccer Club will meet the Chicago Slovaks in the Western final of the national amateur cup competition either here or in Chicago Sunday, April 8.

Chicago defeated the Cincinnati kickers, at Cincy last Sunday.

It is believed that the cup committee will give Pittsburgh consideration especially, from a financial angle. The amateurs in Chicago face the fact that a professional club plays each Sunday, and usually stages a double header.

The game figures to draw more money in Pittsburgh, and that point will count heavily with the committee.

BASEBALL BRIEFS

ORLANDO, Fla.—The Brooklyn Dodgers have reached the ultimatum stage in their dealings with Ray Benge, veteran right-handed pitcher, who is holding out at his home in Huntsville, Tex. A telegram has been sent to Benge warning him if he doesn't report by Saturday he'll have to condition himself at his own expense.

FORT MYERS, Fla.—Pinky Higgins, last remaining holdout among the Philadelphia Athletics, came to terms with Manager Connie Mack over a soda fountain, agreeing to a $6,000 contract. This is one-third more than the Texan got last season. The last of the Mackmen to report, Bob Kline, leaves Columbus, O., today for the training camp.

BRADENTON, Fla.—Two veteran left-handers, Bill Hallahan and Bill Walker, and the talkative Dizzy Dean were nominated by Manager Frankie Frisch to face the New York Giants today in the first inter-club game of the season for the St. Louis Cardinals.

SARASOTA, Fla.—With General Manager Eddie Collins due in camp today, Manager Bucky Harris is in the gratifying position of being able to report that all of his players have signed on the dotted line and are out there giving the "old college try." Carl Reynolds, ex-St. Louis Brownie, was the last member of the squad to check in.

LOS ANGELES, Cal.—(INS.)—The Chicago White Sox held an uphill 6-to-5 victory over the Coast League Angles today, tory over the Coast League Angels today, what they had. Otho Nitcholas and Dale Mills were wobbly, but Phil Gallivan allowed only two hits in three innings, and Johnny Pomorski, Montreal recruit, went three innings unscathed.

AVALON, Cal.—(INS.)—An arm injury, result of a wrist fracture last fall, today threatened to cost the Chicago Cubs the services of Stanley Hack, young third baseman. The arm is practically dead.

SWIM MEET TONIGHT

An exhibition by Miss Lenore Kight, national champion, and three Allegheny Mountain Association, A. A. U., championship events feature a swimming program at the Carnegie Library Club, Homestead, tonight.

COMISH BANS BOXERS, SETS HEARING

There will be a speedy showdown in the local amateur boxing situation as a result of last night's debacle at a show staged by the Workingmen's Beneficial Union, 1307 Rescue street, when three teams refused to permit their boxers to compete against representatives of the Pittsburgh Lyceum, following which an impromptu card was put on with Lyceum boxers appearing against each other in five bouts.

Dr. W. D. McClelland, state athletic commissioner, said this morning he has arranged for a meeting between the Commission and the A. A. U. authorities at the next regular meeting of the Commission in Philadelphia, one week from today. W. S. Haddock, president, and John T. Taylor, secretary-treasurer of the Allegheny Mountain Association, of the A. A. U., will be notified to appear.

BOXERS SUSPENDED

Meanwhile the clubs and boxers and coaches who refused to go through with bouts last night stand suspended by the Commission. They refused to compete because they feared suspension by the A. A. U., despite Commissioner McClelland's assurance that the Commission would protect them and would see to it that one of the conditions of any peace between the Commission, which controls both professional and amateur boxing in the state and the A. A. U., would be the immediate reinstatement of any boxers suspended by the A. A. U. as a result of the present breach.

The clubs which withdrew from last night's show were the Willow Club, North Boroughs A. C. and the Boys' Club of Pittsburgh.

A. A. U. BANS LYCEUM

The A. A. U. suspended the Pittsburgh Lyceum boxers for withdrawing from the A. M. A. junior championships at the Keystone Athletic Club recently, leading to the existing situation. Commissioner McClelland has sided with the Lyceum, contending that it is in the right in the controversy, and has ordered that no A. A. U. boycott be declared against Lyceum boxers.

The summary of last night's bouts:

118-pound class—Jake Louder, Brashear Settlement A. C., defeated Bill Henry, Pittsburgh Lyceum; 135-pound class—Harry Krause, Pittsburgh Lyceum, defeated Russ Trent, Brashear Settlement A. C.; Rusty Davis, unattached, defeated Nick Turbin, Brashear Settlement A. C.; 147-pound class—Frank Herp, Pittsburgh Lyceum, defeated George Harris, Manchester A. C.; 160 pound class—Jimmy Auth, Pittsburgh Lyceum, defeated Vick Wickets, unattached.

A change in the American and International Lacrosse Association schedule will result in the Yellow Jackets meeting the Chicago Blue Ribbons here tomorrow night, instead of Saturday, as originally billed. Other activities at Motor Square Garden necessitated the revision of the card.

Smith and Van Avery, former members of the Buffalo Indians who were in the Detroit lineup the last time the Tigers appeared here, will be in the Ribbons' lineup tomorrow. They were sent to the Chicago club in a deal which will involve all league member teams before it is concluded, probably late this week.

Clarke, Davidson, DeGray and Stoker, former members of the White Sox who also figure in the deal, helped the Tigers hand the Jackets a 21-16 setback in their last start, at Detroit Saturday night.

BETWEEN ROUNDS

Freddie Miller, N. B. A. featherweight champion, worked out in the Pittsburgh Lyceum gymnasium yesterday afternoon and will repeat daily this week for his battle with Mose Butch in Motor Square Garden next Monday night.

Vince Dundee's next bout, a non-title affair, will be with Al McCoy in Boston, March 21.

Eight amateur bouts are listed at the Spartan Club in Wilkinsburg tonight. The pairings include Billy Miller vs. Gene Gibbons, Joe Vizzinni vs. Alex Klonsky, Leo Sweeney vs. George Martza, George Lesko vs. Ossie Harris, Mike Curry vs. Joe Louder and Joe Sulk vs. Matt Ozeniak.

Harry Weekley will box Charley Burns and Joey Bazzone will meet Billy Holt in two eight-round preliminaries on the Freddie Miller-Mose Butch card at Motor Square Garden next Monday night.

Ordinary scores marked the opening of the twenty-seventh annual Tri-State tenpin tournament on the Auditorium alley, East Liberty, last night with the Westinghouse No. 3 team totaling 2,477 pins to take the lead in the five-men event, making it eligible for the $10 booster prize. Jack Kelly, lead-off man for the Westinghouse No. 2 team, had the honor of rolling the first strike in the tourney. A capacity crowd witnessed the event.

The Pittsburgher-Pennsylvania Railroad crew finished second with 2,448, and the Auditorium Rainbows followed with 2,432. Westinghouse No. 1 and 2 team rolled 2,390 and 2,413 scores respectively.

Only five keglers were able to topple over 200 pins in a single contest. J. Landau's 229 was the best. L. P. Dundorf had a 225 tally, C. E. Shearer 213, R. H. Flinn 208 and W. Miller 204. The Westinghouse No. 3 team rolled the highest single game mark, 896.

The first doubles matches will be rolled this evening and shortly afterward team matches will be resumed. Last night's scores:

THE LINEUP

Duquesne.		Wash-Jeff.

Referee—Olsen, Indiana. Umpire—Leonard, Tech.

By JESS CARVER

Last roundup time for the local college basketballers is at hand. It's more than merely at hand, it's here. Pitt and the Dukes wind up their regular campaigns tonight, the Dukes at home and Pitt in Cleveland. Carnegie finished last Sat'day against Georgetown in Washington.

Wash-Jeff provides the opposition for Duquesne's crack team in the Dukes' Gymnasium. About all the Wash-Jeffers figure to get out of tonight's tussle will be a bus ride and their guarantee. They couldn't hold the Red and Blue under 50 points on their own floor and can't hope to do any better tonight, especially as eight of the lads they'll be facing complete their varsity careers with the fracas.

EIGHT STARS THROUGH

Art Feldman, Dudey Moore, Jim MacDougall, Irv Brenner and Marty Reiter, of the regulars, and Audley Davies, Mike Bayusic and Joe Zerilla, reserves, are the lads making their final college appearances. With the passing of Brenner, Feldman, MacDougall, Moore and Reiter goes one of the best college teams ever to perform hereabouts, and one of the smoothest athletic teams ever to draw a cheer from a Duquesne crowd.

Coach Chick Davies, who completes his tenth season as basketball coach of the Dukes, will start the five seniors, keeping Paul Birch, junior ace, on the bench.

Pitt meets Western Reserve in Cleveland tonight and anticipates a tough evening. The Panthers have not had a real practice session for the past three weeks. Claire Cribbs, brilliant center, is out of the hospital and able to hobble about, but won't play tonight. Indeed, he will be lucky to get into action on the southern exhibition tour the Panthers are to make next week.

MAY WIN 13TH

A victory for Pitt tonight will give the Panthers their thirteenth consecutive triumph. If they can add the three or four games to be played in the South, they'll be set to start off next season and keep 'em running.

Provided the gridiron is in shape, Duquesne will start its spring football drills tomorrow, with Head Coach Joe Bach and Backfield Coach Christy Flanagan in charge. If the weather isn't propitious, action will be held over until Friday afternoon.

BOXERS SELECTED

Placing a man in each weight division, West Virginia's title-winning Mountaineers lead in the list of eligibles for the annual individual championships of the Eastern Intercollegiate Boxing Conference championships.

The battling will take place Friday and Saturday nights in West Virginia University's field house.

Five of Pitt's Panthers have been selected, along with four men from Duquesne and three each from Temple, Bucknell, Washington and Jefferson and Carnegie Tech. The selections follow:

Foreigners Win Regatta Honors

PALM BEACH, Fla., March 14.—(AP.)—Chances of the United States to roar off with the international championship in the class outboard tests had dropped considerably today.

Off to a belated start, invaders from France and Spain took both qualifying races, the Marquis De La Gandara taking the first and Miguel Barella, of Spain, the second.

Tilden and Vines Victors in Singles

CINCINNATI, March 14.—(AP.)—Bill Tilden and Ellsworth Vines defeated their French rivals in the singles in a professional exhibition last night, but lost the doubles.

Tilden conquered Martin Plaa in straight sets, 6-3, 8-6, 8-6, and Vines turned back Henri Cochet, 3-6, 6-3, 6-4, 6-2. The Americans lost the doubles, 6-1, 6-4.

MEMORY TEST

TODAY'S QUESTIONS

1—What local university has had football coaches hailing from Bucknell, Princeton, Pitt and Notre Dame?

4—Who was the Scotch lad who began his career as a professional at the Pittsburgh Golf Club and later became an international figure in golf?

SPORT VIGNETTES

Believe it or not, but Willie Spencer, the bicycle racing promoter and former sprint champion, who is here to arrange for Pittsburgh's six-day event at Duquesne Garden beginning one week from next Sunday night, was on the boat with our own Al Grayber and Johnny Kilbane when they went to England some years ago . . . It's a small world.

There will be no more semi-finaling after the main bout at local indoor boxing shows . . . They tried it at the last two shows at Motor Square Garden and discovered the stunt is too much anti-climax in nature, and that the windup should be what it is called, meaning the concluding bout . . . The idea belongs to the outdoor arenas, anyway, having been introduced to foil threatening weather.

A New York official arrived in Cambridge, Mass., last Saturday evening to referee the Harvard-Cornell basketball game, found the gym locked and dark, and, unable to communicate with any campus authorities, called a Boston newspaper, and it gave him the score, the game having been played in the afternoon . . . Sorta dumb? . . . George T. Dunlap, Jr., the national amateur champion, is the first scratch player in some seasons on the Metropolitan Golf Association (New York district) handicap list.

The 1933 amateur middleweight boxing champion of Philadelphia, died the other day from double pneumonia at the age of 19 . . . He was Thomas Rector . . . The youngster had only two professional bouts . . . That Freddie Miller-Mose Butch fight at Motor Square Garden next Monday night is between two southpaws, but one of them hails from Cincinnati, so that's Ohio.—HARRY KECK.

SCOTT ROUTED BY KEN HIGH

An ambitious Scott High School basketball team, champion of Section VIII, ran afoul a fast-breaking New Kensington aggregation, champion of Section I, in the Pitt Stadium Pavilion last night and passed out of the W. P. I. A. L. championship picture as the Allegheny valley floor machine drove its way to a convincing 45-23 victory and a place in the title game, scheduled next Saturday on the same court. The contest, one of the most lopsided of the eliminations played to date, drew the largest crowd of the series, almost 2,500 witnessing the slaughter.

As a result of the triumph, New Kensington, champion of the W. P. I. A. L. in 1930, qualifies to engage the survivor in tonight's Ambridge-Duquesne battle for the title Saturday night.

OLD RECORD STANDS

Scott High, essaying to emulate the record established by Wilkinsburg High School in 1922 when it carried off the football and basketball championships of the W. P. I. A. L. in succession, the only school to accomplish this feat since the league was organized in 1913, was no match for the smooth-working champions of Section I.

Passing with bullet-like speed and with receivers on hand at all points to handle the ball, New Kensington had Scott High bewildered as it worked the ball under the hoops to permit its sharpshooters to make comparatively easy shots for field goals. New Kensington took the lead at the outset and was never headed.

Once they obtained the ball, the Valley passers made the defense of their opponents look like a sieve. They had no trouble breaking through and at times had the Reedmen groggy as they passed the ball back and forth before shooting for the hoop. New Kensington bagged 16 field goals, twice as many as the losers, and sank 13 points from the charity mark. They registered seven straight fouls, six in a row by Joe Ross, before they missed.

TEAM PLAY FEATURES

To pick an individual star out of that array that Coach Glock sent against the Section VIII champions would prove a real problem, for every boy in the New Kensington lineup played his position to perfection. The lineup:

COURT STARS FACE TESTS

By PAUL G. SULLIVAN

Quarter-final competition comprises this afternoon's card of play in both the city class A squash racquets title tournament at the Keystone Athletic Club and the Allegheny Mountain Association, A. A. U., junior singles handball championship event at the Y. M. H. A.

All four tussles in the squash bracket of eight promise pyrotechnics. Heading the list, Champion McCook Reed, Keystone ace, engages Frank McClintock, ever formidaable P. A. A. veteran, in upper half debate. In the same division, Joe Oliver, cagy Pittsburgh Golf Club star meets Charley Fagan, K. A. C. tactician, while in the lower portion of the draw Henry Blaxter, Harvard luminary, takes on his fellow-Keystoner, Bill Bickel, and Dr. Dave O'Loughlin, Winged Head star and second seeded entrant, battles Ed Seifert, slim Princetonian.

Meanwhile only two of the four third round glove melees will be reeled off today, Carl Debberthine, rangy Downtown Y. M. C. A. favorite, meeting Lou Gendelberg, Y. M. H. A. darkhorse, at 5:15, and Mike Hrycko, another clever Downtowner, encountering Sam Wolf, Bellefield contender, at 6 o'clock. The remaining jousts are set for tomorrow.

Only one squash seance was accounted for by actual combat yesterday, Fagan trimming his clubmate, Jean Caspar, 15-12, 18-15, 15-11, in a well played contest. Three additional scheduled skirmishes went via the default route, Reed, Oliver, and Bickel advancing by withdrawal of Larry Semans, of Uniontown; Jack Evans, of P. A. A., and Dave Gilmore, of the Allegheny Country Club, respectively.

Debberthine registered the upset of yesterday's handball seance with brilliant spurt to down Parker Smith, K. A. C. hope, 6-21, 21-20, 21-16. The summary:

Second round—Dave Olbum defeated Sol Ash, 9-21, 21-9, 21-12. William Kern defeated Max Podolsky, 21-10, 21-11. Lou Gendelberg defeated Dr. Sam Alpern, 21-19, 10-21, 21-18. Carl Debberthine defeated J. Parker Smith, 6-21, 21-20, 21-16. Dr. Phil Lapidus defeated Ulrich Schoenberger, 16-21, 21-13, 21-8. Frank Koubek defeated Emanuel Mandell, 21-15, 21-13. M. C. Hrycko won from William McGowan, Jr., by default. Sam Wolf won from Bob Clark by default.

CITY LEAGUE TO SET ROSTER

By TOM BIRKS

The City Baseball League is expected to close its roster at the second meeting of the circuit in the Hotel Henry tonight at 8:30.

There are five holdovers from last year already in the fold, including Books, the defending champions, Homewood - Brushton, Dormont, Whitaker and Brentwood.

The last meeting of the league was in the nature of a feeler, and the real business session will swing into action at tonight's gathering. Just what the managers will do with Whitaker remains to be seen. Dutch Ackerman, sponsor of the club, has indicated that his team also is going to play in an independent league, scheduled to meet tomorrow night at Wilkinsburg.

In past years the City League would not consider a club with other league affiliations, and there has been no indication that the board of directors has changed its stand. Ackerman will have to guarantee that his obligations to the City League will be fulfilled first. With the City League having three games scheduled every other week, it is hard to see how any club will be able to play in two circuits and fill all dates.

The managers probably will decide upon either the Mt. Oliver Business Men's Club or the Pittsburgh Independents for the remaining berth.

Sandlot organization work went ahead last night. Steve Cox banded together his leading league, Immaculate Heart, Brushton, the Knaple's, Krogers, Ambassadors, Scott Morgans and Hazelwood, with another club should make up a real circuit.

Director Mamula organized the South Hills League with eight clubs and the Steel City with seven.

Directors were chosen for the new County Independent Baseball League last night. They are Attorney C. E. Theobald, Deacon Phillippe, Wilbur Cooper, Otto Jordan, Honus Wagner and Ralph Waner. Clubs desiring franchises are asked to call Ralph Waner at the Sharpsburg Postoffice.

STOCK MARKET QUIET, STEADY TO FIRM

March 14—Stocks and staples displayed no run-away tendencies today, but neither did they show any inclination to yield their steady to firm positions.

Predominant bullish sentiment appeared to be tempered by caution. Washington developments, including efforts to settle various strike problems, apparently were the principal market influences.

Bonds again advanced, a number of issues recording new highs for the past two years or more. Wheat did a little better and cottin, sliver and rubber futures were about even. Foreign exchanges were again featureless.

Most of the rail shares got up around a point. Among these were Santa Fe, Union Pacific and New York Central. Liggett & Myers B gained 2 and the other tobaccos improved. The aircrafts were relatively active with Douglas, Sperry, Curtis Wright and Wright Aeronautical firming fractionally to around a point. Consolidated Gas and some of the other power stocks were up about as much. Case, Chrysler, Western Union, General Motors and Johns-Manville were moderately higher. American Telephone, ex-dividend, was virtually unchanged, as was United States Steel. The metals and alcohols were about the same.

Failure of the St. Lawrence waterway treaty to receive the necessary two-thirds approval of the Senate did not cause any unusual stir in the equities which might have been affected. Recent firmness of the power group was said to have reflected the belief that the treaty would have hand sledding in Congress.

Wall Street was inclined to attach more importance to the automobile labor hearings that started today than to the stock exchange control bill or to the growing movement for shorter working hours and higher wages.

While hope was expressed that the strike situation would be settled, most market commentators were of the opinion that some stock groups would continue to hesitate until threats of a tie-up in the motor division are obviated.

The action of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce in recommending to its members the inauguration of a 36-hour week with compensating wage increases was seen as a step toward co-operation with the administration in its campaign to expand employment. Much interest was expressed in the announcement of the Ford company that it had already adopted the higher wages-shorter hours program.

In some quarters it was believed that, while corporate profits would be somewhat curtailed as a result of the labor realignment, the enlargement of public purchasing power might make up part of the difference.

Buying in the rail stocks was attributed not only to prospects that the labor difficulties here would be adjusted, but to early estimates that freight car loadings for the week ended March 10, will show more than a seasonal gain and will record a record advance over the corresponding week of the preceding year when business was virtually at a standstill.

WHEAT PRICES CLOSE EASY

CHICAGO, March 14.—Aided by increasing reports of bullish crop conditions, wheat values moved upward today, but purchasing was mostly in small lots, and later the rise subsided.

Weakness of the Winnipeg wheat market acted as a drag on prices here. Another weight on the Chicago wheat market was spreading transactions between Kansas City and Chicago, with the buying done at Kansas City and the selling done here.

Wheat closed easy, unchanged ⅜ lower compared with yesterday's finish, May, 88¼-⅜, corn ⅛-⅝ down, oats ⅛ off to ⅛ up, and provisions unchanged to an advance of 2 cents.

Jap-British Cotton Confab Breaks Down

LONDON, March 14.—(AP.)—A definite breakdown of the cotton marketing negotiations which have been dragging on here for weeks between British and Japanese textile interests was announced today.

Sir Thomas Burlow, speaking for the Lancashire interests conducting the negotiations for Great Britain, said:

"We cannot carry the discussions any further and shall report to the government."

The conferences were intended to settle the problems of the keen competition of the two divergent interests in all world markets.

Tax Burden Oppresses Business

By B. C. FORBES

I WAS recently invited to a poker game. It was preceded by a very swell dinner, which everyone greatly enjoyed.

Mr. Forbes

But when we sat down at the card table the "host" announced there would be a "kitty" to defray all expenses. From every "pot" he took a liberal percentage—a very heavy percentage, I thought.

At the end of the game the "kitty" was the only big winner. All the rest of us, with one exception, were losers. Had we continued long enough, all of us would have been busted.

TODAY THERE is going on a national game with a "kitty" that threatens to have similar results unless the rakeoff is drastically reduced.

"One way and another Kroger will pay or absorb during 1934 42 separate and distinct classes of taxes, direct and indirect, and they will approximate 89 per share, or 7.8 per cent to sales. Or, putting in another way, our taxes for 1934 will amount to 34.3 per cent on invested capital.

"The burden thus imposed has been and will be carried but it affects not only your company's ability to earn net income and pay adequate salaries and wages, but in a broader way, it affects the economies of distribution which it is the object of chain stores to accomplish, that is, it increases prices to the consumer."

THE FEDERAL government has been and still is providing an exceedingly bountiful repast. The guests number millions—more millions than ever before received legacies from any individual, or institution, or government on the face of the earth. And more millions of dollars than ever before are being spent.

IF THERE are to be no sizeable profits earned by business and if all large salaries are to be abolished, where, where, where are tax payments to come from, adequate to meet the unprecedentedly multitudinous billions now being so rapidly and lavishly spent?

CROWTHER HITS TARIFF PLAN

International News Service.

WASHINGTON, March 14—Declaring that foreign trade is of little importance to the United States, Samuel Crowther, writer and economist, today told the Ways and Means Committee that the presidential tariff bargaining bill should be revised. He said:

"American economy must be recognized as self-contained, and any bill referring to international commerce must be based on that understanding.

"A provision should be added granting power of emergency revision to the executive, but with a review board of some kind, so that there might be an appeal from any executive order.

Crowther pointed out that American exports during the prosperous 1927-1929 period amounted to only six per cent of the national income. The figures probably would fall to around three per cent if inter-company relationships were eliminated, he said.

Stocks of Gasoline Show Gain for Week

NEW YORK, March 14—Reports to the American Petroleum Institute indicate an increase of 1,020,000 barrels in storage of motor fuel last week as compared with the revised figure for the preceding week. Stocks on hand March 10, totaled 58,003,000 barrels.

Refineries ran to stills 2,157,000 barrels of crude oil daily last week, with an operating rate of 64½ per cent, comparing with 2,205,000 barrels daily and a 66 per cent rate in the week preceding.

Chickie's Daughter

By ELENORE MEHERIN

CHAPTER XVII

Chickie stood at Pippin's bed staring at the face which, in the moonlight, looked so pale. The girl's head rested on her arm and her hair was a flutter of gold. But she didn't stir.

Then Chickie ran her fingers over the soft white forehead and through the hair. Pippin drew a deep breath and jerked her hand a little.

With cold alarm Chickie thought:

"She knows I'm here. She's pretending to be asleep."

She moved to Pippin's window and stood a long while watching the silvery fall of light to the dark waters. She thought distractedly: "Something has happened," and wouldn't admit even to her secret thought the depth of that fear.

Early the next morning Chickie heard the girl stirring about her room. She opened the door and called softly:

"May I come in?"

"Oh, hello, mother . . . I wasn't at all tired. The party was a washout and we came home early. I've a lot of studying to do and thought I'd pound the volumes and be through with it."

Tells About Party

"I heard you return. You got to sleep in a great hurry. Your light was on as I came down the hall. When I stepped into the room everything was dark. I almost thought you were pretending, Pippin, dear."

"After the party, mother? Why, the very idea!"

"And I stooped down to kiss you. There were tears on your face."

"You must have dreamed it. I never heard anything so funny."

Chickie happened just then to glance at her daughter's face. It was perfectly white and the eyes had a hard, dark defiance.

"Oh, well, mother, it was one of those messy parties where people get terribly drunk. Strange men come up and put their arms around you. Girls you know pass out. It's true, I felt pretty cut up about it.

"But I didn't want to talk. Nothing happened to me and I'm just a fool to get excited. I was awake last night, but I didn't want to bawl in your face and that's the way I felt. It just makes you ashamed."

Work to Do

"Oh, mother . . ."

For a long moment she hid her face, her arms tight about Chickie's neck. She gave a high, sobby laugh.

"Thanks for the weeping place. Better now. Will you send my breakfast up? I've got to dig awfully hard today."

"Yes—but plenty still before me."

"Aren't you going to the hospital for David? He expects you. He has all those specimens you were asking about."

"You better phone and tell him."

She nodded, but went up to her room without doing it.

That night Chickie passed the small room in the hall where the telephone was. She heard Pippin say:

"Oh, Bill, please let me off! I'm so tired. I can't go dancing tonight." Then almost sobbing: "Oh, no, it's nothing you did. I'm just fed up on parties."

Overhears Daughter

Chickie felt limp and leaned against the wall. There came a long pause. Bill must be begging very hard. Pippin became excited:

"I know it's your last night. I can't help it. I can't go—I can't. I don't want to ride. Leave me alone, Bill, please. I'm writing a paper. Say goodby now. I won't have time tomorrow. Oh! all right, then! Come in the morning."

She looked white and beaten. Then she saw Chickie. Her eyes blazed.

"Mother! You were listening!"

"You left the door open and you talked very loud." Chickie lifted a hand. It felt terribly heavy. She pressed it against her throat. "Pippin, what is it"—oh, won't you tell me!"

"What are you getting so dramatic about, mother? I've just been gadding too much. I want to study. Last night left me with a bad hangover. That's all."

"Don't take it out on your father, Pippin. You scarcely answered him at dinner. And you know how you can hurt him."

"Oh mother, please don't pick on me. Ever you get cross once in a while."

"And don't take it out on Bill," Chickie went on, driven. "Unless he has done something to really deserve it."

"He has nothing to do with it. Can't I get down in the dumps once in my life? Surely you don't expect me to go around in high G all the time."

"Don't be cruel to Bill. You mustn't send him away wounded and crushed. You can't pamper a selfish mood to that extent."

"Selfish!" Pippin whisked the hair clear from her forehead. "I don't care if I am selfish. I'm tired of men. Let them be wounded if they want. I have a paper to do. It's in French and hard."

"I don't want help . . . oh mother, please don't stand there with that grieved look. I can't help it that I feel edgey. There's nothing wrong, really there isn't."

Sunday morning, in a red sport suit and a little red hat, Pippin waited for Bill. She looked white and her eyes brooded. But she came sweetly to her mother:

"Sorry I hurt you, yesterday, Helena. I'm not going to be mean to Bill. It's his last day—a lovely day, isn't it?"

Sees Bill

"I have promised the day to Bill."

"The whole day?" said David coming over and grinning down at her. "And you ran out on me yesterday. I had a treat for you, too—something you've never seen before."

She smiled then—a hard, coldly defiant smile. It was the most pathetic thing Chickie had ever seen on her young, vivid face.

She said:

"There's the bell. Goodby."

And went out, kissing neither of them.

The weight in Chickie's heart was a cold, heavy stone.

Bill took Pippin's hand and rushed her up to the secluded hill where the trees were thick. He caught her in his arms.

"Darling, what in the world is the matter? Why are you treating me like this?"

"What have I done, Bill?"

"You were going to run home the other night alone. You didn't even look for me. Something terrible must have happened. Why don't you tell me? Why are you so cold and remote now?"

A Different Person

"You're a different person, Pippin. You're all changed."

She looked deep into his eyes.

"You're right. I am a different person. I'm not interested in parties nor in love. Not any more. I want to get away by myself. I don't want to have anything to do with anyone. I'm awfully sorry to treat you like this. Maybe you have a faint idea of something or other."

"What are you talking about, Pippin? What do I know? Have I done anything?"

"No—you haven't."

"What has hurt you so frightfully?"

"Don't be silly. I'm not hurt. Let's not waste the lovely day talking about it."

She took his hand and they walked on till they came to that hill where they had stood that moonlit night just a year ago.

"I never in the world meant to take it out on you, Bill. Now you're imagining fearful things. Don't! But something happened at the party. I don't want to talk about it. I'd rather die than talk about it. It has nothing to do with anyone else. But I'm a moody fool, and it got me down."

"You mean Dorothy passed out after you got her upstairs and Jim Keats behaved so shamefully?"

"All that—then mother knew I wasn't asleep. She caught me crying."

He looked at her with misgiving.

"Is this really all, Pippin? You are telling me the truth?"

"Yes, all."

"Then listen . . . no matter whatever happens, even if something awful happened to you, even if the worst thing you can imagine happened, I'd come from the ends of the earth. I'd want you till the day that I die. Will you remember this, Pippin?"

She turned her head from him. After a long while:

"Maybe I know what you're saying, Bill. Maybe you know all you're saying. I love you for it anyway and thanks."

"Oh, look at me, Pippin, let me see your eyes."

But they were full of tears. He folded her in his arms, kissed her lips and her eyes and laid his young cheek with a sob on hers.

THE GIANT PYTHON THAT REFUSED FOOD (Character Bldg.)

Director Blair ordered forced feeding. Six husky guards were needed to straighten its coils, while the veterinarian pushed a skinned rabbit down the throat. The python didn't like it, though its life was saved.

Teachers often have to force mental food and even if you resent it like the python, you benefit.

DISRUPTED GREECE CONQUERED BY MACEDONIA—CONQUEROR ASSASSINATED

Since the victory over Persia (479 B. C.), Athens won economic advantages at cost, especially of Sparta, the political center of Greece. Rivalry caused the Peloponnesian wars (459-445 and 431-404 B. C.) between Athens and Sparta, each allied with other Greek states. At the close, not only Athen's power was destroyed, but Greece virtually ruined, a ready prey to any invader.

King Philip II, of Macedonia, attacked and decisively defeated Greece in the battle of Chaeronea (338 B. C.), becoming her master. Molding the Greek states into a league under his rule, Philip prepared a united attack against Persia, when at the marriage festivities of his daughter he was assassinated (336 B. C.). STERILIZATION OF WATER, A HEALTH REQUIREMENT

Bacteria in drinking water may cause typhoid, cholera and other diseases. Filtering, though reducing greatly, makes water not free of bacteria; hence sterilization (killing of bacteria) is mandatory. Sterilization is done in households by simply boiling the water, and on large scale by ultra violet irradiation (mercury vapor lamps with quartz bulbs, used in special cases) or by oxidizing (burning) bacteria.

One method of oxidation (unsatisfactory) is spraying water into air (above left); another, safer method is mixing water with ozone (O3); a third is to add calcium hypochlorite; a fourth and most efficient is to dissolve liquid chlorine in it (0.3 to 0.6 parts per million).

JAMES OGLETHORPE DEALING JUSTLY WITH INDIANS

The native inhabitants of the Southern English Colonies were the Cherokee and Creek Indians, successors of a superior race. Their lands had been penetrated by De Soto in 1540; Spaniards worked their mines; later the territory was included in the "Carolina" charter to the eight lords. In 1732 the lands between Savannah and Altamaha rivers were established as Georgia, King George II granting a charter for it to Gen. James Oglethorpe, George Whitefield and John and Charles Wesley as trustees, whose aims were to provide a refuge for needy, destitute persons, orphans and debtors.

Gen. Oglethorpe, who landed in 1732 and founded the town Savannah, was a zealous governor. Aided generously by Great Britain, he could not make a success of the colony, handicapped by economic difficulties (Negro labor, rum industry prohibited besides other restrictions) and political turmoils, Georgia being a buffer colony between British and Spanish possessions.

In 1752 the charter expired and the colony was surrendered to the British Crown. But its founder lived long enough (1785) to see his colony free, its independence acknowledged by Britain. (U. S. History)

THE LEAD STORAGE BATTERY

The Plante' type of battery consists of lead plates in sulphuric acid solution (electrolite) within insulating (mostly hard rubber) containers. Connecting the plates with the source of direct current, those connected to the positive terminal oxidize becoming lead dioxide (PbO2); the plates connected to the negative pole remain lead, but become spongy; specific gravity of electrolite rises. The battery becomes charged.

50-80% of this electric charge can be recovered as electric energy in discharging the battery by connecting its poles with a conductor. The chemical changes caused by the charge in the plates and in the electrolite are reversed during discharge; energy is liberated as electromotive force (about 2 volts a cell), setting the free electrons into motion: current flows.

If battery cells are in series (plus terminals of one cell connected to minus of the other), battery voltage is the sum of the cell-voltages. Three cells give 6 volts.

The Faure type battery has plates made by pasting lead oxide (PbO) to lead-antimony frames. By charging, the + plates become PbO2 and the — plates Pb. Above: Assembly of a Faure type battery, generally used for automobile ignition. (Automobile) (31—III—B)

Baseball Is in the Air

Red Sox says they are going to cop the pennant. Well, we want to be there when that happens even if it's postponed.

Yanks are waiting for Babe Ruth to get back into shape. The boys are getting tired of honorable mention. New York has three major league baseball parks starting with the Polo Grounds and cancelling the rest of the trip. Poor old Brooklyn is having trouble ever since they deported Uncle Wilbert Robinson.

Every time Connie Mack gets a perfect collection of rare stamps he puts it up at auction. Connie turned baseball into a used-car business. He will buy or sell.

Detroit is so strong in the field the boys don't like to lose time at the bat. They get put out quick so they can rush back on the grass and show off.

the strawberries on the cake but they will have to strengthen their pitching staffs. We read that somewhere. We ain't seen a baseball game in two years.

Washington, of course, was the best team in the American League last year. But now that they are going to sell beer in baseball parks again we are afraid that the whole thing will turn out to be a night club in the day time.

When we were covering baseball down in Washington about a slab of a century ago there was a rumor that Griffith had traded a pitcher to Cantillion for a bird dog. Clark always denied this. But it wasn't a bad exchange. When a bird dog has pups they belong to her manager.

Chicago has a couple of teams that never seem to get started in the spring. Either the boys train too far away or they come back too soon. That town is mad about baseball among other things.

We ain't predicting the winner of the pennant. We can't wait until next October to find out we are wrong. We like to know it right away.

International Highways

A Road From Canada to Panama, Plus Transcontinental Roads, Would Promote Security.

President Roosevelt has done a praiseworthy thing in transmitting promptly to Congress the report of the Bureau of Public Roads on the proposed inter-American motor highway to connect the United States with Mexico and Central America.

After a three years' survey in which the countries along the projected route joined, the bureau pronounces the plan "entirely feasible."

"The expenditure of funds necessary to complete the undertaking," says the report of the bureau, "would give employment to many thousands of laborers, now idle, in the countries traversed, put money in circulation, increase purchasing power and raise the standard of living."

The effect of this highway in promoting trade and in creating cordial relations and good neighborliness are also set forth at length.

The highway will extend from Nuevo Laredo, on the border between the United States and Mexico, to Panama City, a distance of 3,250 miles, in the course of which it will cross no less than six countries.

This project makes all the more important the building of a great north and south highway from the Canadian border of the United States to the Mexican line—a project which the Hearst papers have long and earnestly advocated.

The work contemplated in the present report of the Bureau of Public Roads goes no further than a survey of a proposed highway. The actual construction calls for joint action by the several countries whose territory it will cross. In the nature of things, it cannot be undertaken so promptly nor pushed with such rapidity as the building of the great motor highways, one from north to south, and others from east to west, which the United States is in a position TO BUILD IMMEDIATELY.

This would be a purely domestic undertaking. It would require the concurrence of no other government. Not a dollar expended on it would be wasted.

It would slip naturally into place in the emergency spending program upon which the administration has embarked, and would afford not only employment, BUT USEFUL EMPLOYMENT, to thousands who are now employed in public works, some of which are of doubtful, and at best short-lived utility.

As a matter of fact, there should be THREE GREAT HIGHWAYS running from the eastern seaboard to the Pacific Coast. These, with another trunkline connecting our northern and southern borders, would greatly add to the value and utility of existing highway systems, and would make us, in truth, a well-knit and compacted country, despite our great distances.

From the standpoint of THE NATIONAL SECURITY AND DEFENSE, their importance is beyond estimation.

Dismissal Not Enough

Informations Should Be Made Against Policemen Accused of Criminal Conduct.

If policemen have been involved in the ownership of a disorderly house and have been in partnership with professional criminals, as is charged in connection with a murder case, and are still in the city's service, they will be promptly dismissed, Mayor W. N. McNair promises.

That is satisfactory so far as it goes. But dismissal will not be sufficient. If they have committed crimes—and that is what is charged—they should be prosecuted.

At any rate the matter should not be allowed to hang fire. Police Supt. Ben R. Marshall is conversant with the charges. We trust he is investigating them, and that if he is convinced they are without foundation he will promptly say so.

On the other hand, if his inquiry strengthens the evidence of wrongdoing, let him cause information to be made against the accused, that District Attorney Andrew T. Park and the grand jury may have ground for action.

For Clean Entertainment

The Pittsburgh Actors' Association Deserves Credit for Its Stand.

Most people, we think, will sympathize with the Pittsburgh Actors' and Entertainers' Association in the stand that it has taken for clean and legitimate shows.

The association's executive board reports that performances in the nude, immoral exhibitions and child entertainers have made it difficult for self-respecting actors and entertainers to obtain engagements.

Violations of the child labor regulations and immoral entertainments should be reported to the association's headquarters in the Fort Pitt Hotel.

Not only our legitimate actors and entertainers, but the public as well will benefit by a ban on indecent shows and shows unlawfully employing children.

Forbes Forest Arboretum

An Outdoor Museum Is Being Established Within Easy Distance of Pittsburgh.

The welcome announcement is made that Civilian Conservation Corps workers are establishing an arboretum, or garden of trees and shrubs, in the Forbes State Forest under the supervision of District Forester V. M. Bearer, of Ligonier.

Many species of native and exotic trees are being planted in a secluded spot along state highway route No. 31, 11 miles west of Somerset. Aluminum tags will give their names.

The arboretum is to be a feature of an outdoor museum, which will possess considerable educational value.

The Forbes State Forest is the nearest to Pittsburgh, and it is to be hoped that many Pittsburghers will take advantage of the opportunities it offers for nature study, one of the most delightful and intellectually profitable hobbies that anyone can take up.

Wall Street Eats Again

That's News.

Wall street recently voted against music with its meals. A poll of brokers and clerks showed that they preferred lunch without orchestral accompaniment in the restaurants of the financial district.

That may or may not interest you, but it certainly interests us.

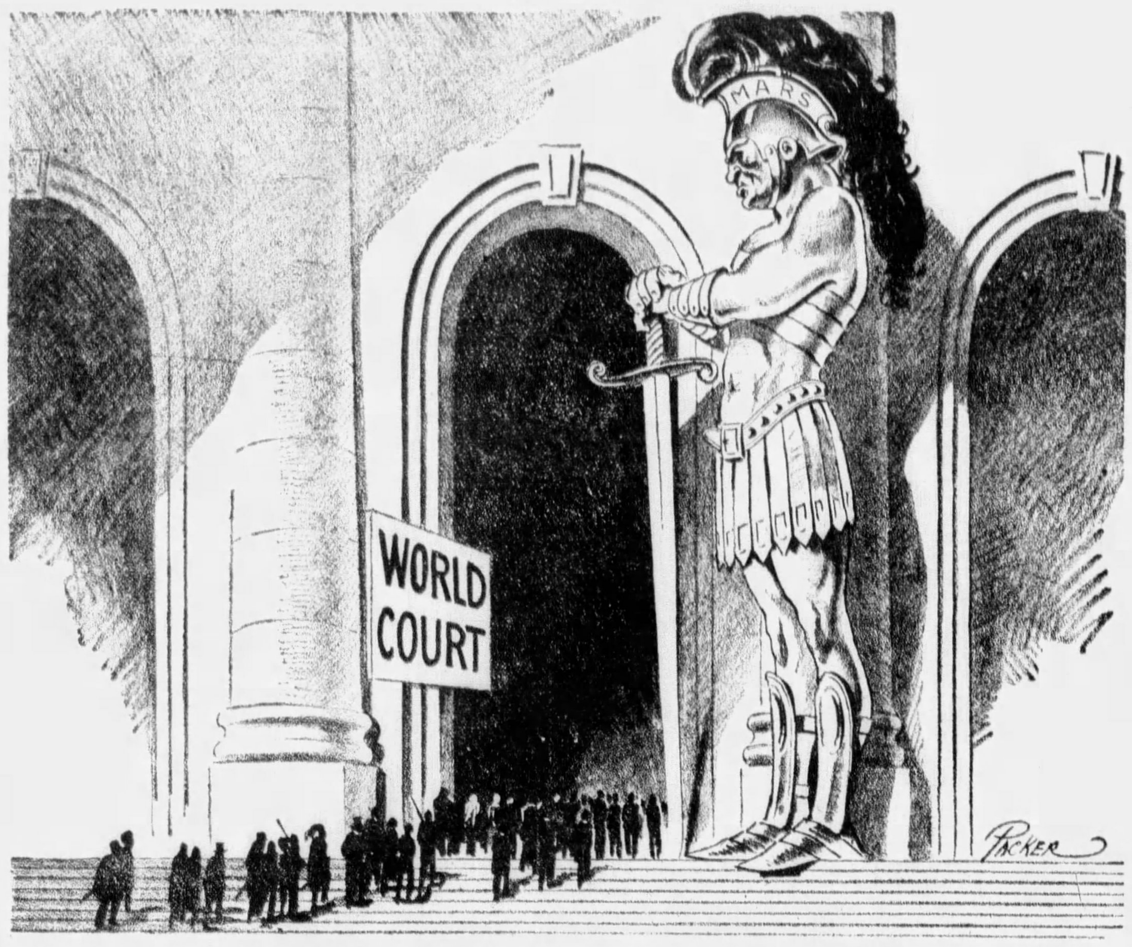
If that's not news, what is it?

The Doorman

(Copyright, 1934.)



The League Court, which calls itself a "World Court," has had one important test, and in that test it failed.

When the Austro-German customs union was projected, France protested and took the issue before the League Court.

There, by vote of France and her satellite nations, the Anschluss was outlawed, as effectively as if France alone had been the judge.

That one instance proved that the League Court is not a "Court of International Justice." It is an instrument of European politics, and Mars, not Justice, is the doorkeeper.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, March 14.—Harlem's hi-de-ho continues muted. The cafes can't raise a corporal's guard at the usual after midnight invasion. Bawdy spots are desolated. The passing of Alelilia Walker, kink-no-more heiress, stopped the huge afternoon teas and Sunday soirees. The Black Belt droops.

Jules Bledsoe, the "Ol' Man River," who used to send Sugar Hill rentals sky-rocketing when he took an apartment there, is dividing his time between concerts on the continent and his farm in Delaware county, upstate. Adelaide Hughes is marking time in her mansion "among the white folks" in Larchmont.

Carl Van Vechten, so long a regular, is no longer seen. Paul Robeson spends most of his time in Europe. Bill Robinson in his $14,000 Dusenberg has been barnstorming with a quick stepping revue. Nora Holt is in a Singapore club and not even rioting can dislodge Josephine Baker from her Paris haunts.

Olga Petrova in her day was regarded as the stage's most astute business woman. Her contracts were air tight and she was first to have employers pay her income tax. There is the story of a young lawyer who did some work for Miss Petrova and sent her a bill for $2,500. She lopped off the $500. He was never able to convince her of the justness of his claim. Finally he went to his senior partner who listened and replied: "My advice in handling Olga Petrovas of the world is to do more billing and less cooing."

Ganna Walska, voluptuous and rosy-cheeked, indulges the sauntering of the Parisian boulevards in her New York exile. Rex Beach used to tell of the 40 below night in a Nome saloon with everybody in a huddle about the base-burner. Finally they heard a dog sled drive up with a stranger. He was almost chopped from his seat and brought in to thaw out. After a time he was asked if he wouldn't partake of steaming rum punch. He shook his head and after much coaxing said he would have a seltzer lemonade. The disgusted proprietor said they had no seltzer and in withering scorn observed: "But stick around I'll get you a pair of white duck pants out of an old trunk upstairs."

A lady upstate asks what I think of this ad, giving a Madison avenue address: "Make your friends think you are having a high old time in New York. Stamped letters mailed back home for 5 cents each." If the lady enjoys such minor deceptions I do not think particular harm is done. Twenty-five years ago I'd have jumped at 25 cents worth anyway. I was a sucker for "Send Dime—Get Big Mail."

At Frazier Hunt's I began reading "Out of the Test Tube," astounding facts about chemistry written in baby talk for the layman. And then half way through the book I glanced for the name of the author. It was Harry N. Holmes, Ph. D. He was my professor of chemistry at old Gallia Academy. Had he then made chemistry as interesting as he does in this book I might be peering into test tubes today instead of annoying the public with this.

Wilton Lackaye's favorite small town story concerned the sod buster in the city for the first time passing a sign, "Soda and Billiards." In his burg they had only pool halls such as Joe's 2½ cents a cue. So he stopped in at the soda fountain and said: "Mix me up a billiard!" The jerker nudged his fellow worker: "Get this one! He wants us to mix him a billiard." So they compounded a concoction of sour dish water, floor scrapings and a strand of sour mop and passed it out. When he finished, the clerk asked how he liked it. Smacking his lips and drawing his hand across his sleeve he said: "Fine, but if I wasn't such an old billiard drinker I'd thought it was something else."

LISTEN, WORLD!

By Elsie Robinson

Watered Stock

Young Mrs. Perkins is all of a pout. Here she's gone and given up a perfectly good position to marry Jimmy, and what does she get in return? Just another job, that's what she gets. Dishes to wash. Socks to darn. When naturally she expected at least one maid and a good closed car.

"Of course I knew he wasn't getting very much at first," she sniffs, "but he said that was just a streak of bad luck. But it's three years now, and his luck hasn't changed. He's still plugging along in that same old office, making $30 a week and expecting me to get along on that! A man has certainly a lot of nerve to expect a girl to marry him when he can't do any better than that!"

On and on goes Mrs. Jimmy, accumulating more rage at James and more pity for herself, with each fresh recital of her wrongs. And thousands 'n' thousands of other indignant ladies will agree with every word she says. Some of them worked before marriage. Some of them didn't.

But, regardless of their previous status or present ability they're all profoundly convinced that they've been shortchanged in matrimony.

WHY IS IT THAT A GIRL WHO COULD NEVER ACHIEVE MORE THAN TWENTY-FIVE PER WEEK IN HER WORKING LIFE WILL SCORN HER HUSBAND IF HE DOESN'T PROVIDE WITH AT LEAST THREE TIMES AS MUCH?

She usually does. Which same is considered one more proof of feminine cussedness. But, as a matter of fact it's generally the Big Boy's own fault! He "made her what she is today"—and in most cases, he worked overtime on the job.

Nine times out of 10, the Only Girl is plugging at some switchboard when John Henry comes a-courting . . . or taking dictation at $20 per . . . or busting her arches on a schoolroom floor . . . or selling lingerie tape. Naturally she doesn't think that her job represents her real value. And John Henry hastens to agree with her.

According to his enthusiastic estimate, she should be occupying all the thrones. Which is a line of sales talk any girl will accept without one moment's hesitation.

Encouraged by his success, John Henry thereupon promises to install the throne and pay for the up-keep, if she'll just move over and sit down. Not being crazy, she promptly complies—

AND THEN WAKES UP TO FIND HERSELF WITH A WEDDING RING ON ONE HAND AND A DISHPAN IN THE OTHER.

Of course, she feels that she has been two-timed. And says so. Whereat John Henry gets all smoked up at the thought of her ingratitude and greediness.

Why is divorce? That's why. You can't get very far in any business, on watered stock.

LONELY GIRLS

By Winifred Black

Where do they all come from, these thin little girls who coop themselves up in bare little rooms with a folding bed in the middle and a gas plate in the corner of the room?

Hundreds of them, thousands of them, tens of thousands little, lonesome, haunted looking girls who "eat out" at some cheap quick lunch place as a treat and get their own breakfast on their little forlorn gas plate while they're dressing to go down and look for a job.

They seem so alone and so forlorn and so friendless.

You see them on Sundays out for a walk—two of them together once in a blue moon, and you wonder where they come from and where they are trying to go.

There's the little girl who brings home the hats from the milliners. She works hard, climbs up on a soda fountain stool and gets a sandwich and a cup of hot chocolate or coffee and calls it a dinner. Then she slips into one of the cheaper movies—alone, and sits solemnly watching the pictures of beautiful young girls, who seem to find furs growing on every bush and have a diamond and ruby tree right in their own back yard.

When the glamor of the picture is over, back to her cold, shabby little room she goes. No friends, no comfy evenings making fudge in a clean, homey kitchen, no gathering of the clan to talk over the day's pleasures and disappointments—alone, forlorn, friendless—how do they ever live through a year of such dreariness?

What has happened to their mothers? Are their fathers all dead—and do they never go back to the home town to visit brother Tommy and his wife?

They don't care for the home town, and home town folks bore them to tears.

How courageous they are after all, and how honest—the most of them.

But, oh, I keep wondering why they don't go back to the home town, and if they must work for a living, work there, where someone knows them and cares whether they live or die?

What a strange, lonesome, cold-hearted world they live in these strange, solitary martyrs to what we used to call "industrial independence," back in the days when women were fighting so hard to get away from the only thing that seemed to me worth living—home and relatives and friends.

It makes me shiver to think of it.

I suppose not one of them knows what I can possibly mean when I say such a thing—do you?

MARRY-GO-ROUND

By Helen Rowland

Wives—And Ex-Wives

It may seem strange that people continue to fall in love and to get married in ominous times like these; but falling in love is Mother Nature's favorite spring tonic and rejuvenator for the soul with "that tired feeling."

A woman could bear with her husband's little failings so much better if he would only pretend to worry about them, instead of appearing to be secretly sort of set up about them.

* * *

"Two wrongs never made a right"—but lots of modern girls seem to think that it takes at least a couple of ex-husbands (or two wrong matrimonial guesses) to give any woman the glamour of a "successful marrying woman."

* * *

When a woman finds herself "free," at last, from an unhappy marriage, instead of feeling happy, she usually feels so lost and aimless that she starts looking around for another husband to help her begin "suffering" all over again.

It's real, genuine, authentic love, if the man loves the woman in spite of the fact that she has extra-size feet or hips, and the woman loves him in spite of the fact that he has only a half-size earning capacity.

* * *

If the colleges really CAN teach courses in love, marriage and humor—especially HUMOR—then there is nothing left that they don't claim to teach, except how to be born a poet or an It-girl.

* * *

Somehow, a man doesn't kick at paying the wages of his youthful sins. But the heavy price he has to pay for his middle-aged follies leaves him a little bitter and cynical.

A spinster's sorrows may be as great as a wife's—but they are the kind that she can forget at the movies, without having to hustle home before the end of the reel to see that a husband gets a hot dinner.

OUR RHYMING OPTIMIST

By ALINE MICHAELIS

Live, Little Tree!

O, little tree, send brave roots down
Into the earth, so cold and brown;
Be bold, be strong,
Be patient long
And you will wear a leafy crown!

O, little tree, it has been so,
Since primal forests yearned to grow,
When slim twigs thrust
Through slime, through dust,
First felt the glad sap upward flow.

O, little tree, now staunchly cling
To life, that you may welcome spring,
The lark, the thrush,
The joyous rush
Of earliest robin's shining wing!

Live, little tree, that you may drain
The sweetness of midsummer rain,
That you may know
The autumn's glow,
And sleep to winter's hushed refrain.

The Army Air Corps Heroic Dead

By James T. Williams, Jr.

Truth crushed to earth shall rise again:
The eternal years of God are hers.
—William Cullen Bryant.

LEST we forget the price they paid to bring home to the American people the truth about a tragic blunder, their countrymen should remember the names and the circumstances under which these heroic dead of the Army Air Corps were sent to their death in the last month.

The order of the Postmaster General canceling all domestic air mail contracts was issued on February 9, last. On the same day was issued the order that the Army Air Corps should fly the mail until further notice over routes and schedules prescribed by the Postmaster General.

On February 16, Second Lieuts. Jean D. Grenier and Edwin D. White, Jr., Air Reserve, were killed while flying between Cheyenne, Wyo., and Salt Lake City, Utah. They were flying over the mail route to familiarize themselves with it.

Lieut. Grenier was born at Manchester, N. H., November 24, 1909. He graduated in 1930 from the University of New Hampshire. Appointed flying cadet, Army Air Corps and commenced flying training at the primary flying school, Randolph Field, Texas, July 2, 1932. Graduated from primary flying school February 28, 1933, and from the advanced flying school, Kelly Field, Texas, June 29, 1933, specializing as attack pilot. Rated airplane pilot and commissioned second lieutenant in the Air Reserve. Placed on extended active duty with the 3rd Attack Group at Fort Crockett, Galveston, Tex.

Lieut. Edwin D. White, Air Corps Reserve, was born at Petaluma, Cal., February 10, 1910. Graduated from the University of California. Appointed flying cadet, Air Corps, and began flying training at Air Corps Primary Flying School, Randolph Field, Texas, in March, 1932, graduating October 15, 1932. Graduated from the advanced flying school, Kelly Field, Texas, February 24, 1933, being commissioned second lieutenant in the Air Reserve and rated "airplane pilot." Assigned to extended active duty at March Field, Riverside, Cal. Total flying time as of February 1, 1934, four hundred and eighty-eight hours.

On the same day, February 16, last, Second Lieut. James Y. Eastham, Air Reserve, piloting a bombardment airplane, was killed at about 10:50 p. m. about seven miles from Jerome, Idaho. He was flying from Salt Lake City to Seattle, Wash., under the same conditions as were Lieuts. Grenier and White—all three were flying over the mail routes to which they were to be assigned in order that they might familiarize themselves with the routes and in spite of the fact that they had not been equipped with the kind of planes that were designed to carry mail.

Lieut. Eastham
A Native of Texas

SECOND LIEUT. EASTHAM was born at Huntsville, Tex., March 4, 1911. He graduated from Sam Houston Teachers College with the degree of B. S. in 1931. He attended the University of Texas for one year. He was appointed flying cadet, Army Air Corps, and commenced training at the Air Corps primary flying school, Randolph Field, Texas, July 2, 1932; graduated February 28, 1933. Graduated from the advanced flying school, Kelly Field, Texas, June 29, 1933. Rated "airplane pilot" and commissioned second lieutenant Air Reserve. Assigned to extended active duty with the 31st bombardment squadron at March Field, Riverside, California. Total flying time as of February 2, 1934, 419 hours.

Second Lieut. Durward O. Lowry, Army Air Corps, was killed on the morning of February 22 near Deshler, O. He was piloting an observation type airplane and was flying between Chicago and Cleveland, having taken off from Chicago at 4 a. m. Lieut. Lowry was on a regular mail run when killed and was carrying the mail. He apparently had attempted to make an emergency parachute jump, for the rip cord was pulled and the pilot was caught in the tail of the airplane. But the mail was saved.

This officer was born at Chicago, Ill., October 4, 1903. He was educated at Ann Arbor High School from 1919 to 1921, at Northwestern Military and Naval Academy, Lake Geneva, Wisconsin, from 1921 to 1923, and at the University of Michigan from 1923 to 1927. Appointed flying cadet, Army Air Corps and commenced flying training at primary flying school, March Field, California, February 27, 1928. He graduated October 26, 1928. Graduated from advanced flying school, Kelly Field, Texas, February 28, 1929; rated "airplane pilot," commissioned second lieutenant in Air Reserve, and assigned to active duty at Selfridge Field, Mt. Clemens, Mich., with the first pursuit group. Passed examination for appointment in the Regular Army and commissioned second lieutenant, Air Corps, September 4, 1929, graduated June, 1931, from communications course at the Air Corps technical school, Chanute Field, Rantoul, Ill., and returned to duty at Selfridge Field. Total flying time, 1,256 hours.

Lieut. McDermott
Lost at Sea

ON February 23 last Second Lieut. George E. McDermott, Air Reserve, was lost at sea while en route from Floyd Bennett Field, Brooklyn, N. Y., to Langley Field, Virginia. Due to motor trouble the plane made a forced landing on the water. Two other officers flying with him were rescued. This flight was for the purpose of ferrying pilots as fast as possible to air mail stations to which they had been ordered.

Lieut. McDermott was born at West Homestead, Pa., August 23, 1904. He was educated at the University of Pittsburgh, 1923 to 1927. Graduated from the Air Corps primary flying school, Randolph Field, Texas, February 28, 1933. Graduated from the advanced flying school, Kelly Field, Texas, June 29, 1933. Appointed second lieutenant Air Reserve, June 29, 1933. Rated "airplane pilot and observer."

On March 9 First Lieut. Otto Wienecke, Air Corps, was killed near Burton, O., in a snowstorm while flying the mail in an observation plane. He had been in the Air Corps nearly 10 years.

On the same day, March 9, F. L. Howard and Lieut. A. R. Kerwin were burned to death near Cheyenne, Wyo., when their plane crashed in taking off on a trial run preparatory to flying the mail. Lieut. Howard was from Shreveport, La., and Lieut. Kerwin's home was in California, where his father, a lieutenant colonel in the army, now lives. Both these officers were graduates of the Army's flying schools. Both had excellent records to their credit.

On the same fatal day, March 9, Private Ernest B. Sell was killed and two officers of the Army Air Corps were injured at Daytona Beach, Fla., when their plane carrying the mail to Jacksonville crashed. His home was near Willow Springs, Mo.

Belief in Witchcraft Still Prevails, as Tales From Various Places Bear Witness

By Edwin C. Hill

"DOUBLE, double, toil and trouble; fire burn and cauldron bubble. Eye of newt and toe of frog, wool of bat and tongue of dog. By the pricking of my thumbs, something wicked this way comes."

Witchcraft in the making, pictured by the greatest writer who ever put pen to paper. And not an evil thing of the distant past, but practiced in this very day and age by the secret, black, and midnight hags that Shakespeare so powerfully portrayed.

From half a dozen far separated parts of the earth come tales of witchcraft—from England, Portugal, Mexico, Canada, Pennsylvania and East Africa.

Down in the tropical hills of Mexico, a woman of forty-five stands accused of casting spells over her neighbors. In the village of El Almagre, beyond the Rio Grande and close to Chihuahua City, thirty witnesses have gone to the authorities with a tale of how Senora Maria Bermudez worked her wicked arts upon them, so much that they frothed at the mouth and spoke at the rate of a thousand words a minute.

The Mexican enchantress is accused of putting human faces on donkeys and conjuring up cows which walk upside down, like flies on a ceiling. And the State Attorney General of Mexico is seriously engaged in investigating just how the senora accomplishes her spells, whether by hypnotism, or poisons, or what.

'Weetigo' in Northwestern Canada

IN Northwestern Canada a detachment of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police has left Vancouver and is mushing northward tonight with dog teams, to deal out justice to Indian tribesmen who once again are practicing "weetigo," a form of witchcraft, employed to exercise evil spirits. It is just 27 years ago that the Mounted Police had another such case to deal with. At that time a squaw was killed by a medicine man of the Salteaux Indians because she had become delirious in an illness and was believed to be inhabited by the Evil One.

From Wales comes the story of a witch who drives out devils and cures illnesses by slitting the ears of the affected ones. In Cardinganshire and Montgomeryshire, witches treat heart disease by giving the sufferers a pint of old ale, into which has been dropped a piece of steel from the blacksmith and a pinch of saffron.

In Portugal the authorities are waging a campaign of extermination against witchcraft and sorcery among the peasants. In a small village near Oporto the burned body of a woman was found. She had been burned to death in obedience to the instructions of a local witch. The woman, whose name was Arminda da Jesus, was believed to be afflicted with devils. First of all the neighbors went to her home and flogged her with a whip. Then they took her to the village square and placed her on a pyre of straw. While the fire burned and the unfortunate woman died, they prayed and sang and danced around the blazing pyre.

Since most of our news comes from large centers of population, superficially more civilized, we don't hear much about witchcraft, but there is plenty of it abroad in this world, and right here in the United States. Witchcraft, or hexing, is familiar in Pennsylvania and several other centers, where oldtime European beliefs still endure.

It is very common among aboriginal peoples, such as the Zulus of South Africa, the Indians of the Northwest and the Blackfellows of Australia. Only recently two old women were killed in this country under the delusion that they were witches.
